SOVIET TROOPS FIRE ON BERLINERS

U. S. Will Stand Firm In Berlin, Truman Says

Won't Be Pushed Out But Will Continue Talks With Soviets

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—(AP)—President Truman today underscored American determination to stay in Soviet-blockaded Berlin and a White House visitor quoted him as saying "we will not be pushed out."

As the crisis over the German capital tightened, Mr. Truman told a news conference: The United States is standing up for its rights in Berlin, but we are still seeking a peaceful settlement with Russia.

About an hour later Mr. Truman discussed the Berlin situation with David Dubinsky, AFL union leader. Dubinsky told newsmen he asked the President for "the fullest protection" for trade unionists in Germany against Communist reprisal "in the event we are pushed out of Berlin."

He said Mr. Truman replied: "We will not be pushed out of Berlin."

This recalled that on June 30, Secretary of State Marshall said: "We are in Berlin as a result of agreements between the governments on the areas of occupation in Germany and we intend to stay."

Blockade "Attempted Duress"

Subsequently, Mr. Truman told newsmen that he had approved this Marshall statement in advance.

Dubinsky recently returned from serving as an American delegate to the Marshall Plan conference of the European labor movement in London. He is president of the AFL-International Ladies' Garment Workers Union.

Mr. Truman told reporters that negotiations with the Russians are still going on in an effort to end the 78-day blockade. But he said the United States will not negotiate under duress.

A reporter asked if the Soviet blockade isn't duress. Mr. Truman inserted an adjective. He said he would describe it rather as attempted duress.

At present, official talks among the "Big Four" military governors in Berlin are in a technical state of recess.

Backs Up Marshall Statement

Mr. Truman backed up Secretary of State Marshall's declaration to newsmen yesterday that the United States will flew to a policy of resistance against Communist disorders in the German capital.

The President said Marshall is scheduled to reach Paris on September 19—10 days hence—to represent the United States at the United Nations General Assembly which opens September 21.

This means that Marshall will not be present for the opening of "Big Four" talks, scheduled to start in Paris soon, to discuss the future of

Farm Groups See Food Price Drop

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP) — Three major farm organizations declared today "lower food prices are on their way as a result of record farm production this year."

The National Grange, American Farm Bureau Federation and National Council of Farmer Co-operatives issued a joint statement saying:

"The present downward trend in many farm commodities will be reflected on grocery and meat counters as the products of this year's bumper crops reach markets in increasing volume.

"Consumer prices have not yet reflected the declines averaging about 10 per cent in farm prices from the high point earlier this year.

"Lower prices for meats and other animal products are to be expected as the lower-priced and more plentiful grains are reflected in additional livestock production.

"But this will take time. Livestock numbers have been cut sharply in recent years to make more grain available for European aid, and it will take some time to rebuild livestock herds to fully utilize the more abundant grain supplies."

The Bureau of Labor Statistics wholesale price index meanwhile declined .6 per cent for the week ended September 4, primarily because of "sharply lower prices for fresh meats, livestock and poultry."

RITA JOHNSON

Actress, Suffering Brain Concussion, Battles For Life

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9 (AP) — Movie Actress Rita Johnson was in St. Vincent's Hospital tonight, suffering from brain concussion sustained under mysterious circumstances.

Doctors said her condition is critical. She has been unconscious since late Monday, when she collapsed while talking to her friend, Actress Mary Ainslee, who had called to take her to a cocktail party.

"I was summoned to Miss Johnson's home about 2 a. m. Tuesday," said Dr. Lee Siegel. "She was unconscious. There were large lumps on her head. Her lip was swollen. She was suffering from brain concussion."

Miss Ainslee said Rita may have fallen while washing her hair, striking her lip on a dryer. Miss Johnson's maid said the dryer has fallen before and could have caused the bruises.

Volcano Imperils Lives Of 15,000

MANILA, Friday, Sept. 10 (AP) — Deadly gases spewed from Hibok-hibok volcano today, imperiling the last 15,000 Filipinos still on tiny Camiguin Island.

Ten hours had passed without word of their fate.

The last message from the South Philippines island, where the volcano has been in eruption for 10 days, was an urgent appeal for all ships in the area to come to the rescue.

That word came from Arturo Alcaraz, Philippines government volcano expert. Nothing has been heard from him since.

Both Alcaraz and the Manila Daily Bulletin's correspondent reported the creation of a new crater on the volcano. It is the second crater formed since the eruption began September 1.

Addressed "to all ships at sea," Alcaraz' appeal said:

"Acute emergency at Camiguin Island. All available boats needed for mass evacuation. Guinsiliban and Binone designated embarkation points. Binone top priority to ships.

"Rain of acidic ash, probably one of halogens, has occurred. Order being maintained."

Halogens are the chlorine family of elements which create poisonous gases.

Alcaraz had predicted the possibility of just such an eruption.

During the first six days of the outburst by the long-dormant mountain, about 36,000 persons had been removed from the island. Five persons were killed by lava.

"Master Cells" Of Farmer Show No Healing Value

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)— A Pure Food and Drug Administration official said today that preliminary tests of the "master cells" of John Brown, Middleboro, Mass., farmer, have shown them to be without healing value.

George P. Larrick, assistant commissioner, said the agency's findings have been sent to the Boston field office.

Larrick said the agency is continuing its investigation as to whether there have been interstate shipment of the cells.

The agency can take official action in such cases only if interstate shipments are involved.

Brown has claimed that his "master cell" will make crops grow faster and combat poultry and cattle diseases effectively.

Greeks Report Invading Yugo Force Repelled

War Minister Asks International Help To Avert Balkan War

ATHENS, Sept. 9. (AP)—War Minister George Stratos said tonight a group of Yugoslav troops had invaded Greece and had been thrown out. He appealed for international help to prevent a general war in the Balkans.

Stratos said the invasion came yesterday in the Kaimatchlan area and that Greek forces killed nine Yugoslav soldiers and repelled the attack.

(In Belgrade, Yugoslav officials were silent on the reports).

The War Minister charged Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria with repeated border provocations, and cautioned that the Allies and the United Nations should act before an incident touches off general fighting.

Border Sealing Acceptable

He said Greece would consider accepting an international military force to seal the 500 miles of Greece's borders with her three neighbors.

Stratos said the Yugoslavs captured one peak from the Greeks in thrusting across the frontier. Greek forces counter-attacked and regained the summit. The War Minister said eight Yugoslav soldiers and one officer were left dead in Greece by the retreating forces and three Yugoslav soldiers were captured.

Stratos said at a news conference that there had been repeated incidents of gunfire against Greek troops from inside Albania and continued assistance by Yugoslavia and Bulgaria to the Greek guerrillas.

Charges "Provocations"

The War Minister said these acts "are provocations on the part of neighboring states of the eastern bloc."

He said the Greek government had decided not to violate international law but was appealing to the United Nations and the Allies to end the situation. The general staff ordered Greek troops not to enter Yugoslavia or let shells fall on Yugoslav territory.

Stratos said international intervention was in the interest of all nations because soldiers on one side might lose their tempers "and create an incident to be regretted."

"This undeclared war should cease," he added.

'Fear' Tactics By Unions Charged

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—Two congressional witnesses testified today that union "fear" tactics are forcing New York fur workers to contribute money to Henry A. Wallace's presidential campaign.

The witnesses told a House Labor Subcommittee, headed by Rep. Max Schwabe (R-Mo), that union members are also under pressure to support Communist newspapers.

"The workers live only in fear," said Morris Goldner, president of the Independent Fur Manufacturers' Association.

William Pike, labor relations director for the Associated Fur Manufactorers, Inc., testified that union officers openly solicit money from union members for the Daily Worker, Communist Party newspaper.

The House group is looking into claims that Red leaders have seized control of the rich fur industry in New York and infiltrated into other branches of American labor.

Wallace's New York Rally Is Washed Out

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace's Yankee Stadium political rally was cancelled tonight by a sudden thunderstorm.

"Buzzy" Released

President Plans Campaign Swing To Pacific Coast

AFL Building Service Union Supports Dewey

By The Associated Press

President Truman plans to head west for an intensive two-week stumping campaign.

His itinerary, announced Thursday, is similar to one to be followed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican nominee.

Mr. Truman's western swing will carry him all the way to the West Coast. Major addresses will be made in at least four western states, the opening speech being scheduled at Dexter, Iowa, September 18 at a farm rally.

Following the Dexter Kickoff address, Mr. Truman is scheduled to make major addresses at Denver September 20, Salt Lake City September 21, San Francisco September 22 and Los Angeles September 23.

He may make talks in Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Glenwood Springs while in Colorado, and several platform talks along the route, the White House said.

May Invade South

The speaking schedule for the return trip will be worked out later. The President likely will make at least three appearances in the South—at Dallas, Fort Worth, and at Louisville, Ky. These are not definite.

Also, it is probable he will speak at Miami, Fla. on another trip around October 18. This would be at an American Legion convention.

Dewey will begin his campaign at Des Moines with a major address September 20. From there he will continue west, and his aides have indicated he will keep on going until he gets to the coast.

The Republican nominee yesterday received his first big endorsement from a top labor organizations.

The labor okay came from the executive board of the AFL Building Service Employes International Union, representing a claimed 175,000 members.

William Green, AFL president, a committee representing several AFL international unions, and the CIO Executive Board and the CIO-Political Action Committee have endorsed Mr. Truman for President.

Talmadge Wins In Georgia

Meanwhile, a battle of the ballots was concluded in Georgia and young Herman Talmadge, political scion who campaigned under his late father's banner of "white supremacy," was conceded winner of Wednesday's Democratic primary.

Talmadge, who also opposed Mr. Truman's civil rights program, defeated Gov. M. E. Thompson for the state's governor's seat.

A Democratic primary election victory in Georgia is usually tantamount to victory.

But Republicans may enter a candidate for governor in the November general election. They announced yesterday they will decide on this Saturday.

U. S. Suggests Big Four Discussions Of Italian Colonies Open Monday

"Exile" Ends For Vicar Who Wed Edward, Wally

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9—(AP)—The little vicar who rocked the British Empire, when he performed the wedding of Edward VIII and Wallis Simpson disclosed today his 11 years of church "exile" were over.

Rev. Robert Anderson Jardine, 70, said he will take over next year as presiding bishop of the South African Episcopal Church. It will be the first important post since he defied the Church of England to wed the abdicated Edward and his American-born sweetheart.

The Church of England relieved him of his village pastorate in Darlington, England, after the famous wedding.

Today Is Too Soon For Paris Meeting, Russia Is Informed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—The United States told Russia today that tomorrow is too soon to reopen talks on the fate of Italy's war-lost colonies, and suggested Monday instead.

The Russians suggested that the talks start in Paris tomorrow. Secretary of State Marshall, in a memo to the Soviet Embassy, said the United States was "wholly agreeable" to the Paris meeting. But he said the American delegation could not be briefed and dispatched in time to get to Paris tomorrow.

If the Monday, September 13 date is accepted it will leave only three days to discuss the colonies question before a September 15 deadline. The Italian peace treaty provides that the United States, Russia, France and Britain agree on the issue by September 15 or turn it over to the United Nations.

Like the United States, Britain and France have already agreed to start the talks before September 15.

Marshall Due In Paris Sept. 19

In any event, Secretary of State Marshall is not due to reach Paris until September 19, 10 days hence, to attend the opening of the United Nations General Assembly on September 21. Consequently the discussions on the Italian question would not be a meeting of the "Big Four" foreign ministers as requested by Moscow in a surprise Soviet note to the United States, Britain and France last week.

Mr. Truman backed up Marshall's statement that bi-partisan agreement has been reached on the attitude the United States will take on the knotty problem of Italy's three former African colonies, Eritrea, Libya and Italian Somaliland.

Same Line As Dewey's

The President said Marshall was definite and correct, but he declined to elaborate. When a reporter asked whether this meant the administration has taken the same line advocated by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, Mr. Truman said he had nothing more to say.

Dewey has urged that Italy be given a chance to develop the resources of her war-lost African possessions under a United Nations trusteeship.

The extent of the "bi-partisan agreement" announced by Marshall grew cloudier as the day advanced.

Dewey's press secretary in Albany, N. Y., said "the Governor's office will have no comment" on the matter, and in Washington the State Department's press officer, Michael McDermott, issued a statement indicating no agreement on specific details has been reached.

Export Probers Are Astonished

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP) — Astonished senators dug up these asserted facts today about this government's export license program:

1. Nails 2½ and three inches long—badly needed to build homes—were exported last year as "shoe tacks."

2. A woman government clerk issued permits to export more than 2,000,000 pounds of lard during a period when the quota was 199,000 pounds.

3. A man under suspicion in connection with forged licenses was put on a "watch list" and then two weeks later granted a permit to export a million dollars worth of rice.

4. Government officials here continued to use a perforating machine to validate licenses for five months after they learned a similar machine was turning out forged licenses. They explained they lacked $750 to change the original machine.

5. A New York City exporter told about paying $9,400 for two permits to ship flour to Brazil. He said the money went to another exporter who previously testified to paying more than $29,000 for 15 export permits that Senate investigators say were forged.

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich), of the Senate investigating subcommittee, finally observed that "it is impossible to tell what went out of this country under the export system."

But Wallace S. Thomas, director of export operations for the Office of International Trade, assured senators that a new checkup had been installed at the start of this month.

GOP To Assure Honest Election, Scott Declares

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9 (AP) — The Republican National Chairman said tonight that any attempt to steal the 1948 presidential election would be promptly punished by a "new Department of Justice."

Hugh D. Scott, Jr., said in a talk before a Maryland Republican rally that in 1946 the will of the people in some states were "thwarted by thievery and chicanery."

"Let me make it clear tonight that there will be none of that sort of thing in the 1948 count," he said. "We have taken steps in that direction, and we have two very able former prosecutors in Tom Dewey and Earl Warren, to make certain that those who attempt to corrupt the ballot this year will have ample opportunity to reflect long and seriously on the merits of honest elections."

DeGaulle Party Official Demands French Elections

Premier Nomination Accepted By Queuille

PARIS, Sept. 9 (AP)—An official spokesman for Gen. Charles DeGaulle called tonight for new national French elections.

This was the first time DeGaulle had intervened during a Cabinet crisis.

Jacques Soustelle, secretary-general of DeGaulle's French People's Rally (RPF), made a statement to the press at a moment when:

1. The veteran Radical Socialist, Henri Queuille, had accepted formally the nomination for Premier of France.

2. Labor unrest flared throughout France and her colonies.

On the outskirts of Paris, workers of the Renault automobile factory quit their jobs and began a march toward the center of the city. A large police contingent met them along the route. They attacked the police with paving stones and overturned a police car. Before the group was dispersed a dozen workers and 20 policemen were injured.

Disorder Near Auriol's Palace

Several workers got cracked heads in an earlier battle with police near the palace of President Vincent Auriol. One was reported hospitalized.

Soustelle's statement said:

"After last October's municipal elections (in which the DeGaullist forces won about 40 per cent of the vote) Gen. DeGaulle declared it necessary to give the nation its voice as soon as possible.

"Today it is even more necessary to harmonize national representation with the popular will. Certainly the voting laws must be overhauled. But it is inadmissable that under the pretext of doing this, an election should be delayed.

Socialists Support Queuille

"The French People's Rally holds there is no other democratic solution than to hold general elections as soon as possible. It condemns any and all combinations (of government) which, in delaying the elections, prolong the system of permanent crisis which endangers the republic and the very life of France."

Queuille accepted the premiership nomination after getting the support of the Socialist Party.

Young Progressives Sue Baltimore City Officials

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9 (AP)—Eighteen members of the Young Progressive Party of Maryland filed a $500,000 damage suit today against city officials, charging abridgement of civil rights in being prohibited from engaging in interracial sports.

The suit was filed in the United States District Court. Some of the plaintiffs were among 21 persons arrested last July 11 when they attempted a mixed tennis match in a municipal park.

The 21 and Harold Buchman, Maryland director of the Progressive Party, were indicted yesterday on charges of violating a municipal segregation policy or inciting to riot.

One Killed, 22 Hurt In Bloody Street Battle

Clash Occurs After Anti-Red Rally By 200,000 Germans

BERLIN, Friday, Sept. 10 (AP)—One person was killed and 22 were injured by bullets and stones during a bloody street clash last night between Berlin civilians and Russian troops, supported by Eastern Berlin police, official reports said early today.

The clashes occurred near the historic Brandenburg Gate after 200,000 Germans had demonstrated in a nearby square against the Communist drive for power over the blockaded city.

British sector police headquarters said six injured civilians including three with gunfire wounds, were in British sector hospitals.

The deputy police chief of the Soviet sector said five of his policemen were injured, one seriously. In addition, he said, approximately 10 police suffered abrasions from hurled stones and one woman received an arm injury.

The Soviet-licensed news agency (ADN) said two of the Communist policemen were wounded by gunfire. The eastern sector deputy chief did not specify the nature of the wounds of his policemen and no eyewitness accounts of the rioting said members of the crowd exchanged gunfire with the troops and police.

Reds Plan Sunday Rally

The demonstration dwarfed all previous rallies in postwar Berlin. The Communist-sponsored Socialist Unity Party (SED) last night called on "the workers of Berlin" to mass for a big counter-rally at noon Sunday.

Part of the home-going crowd stoned three Russian soldiers in a jeep. They tosed rocks at the massive memorial the Russian army built on the conquest of Berlin. One demonstrator climbed the memorial and tore down a Soviet flag.

Soviet troops who rushed to the scene fired their tommyguns. The Soviet-controlled police fired pistols.

British sector police said the one fatality was Fritz Schuermann, 16, who died from gunfire wounds in the stomach while en route to a hospital.

Russian-controlled German police fired pistols on demonstrators on the Soviet side of the historic granite gate which is the dividing line between the Russian and British sectors of Berlin. Rusian military police drove a jeep through the gate into the British sector and fired tommyguns into the air until British-controlled police and soldiers persuaded the crowd to disperse.

Last night's was the second shooting incident in Berlin's current crisis. The other occurred August 20 when Russian sector police fired upon German civilians who stoned them during a blackmarket raid in the downtown Potsdamer Platz.

In last night's demonstration, anti-communist Germans first jeer-

Aid Fund Dispute Delays Program

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—The United States found itself today both a contender and the umpire in a contest over the division of Marshall Plan aid among the European nations.

A $100,000,000 difference of opinion over the share that should go to bizone Germany is the issue. An ECA spokesman said the dispute has delayed the shaping of the first-year recovery program.

The case is complicated, ECA officials admit, by this country's "split personality" with respect to foreign aid.

Speaking through ECA Administrator Paul G. Hoffman and Ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman this country insisted that the 16 European countries themselves divide up the $5,000,000,000 pie through the "OEEC"—the Organization for European Economic Co-operation in Paris—in which the United States does not have membership. OEEC thereupon assigned Germany a reported $365,000,000 share.

But another American voice—that of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States representative in the British-American zone — is pressing for $100,000,000 more on grounds that German recovery is a key to the recovery of all Europe.

Light In Weight, Too

Cloth "Iron Lung" Is Designed

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 9 (AP)—Cheap, featherweight "iron lungs" for polio victims can be made from rubberized cloth or transparent plastic, two Yale University scientists said today.

Folded up, the cloth or plastic lung could be carried in a suitcase. It would weigh only a few pounds, and could be mass produced to be available qickly anywhere, they said. The artificial lungs made of iron are big, weigh 500 to 600 pounds, and cost from $1,000 to $1,600.

A design for the cloth lung is described by Drs. Harold Lamport and Ralph D. Eichhorn in the magazine Science, published tomorrow.

A small model, made from rubberized cloth, worked successfully on a cat in demonstrations here. Bigger one for humans can be mass produced after some technical problems are solved, they said.

Tests also show promise that completely transparent lungs could be made from sheets of vinyl plastic, Dr. Lamport said. This would make care of patients easier, and patients might feel better psychologically.

The cloth lung is built something like a thermos flask. In the thermos jug, a vacuum between the outer and inner wall keeps liquids hot or cold. The cloth lung also has a hollow space or tube between airtight inner and outer walls. When air is pumped into this hollow, the lung becomes rigid.

Blown up this way, the cloth lung is like a long, fat closed pipe or cylinder. The patient lies inside, in the roomy interior. At one end is a plywood disc with a sponge-rubber neckpiece that acts as a seal. The patient's head protrudes through this seal.

Air then can be pumped in and out of the chamber. The rise and fall in pressure on the chest keeps the person's lungs working. Polio victims need this artificial breathing when muscles of their diaphragm or chest become paralyzed.

Carefully Planned Show

Russia Parades Air, Naval Might

BERLIN, Sept. 9—(AP)—Soviet planes prowled the skies of Northern Europe today and Soviet ships cruised in the Baltic off Denmark in the greatest show of Russian strength since the end of the war.

There was little doubt in military minds here that the Soviet activity was a carefully planned military show designed to impress Europe with Soviet armed might in view of the East-West crisis in Berlin.

The moves also were apparently designed to take some of the edge off the Anglo-American airlift to Berlin and the impressive joint British-American air maneuvers over Britain in the last week.

Coupled with Anglo-American army maneuvers at Grafenwohl, the picture reminded many of the Europe armed camp of 1938 and 1939. At Grafenwohl in the American zone of Germany, a defensive force is practicing warding off a superior "aggressor force attacking from the East.

The usual Soviet practice is to cloak their armed forces with the greatest secrecy. Today however high-flying Soviet fighters criss-crossed over Berlin leaving vapor trails in the sky. Some Germans, mindful of the trails left by thousands of American bombers during the war, took it as an omen.

Another estimated 60 Russian planes appeared over the Danish island of Bornholm. They flew low over Roenne, the island's main city. One plane circled a Danish naval vessel at a height of about 75 yards.

Danish naval authorities said several Soviet cruisers and destroyers appeared off the island just outside territorial waters.

Bornholm, "the Pearl of the Baltic," was occupied by Russia from May 7, 1945, to April 5, 1946. There are no soldiers on Bornholm now, the Danish garrison of about 1,500 men having been sent back to

SOVIET TROOPS FIRE ON BERLINERS

U. S. Will Stand Firm In Berlin, Truman Says

Won't Be Pushed Out But Will Continue Talks With Soviets

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—(AP)—President Truman today underscored American determination to stay in Soviet-blockaded Berlin and a White House visitor quoted him as saying "we will not be pushed out."

As the crisis over the German capital tightened, Mr. Truman told a news conference: The United States is standing up for its rights in Berlin, but we are still seeking a peaceful settlement with Russia.

About an hour later Mr. Truman discussed the Berlin situation with David Dubinsky, AFL union leader. Dubinsky told newsmen he asked the President for "the fullest protection" for trade unionists in Germany against Communist reprisal "in the event we are pushed out of Berlin."

He said Mr. Truman replied: "We will not be pushed out of Berlin."

This recalled that on June 30, Secretary of State Marshall said: "We are in Berlin as a result of agreements between the governments on the areas of occupation in Germany and we intend to stay."

Blockade "Attempted Duress"

Subsequently, Mr. Truman told newsmen that he had approved this Marshall statement in advance.

Dubinsky recently returned from serving as an American delegate to the Marshall Plan conference of the European labor movement in London. He is president of the AFL-International Ladies' Garment Workers Union.

Mr. Truman told reporters that negotiations with the Russians are still going on in an effort to end the 78-day blockade. But he said the United States will not negotiate under duress.

A reporter asked if the Soviet blockade isn't duress. Mr. Truman inserted an adjective. He said he would describe it rather as attempted duress.

At present, official talks among the "Big Four" military governors in Berlin are in a technical state of recess.

Backs Up Marshall Statement

Mr. Truman backed up Secretary of State Marshall's declaration to newsmen yesterday that the United States will flew to a policy of resistance against Communist disorders in the German capital.

The President said Marshall is scheduled to reach Paris on September 19—10 days hence—to represent the United States at the United Nations General Assembly which opens September 21.

This means that Marshall will not be present for the opening of "Big Four" talks, scheduled to start in Paris soon, to discuss the future of

Volcano Imperils Lives Of 15,000

"Master Cells" Of Farmer Show No Healing Value

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—A Pure Food and Drug Administration official said today that preliminary tests of the "master cells" of John Brown, Middleboro, Mass., farmer, have shown them to be without healing value.

George P. Larrick, assistant commissioner, said the agency's findings have been sent to the Boston field office.

Larrick said the agency is continuing its investigation as to whether there have been interstate shipment of the cells.

The agency can take official action in such cases only if interstate shipments are involved.

Brown has claimed that his "master cell" will make crops grow faster and combat poultry and cattle diseases effectively.

Farm Groups See Food Price Drop

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP) — Three major farm organizations declared today "lower food prices are on their way as a result of record farm production this year."

The National Grange, American Farm Bureau Federation and National Council of Farmer Co-operatives issued a joint statement saying:

"The present downward trend in many farm commodities will be reflected on grocery and meat counters as the products of this year's bumper crops reach markets in increasing volume.

"Consumer prices have not yet reflected the declines averaging about 10 per cent in farm prices from the high point earlier this year.

"Lower prices for meats and other animal products are to be expected as the lower-priced and more plentiful grains are reflected in additional livestock production.

"But this will take time. Livestock numbers have been cut sharply in recent years to make more grain available for European aid, and it will take some time to rebuild livestock herds to fully utilize the more abundant grain supplies."

The Bureau of Labor Statistics wholesale price index meanwhile declined .6 per cent for the week ended September 4, primarily because of "sharply lower prices for fresh meats, livestock and poultry."

Greeks Report Invading Yugo Force Repelled

War Minister Asks International Help To Avert Balkan War

ATHENS, Sept. 9. (AP)—War Minister George Stratos said tonight a group of Yugoslav troops had invaded Greece and had been thrown out. He appealed for international help to prevent a general war in the Balkans.

Stratos said the invasion came yesterday in the Kaimatchlan area and that Greek forces killed nine Yugoslav soldiers and repelled the attack.

(In Belgrade, Yugoslav officials were silent on the reports).

Border Sealing Acceptable

He said Greece would consider accepting an international military force to seal the 500 miles of Greece's borders with her three neighbors.

Stratos said the Yugoslavs captured one peak from the Greeks in thrusting across the frontier. Greek forces counter-attacked and regained the summit. The War Minister said eight Yugoslav soldiers and one officer were left dead in Greece by the retreating forces and three Yugoslav soldiers were captured.

Stratos said at a news conference that there had been repeated incidents of gunfire against Greek troops from inside Albania and continued assistance by Yugoslavia and Bulgaria to the Greek guerrillas.

Charges "Provocations"

The War Minister said these acts "are provocations on the part of neighboring states of the eastern bloc."

He said the Greek government had decided not to violate international law but was appealing to the United Nations and the Allies to end the situation. The general staff ordered Greek troops not to enter Yugoslavia or let shells fall on Yugoslav territory.

Stratos said international intervention was in the interest of all nations because soldiers on one side might lose their tempers "and create an incident to be regretted."

"This undeclared war should cease," he added.

'Fear' Tactics By Unions Charged

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—Two congressional witnesses testified today that union "fear" tactics are forcing New York fur workers to contribute money to Henry A. Wallace's presidential campaign.

The witnesses told a House Labor Subcommittee, headed by Rep. Max Schwabe (R-Mo), that union members are also under pressure to support Communist newspapers.

"The workers live only in fear," said Morris Goldner, president of the Independent Fur Manufacturers' Association.

William Pike, labor relations director for the Associated Fur Manufactorers, Inc., testified that union officers openly solicit money from union members for the Daily Worker, Communist Party newspaper.

The House group is looking into claims that Red leaders have seized control of the rich fur industry in New York and infiltrated into other branches of American labor.

Wallace's New York Rally Is Washed Out

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace's Yankee Stadium political rally was cancelled tonight by a sudden thunderstorm.

"Buzzy" Released

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9 (AP) — Curtis (Buzzy) Boettiger, 18-year-old grandson of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, was released from the Corona Naval Hospital today. He had been recovering from a mild attack of infantile paralysis.

President Plans Campaign Swing To Pacific Coast

AFL Building Service Union Supports Dewey

By The Associated Press

President Truman plans to head west for an intensive two-week stumping campaign.

His itinerary, announced Thursday, is similar to one to be followed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican nominee.

Mr. Truman's western swing will carry him all the way to the West Coast. Major addresses will be made in at least four western states, the opening speech being scheduled at Dexter, Iowa, September 18 at a farm rally.

Following the Dexter Kickoff address, Mr. Truman is scheduled to make major addresses at Denver September 20, Salt Lake City September 21, San Francisco September 22 and Los Angeles September 23.

He may make talks in Colorado Springs, Pueblo and Glenwood Springs while in Colorado, and several platform talks along the route, the White House said.

May Invade South

The speaking schedule for the return trip will be worked out later. The President likely will make at least three appearances in the South—at Dallas, Fort Worth, and at Louisville, Ky. These are not definite.

Also, it is probable he will speak at Miami, Fla. on another trip around October 18. This would be at an American Legion convention.

Dewey will begin his campaign at Des Moines with a major address September 20. From there he will continue west, and his aides have indicated he will keep on going until he gets to the coast.

The labor okay came from the executive board of the AFL Building Service Employes International Union, representing a claimed 175,000 members.

William Green, AFL president, a committee representing several AFL international unions, and the CIO Executive Board and the CIO-Political Action Committee have endorsed Mr. Truman for President.

Talmadge Wins In Georgia

Meanwhile, a battle of the ballots was concluded in Georgia and young Herman Talmadge, political scion who campaigned under his late father's banner of "white supremacy," was conceded winner of Wednesday's Democratic primary.

Talmadge, who also opposed Mr. Truman's civil rights program, defeated Gov. M. E. Thompson for the state's governor's seat.

A Democratic primary election victory in Georgia is usually tantamount to victory.

But Republicans may enter a candidate for governor in the November general election. They announced yesterday they will decide on this Saturday.

U. S. Suggests Big Four Discussions Of Italian Colonies Open Monday

"Exile" Ends For Vicar Who Wed Edward, Wally

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9—(AP)—The little vicar who rocked the British Empire, when he performed the wedding of Edward VIII and Wallis Simpson disclosed today his 11 years of church "exile" were over.

Rev. Robert Anderson Jardine, 70, said he will take over next year as presiding bishop of the South African Episcopal Church. It will be the first important post since he defied the Church of England to wed the abdicated Edward and his American-born sweetheart.

The Church of England relieved him of his village pastorate in Darlington, England, after the famous wedding.

Today Is Too Soon For Paris Meeting, Russia Is Informed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—The United States told Russia today that tomorrow is too soon to reopen talks on the fate of Italy's war-lost colonies, and suggested Monday instead.

The Russians suggested that the talks start in Paris tomorrow. Secretary of State Marshall, in a memo to the Soviet Embassy, said the United States was "wholly agreeable" to the Paris meeting. But he said the American delegation could not be briefed and dispatched in time to get to Paris tomorrow.

If the Monday, September 13 date is accepted it will leave only three days to discuss the colonies question before a September 15 deadline. The Italian peace treaty provides that the United States, Russia, France and Britain agree on the issue by September 15 or turn it over to the United Nations.

Like the United States, Britain and France have already agreed to start the talks before September 15.

Marshall Due In Paris Sept. 19

In any event, Secretary of State Marshall is not due to reach Paris until September 19, 10 days hence, to attend the opening of the United Nations General Assembly on September 21. Consequently the discussions on the Italian question would not be a meeting of the "Big Four" foreign ministers as requested by Moscow in a surprise Soviet note to the United States, Britain and France last week.

Mr. Truman backed up Marshall's statement that bi-partisan agreement has been reached on the attitude the United States will take on the knotty problem of Italy's three former African colonies, Eritrea, Libya and Italian Somaliland.

Same Line As Dewey's

The President said Marshall was definite and correct, but he declined to elaborate. When a reporter asked whether this meant the administration has taken the same line advocated by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, Mr. Truman said he had nothing more to say.

Dewey has urged that Italy be given a chance to develop the resources of her war-lost African possessions under a United Nations trusteeship.

The extent of the "bi-partisan agreement" announced by Marshall grew cloudier as the day advanced.

Dewey's press secretary in Albany, N. Y., said "the Governor's office will have no comment" on the matter, and in Washington the State Department's press officer, Michael McDermott, issued a statement indicating no agreement on specific details has been reached.

Export Probers Are Astonished

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP) — Astonished senators dug up these asserted facts today about this government's export license program:

1. Nails 2½ and three inches long—badly needed to build homes—were exported last year as "shoe tacks."

2. A woman government clerk issued permits to export more than 2,000,000 pounds of lard during a period when the quota was 199,000 pounds.

3. A man under suspicion in connection with forged licenses was put on a "watch list" and then two weeks later granted a permit to export a million dollars worth of rice.

4. Government officials here continued to use a perforating machine to validate licenses for five months after they learned a similar machine was turning out forged licenses. They explained they lacked $750 to change the original machine.

5. A New York City exporter told about paying $9,400 for two permits to ship flour to Brazil. He said the money went to another exporter who previously testified to paying more than $29,000 for 15 export permits that Senate investigators say were forged.

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich), of the Senate investigating subcommittee, finally observed that "it is impossible to tell what went out of this country under the export system."

But Wallace S. Thomas, director of export operations for the Office of International Trade, assured senators that a new checkup had been installed at the start of this month.

GOP To Assure Honest Election, Scott Declares

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9 (AP) — The Republican National Chairman said tonight that any attempt to steal the 1948 presidential election would be promptly punished by a "new Department of Justice."

Hugh D. Scott, Jr., said in a talk before a Maryland Republican rally that in 1946 the will of the people in some states were "thwarted by thievery and chicanery."

"Let me make it clear tonight that there will be none of that sort of thing in the 1948 count," he said. "We have taken steps in that direction, and we have two very able former prosecutors in Tom Dewey and Earl Warren, to make certain that those who attempt to corrupt the ballot this year will have ample opportunity to reflect long and seriously on the merits of honest elections."

DeGaulle Party Official Demands French Elections

Premier Nomination Accepted By Queuille

PARIS, Sept. 9 (AP)—An official spokesman for Gen. Charles DeGaulle called tonight for new national French elections.

This was the first time DeGaulle had intervened during a Cabinet crisis.

Jacques Soustelle, secretary-general of DeGaulle's French People's Rally (RPF), made a statement to the press at a moment when:

1. The veteran Radical Socialist, Henri Queuille, had accepted formally the nomination for Premier of France.

2. Labor unrest flared throughout France and her colonies.

On the outskirts of Paris, workers of the Renault automobile factory quit their jobs and began a march toward the center of the city. A large police contingent met them along the route. They attacked the police with paving stones and overturned a police car. Before the group was dispersed a dozen workers and 20 policemen were injured.

Disorder Near Auriol's Palace

Several workers got cracked heads in an earlier battle with police near the palace of President Vincent Auriol. One was reported hospitalized.

Soustelle's statement said:

"After last October's municipal elections (in which the DeGaullist forces won about 40 per cent of the vote) Gen. DeGaulle declared it necessary to give the nation its voice as soon as possible.

"Today it is even more necessary to harmonize national representation with the popular will. Certainly the voting laws must be overhauled. But it is inadmissable that under the pretext of doing this, an election should be delayed.

Socialists Support Queuille

"The French People's Rally holds there is no other democratic solution than to hold general elections as soon as possible. It condemns any and all combinations (of government) which, in delaying the elections, prolong the system of permanent crisis which endangers the republic and the very life of France."

Queuille accepted the premiership nomination after getting the support of the Socialist Party.

Success for the new Premier in forming a Cabinet would mean a setback for DeGaulle's party and the Communists. Both would be left out of the government again.

Young Progressives Sue Baltimore City Officials

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9 (AP)—Eighteen members of the Young Progressive Party of Maryland filed a $500,000 damage suit today against city officials, charging abridgement of civil rights in being prohibited from engaging in interracial sports.

The suit was filed in the United States District Court. Some of the plaintiffs were among 21 persons arrested last July 11 when they attempted a mixed tennis match in a municipal park.

The 21 and Harold Buchman, Maryland director of the Progressive Party, were indicted yesterday on charges of violating a municipal segregation policy or inciting to riot.

Draft Repeal Urged

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—Repeal of the peacetime draft was urged today in a resolution adopted by a five-to-three margin at the national convention of the CIO United Electrical Workers.

One Killed, 22 Hurt In Bloody Street Battle

Clash Occurs After Anti-Red Rally By 200,000 Germans

BERLIN, Friday, Sept. 10 (AP)—One person was killed and 22 were injured by bullets and stones during a bloody street clash last night between Berlin civilians and Russian troops, supported by Eastern Berlin police, official reports said early today.

The clashes occurred near the historic Brandenburg Gate after 200,000 Germans had demonstrated in a nearby square against the Communist drive for power over the blockaded city.

British sector police headquarters said six injured civilians including three with gunfire wounds, were in British sector hospitals.

The deputy police chief of the Soviet sector said five of his policemen were injured, one seriously. In addition, he said, approximately 10 police suffered abrasions from hurled stones and one woman received an arm injury.

The Soviet-licensed news agency (ADN) said two of the Communist policemen were wounded by gunfire. The eastern sector deputy chief did not specify the nature of the wounds of his policemen and no eyewitness accounts of the rioting said members of the crowd exchanged gunfire with the troops and police.

Reds Plan Sunday Rally

The demonstration dwarfed all previous rallies in postwar Berlin. The Communist-sponsored Socialist Unity Party (SED) last night called on "the workers of Berlin" to mass for a big counter-rally at noon Sunday.

Part of the home-going crowd stoned three Russian soldiers in a jeep. They tosed rocks at the massive memorial the Russian army built on the conquest of Berlin. One demonstrator climbed the memorial and tore down a Soviet flag.

Soviet troops who rushed to the scene fired their tommyguns. The Soviet-controlled police fired pistols.

British sector police said the one fatality was Fritz Schuermann, 18, who died from gunfire wounds in the stomach while en route to a hospital.

Russian-controlled German police fired pistols on demonstrators on the Soviet side of the historic granite gate which is the dividing line between the Russian and British sectors of Berlin. Rusian military police drove a jeep through the gate into the British sector and fired tommyguns into the air until British-controlled police and soldiers persuaded the crowd to disperse.

Last night's was the second shooting incident in Berlin's current crisis. The other occurred August 20 when Russian sector police fired upon German civilians who stoned them during a blackmarket raid in the downtown Potsdamer Platz.

In last night's demonstration, anti-communist Germans first jeer-

Aid Fund Dispute Delays Program

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—The United States found itself today both a contender and the umpire in a contest over the division of Marshall Plan aid among the European nations.

A $100,000,000 difference of opinion over the share that should go to bizone Germany is the issue. An ECA spokesman said the dispute has delayed the shaping of the first-year recovery program.

The case is complicated, ECA officials admit, by this country's "split personality" with respect to foreign aid.

Speaking through ECA Administrator Paul G. Hoffman and Ambassador-at-large W. Averell Harriman this country insisted that the 16 European countries themselves divide up the $5,000,000,000 pie through the "OEEC"—the Organization for European Economic Co-operation in Paris—in which the United States does not have membership. OEEC thereupon assigned Germany a reported $365,000,000 share.

But another American voice—that of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, United States representative in the British-American zone — is pressing for $100,000,000 more on grounds that German recovery is a key to the recovery of all Europe.

Light In Weight, Too

Cloth "Iron Lung" Is Designed

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 9 (AP)—Cheap, featherweight "iron lungs" for polio victims can be made from rubberized cloth or transparent plastic, two Yale University scientists said today.

Folded up, the cloth or plastic lung could be carried in a suitcase. It would weigh only a few pounds, and could be mass produced to be available qickly anywhere, they said. The artificial lungs made of iron are big, weigh 500 to 600 pounds, and cost from $1,000 to $1,600.

A design for the cloth lung is described by Drs. Harold Lamport and Ralph D. Eichhorn in the magazine Science, published tomorrow.

A small model, made from rubberized cloth, worked successfully on a cat in demonstrations here. Bigger one for humans can be mass produced after some technical problems are solved, they said.

Tests also show promise that completely transparent lungs could be made from sheets of vinyl plastic, Dr. Lamport said. This would make care of patients easier, and patients might feel better psychologically.

The cloth lung is built something like a thermos flask. In the thermos jug, a vacuum between the outer and inner wall keeps liquids hot or cold. The cloth lung also has a hollow space or tube between airtight inner and outer walls. When air is pumped into this hollow, the lung becomes rigid.

Blown up this way, the cloth lung is like a long, fat closed pipe or cylinder. The patient lies inside, in the roomy interior. At one end is a plywood disc with a sponge-rubber neckpiece that acts as a seal. The patient's head protrudes through this seal.

Air then can be pumped in and out of the chamber. The rise and fall in pressure on the chest keeps the person's lungs working. Polio victims need this artificial breathing when muscles of their diaphragm or chest become paralyzed.

Carefully Planned Show

Russia Parades Air, Naval Might

BERLIN, Sept. 9—(AP)—Soviet planes prowled the skies of Northern Europe today and Soviet ships cruised in the Baltic off Denmark in the greatest show of Russian strength since the end of the war.

There was little doubt in military minds here that the Soviet activity was a carefully planned military show designed to impress Europe with Soviet armed might in view of the East-West crisis in Berlin.

The moves also were apparently designed to take some of the edge off the Anglo-American airlift to Berlin and the impressive joint British-American air maneuvers over Britain in the last week.

Coupled with Anglo-American army maneuvers at Grafenwohl, the picture reminded many of the Europe armed camp of 1938 and 1939. At Grafenwohl in the American zone of Germany, a defensive force is practicing warding off a superior "aggressor force attacking from the East.

The usual Soviet practice is to cloak their armed forces with the greatest secrecy. Today however high-flying Soviet fighters crisscrossed over Berlin leaving vapor trails in the sky. Some Germans, mindful of the trails left by thousands of American bombers during the war, took it as an omen.

Another estimated 60 Russian planes appeared over the Danish island of Bornholm. They flew low over Roenne, the island's main city. One plane circled a Danish naval vessel at a height of about 75 yards.

Danish naval authorities said several Soviet cruisers and destroyers appeared off the island just outside territorial waters.

Bornholm, "the Pearl of the Baltic," was occupied by Russia from May 7, 1945, to April 5, 1946. There are no soldiers on Bornholm now, the Danish garrison of about 1,500 men having been sent back to

Truman Health Plan Smacks Of Socialism

The health insurance plan which President Truman has recommended for adoption is, for all its sweet taste and sugar-coating, just another means of socializing medicine. It is the typical New Deal approach to a real problem.

Improving the nation's health and providing medical care for those who cannot afford adequate attention presents a real challenge. No one denies the existence of the problem. The country needs more physicians, more nurses and expanded hospital facilities.

There is serious doubt, however, whether a compulsory Federal insurance plan is the right answer. Even if, as Mr. Truman proposes, the actual administration is left up to local governments, even if physicians are free to refuse to take part in the plan, and even if patients go to doctors of their own choosing, the fact remains that the plan represents the entrance of Federal officialdom into the operation and practice of medicine.

A host of evils would be attendant. The vast sums of money involved would invite the playing of favorites in the distribution among the states. What provision would be made for greater concentration of medical attention in those states and regions where it is now particularly deficient? How would physicians who refused to participate be assured that they would not be discriminated against? There is every chance that this kind of a scheme would inevitably result in a great leveling and a stifling of the spirit of free enterprise and search for knowledge that has marked the great strides forward made in American medicine.

Millions of Americans are today protected against medical neglect through such institutions as the Blue Cross plan and voluntary health insurance programs offered by management to employes—in most cases without cost to the individual. Such plans suggest the direction which an intelligent and democratic solution of the nation's health and medical problems might take. It is not the direction in which Mr. Truman is pointing.

Polio Took Holiday Here During Summer

The season during which polio is most prevalent is nearing its end. It finds Cumberland and this section of Western Maryland holding a most favorable and heartening position in that it has been spared the experiences of many other parts of the country where the plague has continued its onslaughts through the entire period of infection. In fact, Allegany county has had no cases this summer of the dread disease which leaves bodies of children and adults paralyzed and twisted.

The polio season is always a time when the anxiety of parents for their offsprings reaches its greatest height. Up to now no real means of checking polio has been found. Few developments in medicine would be hailed with more genuine joy and relief than a drug that would be capable of doing just that. The medical profession seems to be a long way from the goal. But there is at least a glint of hope in the announcement from Columbia University that a new man-made chemical of the sulfa type has "successfully halted polio virus in the mouse."

Nobody knows whether it will work as well on men as mice. Nobody can find out except after long and laborious investigation. As the statement makes clear, the researchers do not expect to get farther along this year than to find out whether the drug is promising enough to warrant further investigation.

That is a long way from a polio cure or serum. But the successful experiments on mouse polio are exciting because they may lead to other developments even more momentous than the discovery of a cure for polio.

This is the first time in the long battle against disease, the experts say, that a chemical has been found checking the action of the virus. The viruses are among the most mysterious and little understood agents of the disease. They are responsible for a great variety of ailments, from the common cold to encephalitis, hoof and mouth disease and influenza, as well as polio.

The experience on mice brings medical science a step—if only a tiny step—closer to a successful attack on this whole army of viruses.

More Stress Needed On Traditional U. S. Values

President Eisenhower of Columbia University suggested the other day that there ought to be more emphasis on the traditional American values in our system of higher education. In some higher quarters, perhaps, this will be condemned as "old-fogyism." But there does seem to be something wrong when a woman like Elizabeth Bentley, the self-confessed Communist spy, can go through American public schools, graduate from Vassar and take a Master's degree at Columbia without receiving any instructions in American history or civics.

Another aspect of the same problem is revealed by some correspondence in "The Common Defense," the monthly bulletin of the American Ordnance Association. A college senior wrote in that he was puzzled by the A. O. A.'s emphasis upon the duties of patriotism because so many of his teachers in school and professors in college had taught him that "the country owes everyone a living."

The A. O. A. bulletin writer might have replied that the doctrine that the state owes everybody a living is pure Socialism. Instead, he replied with an economic argument. He cited the cost to the taxpayers—meaning just about all of us—of educating and protecting an American boy or girl. The average cost of bringing a child through the eighth grade amounts to about $3,600. Four years of high school adds around $2,500. A college education at a state or municipal institution would boost the total to above $10,000.

In addition, the child must have constant protection, which tacks on $11,600 more through high school or $14,900 through college. In other words, to educate and protect the American from kindergarten through college runs around $25,000. This is what the graduate owes the country, or "society," before he does a lick of work.

The question "Who owes whom a living? would make an interesting topic for a high school or college commencement address. We gather that to many of the students it would be a startling novelty.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Living With Hypertension

Hypertensophobia is the worst enemy of those with high blood pressure. The victim leaves in fear of encountering a stroke or dying long before his time from hypertension. The more he worries, the unhappier he becomes and the higher the blood pressure mounts. This creates a vicious cycle that is difficult to alleviate.

Dr. Van Dellen

It is easy enough for any one to say "don't worry" but if the ability to accept things as they are can be learned, half the battle is won. There can be no doubt that the unfavorable publicity given to elevated blood pressure is partly responsible but in general, the condition is not the killer that we have been led to believe. It is true that many deaths can be laid at its door but as a rule these persons have lived a normal span and, even if their pressure readings had been normal, they would have succumbed to something else.

Furthermore, hypertension is not a disease but a symptom of various maladies, some which are serious whereas others are not. Consequently, the height of the pressure may have no relationship to the outcome. When an elevated level appears early in life, the outlook is less hopeful because of the resultant damage to heart, kidneys, and blood vessels. However, a much larger number develop the disorder in the fifth or sixth decades; the reading fluctuates somewhat from day to day but usually remains high over a period of many years. Physicians have statistics to show that such individuals generally live to within three or four years of their normal life expectancy. Some have systolic readings in excess of 200 millimeters of mercury and they may go as high as 300, which is the limit obtainable with our present-day machines.

A recent report by Burgess of a series of 100 patients who were studied over a long period of time showed that the shortest duration of life recorded after the discovery of hypertension was 9 years; the longest was 25 years. But 47 of this group are still alive hence the maximum duration cannot be stated accurately at this time.

The diastolic blood pressure is a far better index of the outlook. So long as it remains at a respectable level, there need be no concern. In the normal person it is usually 80. Should it reach 100, it is considered elevated but if it goes above 120 it is definitely too high. All the patients studied by Burgess had diastolic readings below 120.

In a Scandanavian report which arrived recently, Paul Bechgaard discusses the future prospects of 1,000 men and women with hypertension. He found that women with a diastolic pressure below 130 had the same life expectancy as women in the general population of that country; in men, it was slightly less.

Information such as this is not quite as welcome as would be the discovery of a foolproof treatment but it is helpful to morale as it means that not every one with high blood pressure need look upon the situation as hopeless. By having the condition investigated thoroughly, an idea as to the outlook may be gained and appropriate measures taken thereafter.

Stray Hairs

R.M.M. writes: What causes a single strand of blond hair to grow in a person's nose, on a cheek or various other places? I am a brunette and this has me wondering.

This is the way of all flesh. Stray hairs often differ in color from the regular growth.

White Spots

B.T. writes: Can vitiligo occur in the eyes?

REPLY

Only on the skin covering the lids.

Peeling Fingers

Mrs. D. S. writes: Whenever I wash clothes or dishes the skin of my fingers wears off. What is the cause and how can this be checked?

REPLY

You are probably allergic to soap or perhaps the brand is too strong. The difficulty may be alleviated by wearing gloves. However, the best procedure is to consult a skin specialist to get a proper diagnosis and at the same time a suitable remedy can be selected.

Foot Wart

Mrs. G. S. writes: What can be done for a plantar wart?

REPLY

Padding the feet to take off pressure from the affected area will often cause the lesions to disappear. Otherwise, caustics, X-ray, radium, the electrical needle, or surgery are required.

Nasal Twang

V.T. writes: Is there any help for a person who "talks through the nose?"

REPLY

Yes, provided a correctable disturbance in the nose can be found and removed.

SKIN INFECTION

R. T. writes: Can impetigo occur in adults?

Reply

This skin disease is highly contagious and every one is susceptible. In women patients, contact with infected youngsters usually is responsible, whereas men are more inclined to pick up the malady at barbershops.

CHILDHOOD HABI T

Mrs. R. K. writes: My 11 year old son still wets the bed. I have three more children—all girls—who are not affected this way. Why is it more common in the male?

Reply

Probably because boys are more difficult to train than girls. On the other hand, the condition may occur in any child and is not restricted to one sex.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Home On Farm Is Much Better Than Touring Europe; Country Doctors And Preachers Make This Country What It Is; Pearson's Pigs Play Deck Tennis

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

GAITHERSBURG, Md., Sept. 9—Well, I had a swell vacation—at least until the pigs got loose.

Before the vacation started I had studied road maps and dreamed up all sorts of tours. I figured on going out to see my daughter in California and my wife's aunt in New Mexico. I bothered Karl Bickel about the best way to reach his hideaway in Ontario, Canada, and corresponded with Sumner Welles about a trip up to Bar Harbor.

But in the end I decided that, with real fireworks likely to break out in Berlin this winter, I ought to take a look at things beforehand, so I got a steamship reservation for Europe and went through the red tape of an American Military Government permit to visit Germany.

When the sailing date rolled around, however, I just didn't get on the ship. I didn't go on that ship, nor the next ship; in fact, I didn't go at all. I decided that a vacation was for the purpose of doing what one wanted to do most, so I just stayed right at home and enjoyed the Maryland countryside.

That's what I did during all of my vacation—just enjoyed my home and let General Clay worry about the Russians. Only time I left Maryland was to take two trips into the District of Columbia and one trip into the neighboring state of Delaware.

Staying right at home proved to wonderful—that is, until the pigs got loose. Here are some of the things I did:

Filled the silo—my son-in-law, who used to be a diligent silo-filler when he was courting my daughter, was absent this time; and even my radio agent, Jackson Leighter, never known to do a stroke of work during the rest of the year, carefully sprained his ankle just before silo-filling time. Despite the drones, however, we had such a big corn crop that we filled not only the main silo, but had to put up two temporary silos of paper and chicken wire.

Read William Vogt's "Road to Survival"—it's a book every good American should read. Makes you realize that we may be skating on thin ice as a nation if we don't stop washing our soil down into the ocean, ruining our forests, and dumping our iron and steel in shot and shell on foreign battlefields.

Went to church—What with getting up at 6 a. m. Sundays to prepare a radio broadcast during most of the year, I don't get to church as often as I should. Especially enjoyed the sermon of Bishop John E. Hines of Austin, Texas, who preached at Bethany Beach, Del. His Delaware neighbors tell about a car getting stuck in the mud outside the church and when several people brought planks to get it out, one man remarked: "If that board does not do it, I'll go inside and get the pulpit." . . . "Shhh," cautioned another, "that's the preacher over there." . . . "Yes," was the reply, "and I'm the bishop."

Decided not to plant any more corn—Having sat on the banks of the Potomac and watched thousands of tons of topsoal wash down from the cornfields of Maryland and Virginia, I finally decided to do my part by planting no more corn. Despite strip-farming and contour-plowing, both of which we practice religiously, any cornfield, unless on level ground, is bound to wash away the most priceless gift nature gave us—our topsoil. So, from now on, we are filling our silo with alfalfa. The farmers of Iowa, where the ground is flat, can supply the nation with corn.

Met a gradually disappearing species—the country doctor. Young Dr. Garrett Hume got out of the Army and decided he wanted to help his fellow men by practicing where doctors were scarce, hung out his shingle at Georgetown, Del., and has been answering calls on an 18-hour schedule ever since. So, in an age when more doctors gravitate to the city and specialized medicine, here's hats off to the country doctors, like Garrett Hume, who stay out where distances are long, where fees are low and where people need them most.

Pigs Get Loose

Most of the above were enjoyed during the first part of my vacation—before the pigs got loose. I might note in passing something obvious to most lady readers—that this stay-at-home vacation didn't go down too well with Mrs. P. After all, when you've kept home, cooked and planned meals for a year, it's only natural to want to let a hotel manager worry over the food and the servant problem during your husband's vacation.

However, Mrs. P. was a good sport, and, among other things, enjoyed her garden, especially one plot of lawn she had worked hard to keep green and on which we sometimes played deck tennis.

This is the point where the pigs came in. It was, of course, my fault. I had seen them roaming around loose, and I had been warned by the lady who is much righter than I am that they might descend on the lawn. However, they were such nice little pigs, and they so obviously enjoyed their freedom, that I put off catching them for a day.

Envies General Clay

That day turned the tide of my vacation. That evening the pigs decided to play deck tennis. I don't known which of them won, but I know I lost. In thirty minutes that lawn—pride of Mrs. P's heart—looked like a plowed field.

I took one look at it and decided General Clay in Berlin was to be envied. Why, oh why, had I not followed my earlier plans and gone to Germany!

Did you ever put together a picture puzzle the size of a quarter acre? Well, I did, beginning at five the next morning—a picture puzzle consisting of little pieces of turf—octagon-shaped, triangular-shaped, or no-shaped. In fact, I spent the rest of my vacation patching that lawn, watering it, tamping it, praying over it.

However, there's a compensation in everything.

Some men spend several hundred dollars to have a gymnasium instructor put them through knee-bending exercises. I got the knee-bending exercise and it didn't cost me a cent. And in the end Mrs. P said she was almost glad we had pigs. They had proved her husband's 5 a. m. devotion.

To Use Blessings Of Liberty To Kill It Is Not Liberalism

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Outlaw the Communist Party

Nine states have outlawed the Communist Party by refusing it a place on the ballot. A recent popular poll shows that the majority of our people, by a vote of 3 to 1, would outlaw it everywhere in the Union.

This question was debated by Stassen and Dewey in Oregon. There is a wide division of opinion on it—first, whether it would be Constitutional; and, second, even if legal, whether it would be wise to do so.

However considered, the use of the word "party" is a misnomer. The Communist "party" is not a party in the way Americans use that term. On the contrary, it is an agency of a foreign power committed to the overthrow of governments by force. Its leaders are sworn to follow the "party line" established in Moscow, Russia.

Catspaw for Foreign Power

As a catspaw for a foreign power, it cannot claim the protection of our Constitution to overthrow the Constitution. To assert, as some "liberals" do, that the right of free speech may be used to destroy free speech is nonsense.

These "liberals" quote Jefferson and Lincoln and the Declaration of Independence as upholding the "sacred right of revolution." There is no such "right" today in the United States. Its moral basis does not exist. Our Constitution provides for its own amendment; our institutions permit any established party, or any new party, or any person to campaign openly to amend the Constitution, or to change our laws.

As long as these avenues are kept open, neither a legal nor moral base can exist for the use of force. The Declaration of Independence was signed, and the "Appeal to Arms" was made, only because all other means had failed. Our forefathers revolted from George III only when, as they said, there had been established "an absolute tyranny over these States."

It was one thing for us to throw the shackles of a foreign tyrant; it is another thing to conspire to put the handcuffs of a foreign despot on our own wrists.

All of us Americans have entered into an unspoken contract with each other. The contract is that the winning of political power will never be used to deny the right of the defeated minority, itself, to achieve power. It is implicit in our free institutions that the minority shall always remain free to oppose the majority at the voting booths and to defeat it, if they can. The power to coerce minority does not exist.

Those who deny this contract, who would use power to crush out all opposition, who would use power to turn this country over to a foreign country, cannot claim this country's protection for that purpose. We are not that kind of fools—yet!

Supreme Court, Attention

It is time for some members of our new Supreme Court to learn what modern Communism is. In a number of cases, such as the Harry Bridges deportation case, the Supreme Court has overruled judicial landmarks of long standing, and has justified its rulings by legal sophistries which are totally unrelated to the tough hard facts of the world today. The court, on one occasion, even upheld, as against a California statute, the "right" of a Communist school to require its pupils to salute the Red flag under an oath of allegiance!

If the purpose of our basic law, to "insure Tranquillity; to promote the common Defense;" and "to secure the blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity"—if these words mean what they say, we have the lawful and moral right to defend our institutions. No government that fails in this duty can long survive. To use the blessings of liberty to destroy liberty is not liberalism.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

To sing or not to sing . . . that was the question.

The answer had to come from the Metropolitan Opera and the various unions, who were having a dispute that would decide whether or not the met would open this fall

Lily Pons didn't know what to do . . . she walked around all day squelching high C's.

Of course, they always treat opera stars just the opposite from movie stars. In opera they tell the leading man to keep his mouth opened and his eyes shut.

But what would this fall be without the opera? Think of those disappointed minks.

Berlin Disturbances Give Financial Markets Jitters

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—Disturbances in Berlin have again given the jitters to the financial markets of the world and to officials in London, Washington and Paris.

There is no logic to justify the assumption that the Russians are negotiating with the Western Powers in Moscow some form of agreement at the same time that disorders are being provoked by the Soviets themselves in the Municipality of Berlin. If it be inferred that the Soviets do not wish any agreement, then they hardly would stir up trouble in Berlin as a countervailing influence when they could as well reject the proposals made in Moscow at the recent conferences.

The possibility exists that the Russians are entangled in their own clumsy system of government and that the Communist Party, which is seeking certain objectives with reference to the policing of Berlin itself, is somehow working separately from the diplomatic functionaries in Moscow.

Appears Frequently

Such a lack of co-ordination appears again and again on the Soviet scene. Contradictions are explainable in no other way, for certainly the Russian rulers are not so naive as to believe the Allies will make concessions in order to get the Berlin blockade lifted only to have the policing of Berlin itself become a matter of dispute with Communist-stimulated groups in the German capital.

When Secretary Marshall points out publicly that the riots in Berlin are part of an effort to set up a Communist-dominated government there, he evidently feels he can discuss such a development publicly without destroying the good feeling so necessary to the conclusion of agreements on a four-power basis in Moscow.

Strict secrecy has been the rule with respect to the Moscow negotiations, so the public generally does not know whether the main negotiations have been unavoidably interrupted, halted, or merely deferred while the four military governors deal with actualities in Berlin.

Certainly, so far as the outside world is concerned, it cannot discern in the conferences of the military governors in Berlin about the blockade any factor involving Communist controversies over who shall police the city. They are two separate and distinct matters.

It is quite possible that Stalin was getting ready to make an amicable settlement of the occupation of Berlin by Allied forces when the political forces acting through the Communist Party decided on its own to take possession of the city government, either as a means of blocking such a settlement or as a method of exerting further pressure on the Allies to get out of the city.

Not Thought Through

Whatever the answer be, it does not seem to have been thought through so far as the effect on the western governments is concerned. If it be true that time is working in favor of the Allies and against Moscow, especially as the Marshall Plan operations begin to strengthen Western Europe and weaken the hold of Russia on her satellites, then the Politburo in Moscow will suffer by the Communist riots in Berlin. The over-all effect is bound to be to delay a settlement and perhaps bring an increase in the distrust that will be felt no matter what agreements are reached.

For some strange reason, the Russian government at Moscow is either unwilling or unable to carry on a negotiation in good faith without some untoward incident happening that shakes the confidence of negotiators from the western powers. It hardly seems plausible that the Russian rulers want that to continue, for there are no evidences that they want war or that they think they can bluff the Western Allies to retreat. More and more it would seem that what is going on in Berlin is a conflict on a local level which could bring major complications but which could also be settled overnight by a little bit of firm talk from the top Soviets to the Communists below.

The hint from Secretary Marshall, inquiring why the Russian military cannot preserve order in its sector, is a pointed one and may prove more embarrassing to the Politburo than it seems at first glance.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Shills

I went to the animal fair,
The birds and beasts were there
The big baboon,
He sat on the moon,
And combed his golden hair.
The monk .....

YES, that must have been me, for I went to the country fair and played all the shill games. I moved from one to the other to see how they worked; how they took the money from the yokels, of whom I was one. It was a wonderful experience getting stuck every time I put up a dime or a quarter or even half a dollar.

There was the game with the horses climbing uphill. You pushed a handle and a ball bounced in a glass case and every time the ball went into a slot, the horse moved. The first horse to reach the top won the prize. About a dozen could play at once, but only one could win a prize. I played half a dozen times.

A boy, about 14 years old or thereabouts, won five times out of six. He was playing a hour later. He was playing two hours later. He was the shill. He worked for the house.

So I moved to a real proposition. This stand exhibited the most expensive prizes. If anyone won, he would walk off with something real, like a costly portable radio or a fishing outfit. So I put up a quarter. A number of india rubber balls were rolling down a chute. Each ball had a number on it in black ink. The number was related to a group of numbers on a chart; these numbers were red, black and green; and one of them was yellow. The numbers were not in consecutive order nor were the colors arranged for easy sight. The chart was a confusing hodge-podge. That helped.

Here is the game. Black numbers are a total loss. Red numbers get a prize—something unimportant. If you win a green number, then the ante is raised to 50 cents. The object is to get three greens or two greens and a red and then you can pick anything on the stand. Maybe for $3 or $4 you can take something that costs $100—maybe. The yellow number is only to mix you up; you get an extra play for nothing, but no prize.

It cost me $3.50 to catch on. At first, the fellow sends balls of all colors down the chute. So you get a red or a green or a black. You get two balls for a quarter. You grab them yourself. Nobody interferes. Maybe you win a little prize. But you are tempted to get the three greens. So you go on playing. But now you never get any but black numbers. All of a sudden no balls appear that show red or green numbers on the chart. Maybe you get a yellow which gives you an extra turn, but then again there is an avalanche of india rubber balls with little numbers on them—all showing black on the chart.

So you can go on playing until you are broke because the fellow at the end of the chute controls the balls. He can send them as he likes and he likes not to give expensive prizes.

Well, I had a wonderful time playing these games with not a chance of winning. Sure, I'm a sucker. Sure, everybody at the fair was a sucker. But it was fun. It must be more fun if you don't figure it out, if you live in a kind of fairyland for grownups. Why not? Who doesn't like a hot dog or a hamburger at a stand where nobody is inspected by a Health Commissioner?

But what has become of the pink lemonade and the hokey-pokey ice-cream and the snowball with three colored flavors squirted on the ice? They're lost in the reforms which the refrigerator and the deep freeze introduced. That's what progress does to us.

So I went to the fair and saw Indian jewelry made in Providence, Rhode Island, and cowboy clothes made in Brooklyn. Who cares? It was a day when I forgot Berlin, Vienna, Moscow. They tell me that Zhdanov died while I was at the fair. So?

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Happy Minded Sentinels

What a boon to the world are the happy-minded folks whom we discover, "here and there at ugly corners of life's wayside, preaching their gospel of quiet and contentment" as Stevenson once expressed.

Sentinels, let us call them, stationed at the crossroads, at filling stations, behind store counters, at hotel entrances, but best of all, in the unlooked for places, in crowds, sick rooms, and humble homes. There you will find the happyminded people, ready and hopeful that there will be clouds to blow away, that their service may be given.

The ailments, disappointments, and sorrows, as well as the many failures of these silent sentinels, are as real as those of any of us, but they are all given the happy-minded cover. They are buried deep within warm and courageous hearts, so that the glow of character is the only thing that is evidenced.

Like the sunshine that falls disinterestedly upon all, so do the happy-minded spread their glow and cheer wherever their presence may be. And what a blessing they are! None of us can associate with a happy-minded person without being deeply influenced, and lifted out of many a fog and confusion of thought.

The important thing, from the standpoint of health and one's greatest influence in this world, however, is that this happy-mindedness should become a confirmed habit. And I can think of no habit that will bring so much lavish enjoyment and genuine success in life. You can then be happily envied—and people will beat a path to your way of life that will in turn enrich multitudes.

During these days of world confusion and so much fear in the air, the happy-minded, each and all, stand out as sentinels of hope and faith. How many invalids and shut-ins have fadiated that happy-mindedness and made it a potent factor, far beyond their confined area. Like the little candle, that Shakespeare wrote about, they send their beams afar!

Truman Health Plan Smacks Of Socialism

The health insurance plan which President Truman has recommended for adoption is, for all its sweet taste and sugar-coating, just another means of socializing medicine. It is the typical New Deal approach to a real problem.

Improving the nation's health and providing medical care for those who cannot afford adequate attention presents a real challenge. No one denies the existence of the problem. The country needs more physicians, more nurses and expanded hospital facilities.

There is serious doubt, however, whether a compulsory Federal insurance plan is the right answer. Even if, as Mr. Truman proposes, the actual administration is left up to local governments, even if physicians are free to refuse to take part in the plan, and even if patients go to doctors of their own choosing, the fact remains that the plan represents the entrance of Federal officialdom into the operation and practice of medicine.

A host of evils would be attendant. The vast sums of money involved would invite the playing of favorites in the distribution among the states. What provision would be made for greater concentration of medical attention in those states and regions where it is now particularly deficient? How would physicians who refused to participate be assured that they would not be discriminated against? There is every chance that this kind of a scheme would inevitably result in a great leveling and a stifling of the spirit of free enterprise and search for knowledge that has marked the great strides forward made in American medicine.

Millions of Americans are today protected against medical neglect through such institutions as the Blue Cross plan and voluntary health insurance programs offered by management to employes—in most cases without cost to the individual. Such plans suggest the direction which an intelligent and democratic solution of the nation's health and medical problems might take. It is not the direction in which Mr. Truman is pointing.

Polio Took Holiday Here During Summer

The season during which polio is most prevalent is nearing its end. It finds Cumberland and this section of Western Maryland holding a most favorable and heartening position in that it has been spared the experiences of many other parts of the country where the plague has continued its onslaughts through the entire period of infection. In fact, Allegany county has had no cases this summer of the dread disease which leaves bodies of children and adults paralyzed and twisted.

The polio season is always a time when the anxiety of parents for their offsprings reaches its greatest height. Up to now no real means of checking polio has been found. Few developments in medicine would be hailed with more genuine joy and relief than a drug that would be capable of doing just that. The medical profession seems to be a long way from the goal. But there is at least a glint of hope in the announcement from Columbia University that a new man-made chemical of the sulfa type has "successfully halted polio virus in the mouse."

Nobody knows whether it will work as well on men as mice. Nobody can find out except after long and laborious investigation. As the statement makes clear, the researchers do not expect to get farther along this year than to find out whether the drug is promising enough to warrant further investigation.

That is a long way from a polio cure or serum. But the successful experiments on mouse polio are exciting because they may lead to other developments even more momentous than the discovery of a cure for polio.

This is the first time in the long battle against disease, the experts say, that a chemical has been found checking the action of the virus. The viruses are among the most mysterious and little understood agents of the disease. They are responsible for a great variety of ailments, from the common cold to encephalitis, hoof and mouth disease and influenza, as well as polio.

The experience on mice brings medical science a step—if only a tiny step—closer to a successful attack on this whole army of viruses.

More Stress Needed On Traditional U. S. Values

President Eisenhower of Columbia University suggested the other day that there ought to be more emphasis on the traditional American values in our system of higher education. In some higher quarters, perhaps, this will be condemned as "old-fogyism." But there does seem to be something wrong when a woman like Elizabeth Bentley, the self-confessed Communist spy, can go through American public schools, graduate from Vassar and take a Master's degree at Columbia without receiving any instructions in American history or civics.

Another aspect of the same problem is revealed by some correspondence in "The Common Defense," the monthly bulletin of the American Ordnance Association. A college senior wrote in that he was puzzled by the A. O. A.'s emphasis upon the duties of patriotism because so many of his teachers in school and professors in college had taught him that "the country owes everyone a living."

The A. O. A. bulletin writer might have replied that the doctrine that the state owes everybody a living is pure Socialism. Instead, he replied with an economic argument. He cited the cost to the taxpayers—meaning just about all of us—of educating and protecting an American boy or girl. The average cost of bringing a child through the eighth grade amounts to about $3,600. Four years of high school adds around $2,500. A college education at a state or municipal institution would boost the total to above $10,000.

In addition, the child must have constant protection, which tacks on $11,600 more through high school or $14,900 through college. In other words, to educate and protect the American from kindergarten through college runs around $25,000. This is what the graduate owes the country, or "society," before he does a lick of work.

The question "Who owes whom a living? would make an interesting topic for a high school or college commencement address. We gather that to many of the students it would be a startling novelty.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Living With Hypertension

Hypertensophobia is the worst enemy of those with high blood pressure. The victim leaves in fear of encountering a stroke or dying long before his time from hypertension. The more he worries, the unhappier he becomes and the higher the blood pressure mounts. This creates a vicious cycle that is difficult to alleviate.

Dr. Van Dellen

It is easy enough for any one to say "don't worry" but if the ability to accept things as they are can be learned, half the battle is won. There can be no doubt that the unfavorable publicity given to elevated blood pressure is partly responsible but in general, the condition is not the killer that we have been led to believe. It is true that many deaths can be laid at its door but as a rule these persons have lived a normal span and, even if their pressure readings had been normal, they would have succumbed to something else.

Furthermore, hypertension is not a disease but a symptom of various maladies, some which are serious whereas others are not. Consequently, the height of the pressure may have no relationship to the outcome. When an elevated level appears early in life, the outlook is less hopeful because of the resultant damage to heart, kidneys, and blood vessels. However, a much larger number develop the disorder in the fifth or sixth decades; the reading fluctuates somewhat from day to day but usually remains high over a period of many years. Physicians have statistics to show that such individuals generally live to within three or four years of their normal life expectancy. Some have systolic readings in excess of 200 millimeters of mercury and they may go as high as 300, which is the limit obtainable with our present-day machines.

A recent report by Burgess of a series of 100 patients who were studied over a long period of time showed that the shortest duration of life recorded after the discovery of hypertension was 9 years; the longest was 25 years. But 47 of this group are still alive hence the maximum duration cannot be stated accurately at this time.

The diastolic blood pressure is a far better index of the outlook. So long as it remains at a respectable level, there need be no concern. In the normal person it is usually 80. Should it reach 100, it is considered elevated but if it goes above 120 it is definitely too high. All the patients studied by Burgess had diastolic readings below 120.

In a Scandanavian report which arrived recently, Paul Bechgaard discusses the future prospects of 1,000 men and women with hypertension. He found that women with a diastolic pressure below 130 had the same life expectancy as women in the general population of that country; in men, it was slightly less.

Information such as this is not quite as welcome as would be the discovery of a foolproof treatment but it is helpful to morale as it means that not every one with high blood pressure need look upon the situation as hopeless. By having the condition investigated thoroughly, an idea as to the outlook may be gained and appropriate measures taken thereafter.

Stray Hairs

R.M.M. writes: What causes a single strand of blond hair to grow in a person's nose, on a cheek or various other places? I am a brunette and this has me wondering.

This is the way of all flesh. Stray hairs often differ in color from the regular growth.

White Spots

B.T. writes: Can vitiligo occur in the eyes?

REPLY

Only on the skin covering the lids.

Peeling Fingers

Mrs. D. S. writes: Whenever I wash clothes or dishes the skin of my fingers wears off. What is the cause and how can this be checked?

REPLY

You are probably allergic to soap or perhaps the brand is too strong. The difficulty may be alleviated by wearing gloves. However, the best procedure is to consult a skin specialist to get a proper diagnosis and at the same time a suitable remedy can be selected.

Foot Wart

Mrs. G. S. writes: What can be done for a plantar wart?

REPLY

Padding the feet to take off pressure from the affected area will often cause the lesions to disappear. Otherwise, caustics, X-ray, radium, the electrical needle, or surgery are required.

Nasal Twang

REPLY

Yes, provided a correctable disturbance in the nose can be found and removed.

SKIN INFECTION

R. T. writes: Can impetigo occur in adults?

Reply

This skin disease is highly contagious and every one is susceptible. In women patients, contact with infected youngsters usually is responsible, whereas men are more inclined to pick up the malady at barbershops.

CHILDHOOD HABI T

Mrs. R. K. writes: My 11 year old son still wets the bed. I have three more children—all girls—who are not affected this way. Why is it more common in the male?

Reply

Probably because boys are more difficult to train than girls. On the other hand, the condition may occur in any child and is not restricted to one sex.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Home On Farm Is Much Better Than Touring Europe; Country Doctors And Preachers Make This Country What It Is; Pearson's Pigs Play Deck Tennis

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

GAITHERSBURG, Md., Sept. 9—Well, I had a swell vacation—at least until the pigs got loose.

Before the vacation started I had studied road maps and dreamed up all sorts of tours. I figured on going out to see my daughter in California and my wife's aunt in New Mexico. I bothered Karl Bickel about the best way to reach his hideaway in Ontario, Canada, and corresponded with Sumner Welles about a trip up to Bar Harbor.

But in the end I decided that, with real fireworks likely to break out in Berlin this winter, I ought to take a look at things beforehand, so I got a steamship reservation for Europe and went through the red tape of an American Military Government permit to visit Germany.

When the sailing date rolled around, however, I just didn't get on the ship. I didn't go on that ship, nor the next ship; in fact, I didn't go at all. I decided that a vacation was for the purpose of doing what one wanted to do most, so I just stayed right at home and enjoyed the Maryland countryside.

That's what I did during all of my vacation—just enjoyed my home and let General Clay worry about the Russians. Only time I left Maryland was to take two trips into the District of Columbia and one trip into the neighboring state of Delaware.

Staying right at home proved to wonderful—that is, until the pigs got loose. Here are some of the things I did:

Filled the silo—my son-in-law, who used to be a diligent silo-filler when he was courting my daughter, was absent this time; and even my radio agent, Jackson Leighter, never known to do a stroke of work during the rest of the year, carefully sprained his ankle just before silo-filling time. Despite the drones, however, we had such a big corn crop that we filled not only the main silo, but had to put up two temporary silos of paper and chicken wire.

Read William Vogt's "Road to Survival"—it's a book every good American should read. Makes you realize that we may be skating on thin ice as a nation if we don't stop washing our soil down into the ocean, ruining our forests, and dumping our iron and steel in shot and shell on foreign battlefields.

Went to church—What with getting up at 6 a. m. Sundays to prepare a radio broadcast during most of the year, I don't get to church as often as I should. Especially enjoyed the sermon of Bishop John E. Hines of Austin, Texas, who preached at Bethany Beach, Del. His Delaware neighbors tell about a car getting stuck in the mud outside the church and when several people brought planks to get it out, one man remarked: "If that board does not do it, I'll go inside and get the pulpit." . . . "Shhh," cautioned another, "that's the preacher over there." . . . "Yes," was the reply, "and I'm the bishop."

Decided not to plant any more corn—Having sat on the banks of the Potomac and watched thousands of tons of topsoal wash down from the cornfields of Maryland and Virginia, I finally decided to do my part by planting no more corn. Despite strip-farming and contour-plowing, both of which we practice religiously, any cornfield, unless on level ground, is bound to wash away the most priceless gift nature gave us—our topsoil. So, from now on, we are filling our silo with alfalfa. The farmers of Iowa, where the ground is flat, can supply the nation with corn.

Met a gradually disappearing species—the country doctor. Young Dr. Garrett Hume got out of the Army and decided he wanted to help his fellow men by practicing where doctors were scarce, hung out his shingle at Georgetown, Del., and has been answering calls on an 18-hour schedule ever since. So, in an age when more doctors gravitate to the city and specialized medicine, here's hats off to the country doctors, like Garrett Hume, who stay out where distances are long, where fees are low and where people need them most.

Pigs Get Loose

Most of the above were enjoyed during the first part of my vacation—before the pigs got loose. I might note in passing something obvious to most lady readers—that this stay-at-home vacation didn't go down too well with Mrs. P. After all, when you've kept home, cooked and planned meals for a year, it's only natural to want to let a hotel manager worry over the food and the servant problem during your husband's vacation.

However, Mrs. P. was a good sport, and, among other things, enjoyed her garden, especially one plot of lawn she had worked hard to keep green and on which we sometimes played deck tennis.

This is the point where the pigs came in. It was, of course, my fault. I had seen them roaming around loose, and I had been warned by the lady who is much righter than I am that they might descend on the lawn. However, they were such nice little pigs, and they so obviously enjoyed their freedom, that I put off catching them for a day.

Envies General Clay

That day turned the tide of my vacation. That evening the pigs decided to play deck tennis. I don't known which of them won, but I know I lost. In thirty minutes that lawn—pride of Mrs. P's heart—looked like a plowed field.

I took one look at it and decided General Clay in Berlin was to be envied. Why, oh why, had I not followed my earlier plans and gone to Germany!

Did you ever put together a picture puzzle the size of a quarter acre? Well, I did, beginning at five the next morning—a picture puzzle consisting of little pieces of turf—octagon-shaped, triangular-shaped, or no-shaped. In fact, I spent the rest of my vacation patching that lawn, watering it, tamping it, praying over it.

However, there's a compensation in everything.

Some men spend several hundred dollars to have a gymnasium instructor put them through knee-bending exercises. I got the knee-bending exercise and it didn't cost me a cent. And in the end Mrs. P said she was almost glad we had pigs. They had proved her husband's 5 a. m. devotion.

To Use Blessings Of Liberty To Kill It Is Not Liberalism

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Outlaw the Communist Party

Nine states have outlawed the Communist Party by refusing it a place on the ballot. A recent popular poll shows that the majority of our people, by a vote of 3 to 1, would outlaw it everywhere in the Union.

This question was debated by Stassen and Dewey in Oregon. There is a wide division of opinion on it—first, whether it would be Constitutional; and, second, even if legal, whether it would be wise to do so.

However considered, the use of the word "party" is a misnomer. The Communist "party" is not a party in the way Americans use that term. On the contrary, it is an agency of a foreign power committed to the overthrow of governments by force. Its leaders are sworn to follow the "party line" established in Moscow, Russia.

Catspaw for Foreign Power

As a catspaw for a foreign power, it cannot claim the protection of our Constitution to overthrow the Constitution. To assert, as some "liberals" do, that the right of free speech may be used to destroy free speech is nonsense.

These "liberals" quote Jefferson and Lincoln and the Declaration of Independence as upholding the "sacred right of revolution." There is no such "right" today in the United States. Its moral basis does not exist. Our Constitution provides for its own amendment; our institutions permit any established party, or any new party, or any person to campaign openly to amend the Constitution, or to change our laws.

As long as these avenues are kept open, neither a legal nor moral base can exist for the use of force. The Declaration of Independence was signed, and the "Appeal to Arms" was made, only because all other means had failed. Our forefathers revolted from George III only when, as they said, there had been established "an absolute tyranny over these States."

It was one thing for us to throw the shackles of a foreign tyrant; it is another thing to conspire to put the handcuffs of a foreign despot on our own wrists.

All of us Americans have entered into an unspoken contract with each other. The contract is that the winning of political power will never be used to deny the right of the defeated minority, itself, to achieve power. It is implicit in our free institutions that the minority shall always remain free to oppose the majority at the voting booths and to defeat it, if they can. The power to coerce minority does not exist.

Those who deny this contract, who would use power to crush out all opposition, who would use power to turn this country over to a foreign country, cannot claim this country's protection for that purpose. We are not that kind of fools—yet!

Supreme Court, Attention

It is time for some members of our new Supreme Court to learn what modern Communism is. In a number of cases, such as the Harry Bridges deportation case, the Supreme Court has overruled judicial landmarks of long standing, and has justified its rulings by legal sophistries which are totally unrelated to the tough hard facts of the world today. The court, on one occasion, even upheld, as against a California statute, the "right" of a Communist school to require its pupils to salute the Red flag under an oath of allegiance!

If the purpose of our basic law, to "insure Tranquillity; to promote the common Defense;" and "to secure the blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity"—if these words mean what they say, we have the lawful and moral right to defend our institutions. No government that fails in this duty can long survive. To use the blessings of liberty to destroy liberty is not liberalism.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

To sing or not to sing . . . that was the question.

The answer had to come from the Metropolitan Opera and the various unions, who were having a dispute that would decide whether or not the met would open this fall

Lily Pons didn't know what to do . . . she walked around all day squelching high C's.

Of course, they always treat opera stars just the opposite from movie stars. In opera they tell the leading man to keep his mouth opened and his eyes shut.

But what would this fall be without the opera? Think of those disappointed minks.

Berlin Disturbances Give Financial Markets Jitters

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9—Disturbances in Berlin have again given the jitters to the financial markets of the world and to officials in London, Washington and Paris.

There is no logic to justify the assumption that the Russians are negotiating with the Western Powers in Moscow some form of agreement at the same time that disorders are being provoked by the Soviets themselves in the Municipality of Berlin. If it be inferred that the Soviets do not wish any agreement, then they hardly would stir up trouble in Berlin as a countervailing influence when they could as well reject the proposals made in Moscow at the recent conferences.

The possibility exists that the Russians are entangled in their own clumsy system of government and that the Communist Party, which is seeking certain objectives with reference to the policing of Berlin itself, is somehow working separately from the diplomatic functionaries in Moscow.

Appears Frequently

Such a lack of co-ordination appears again and again on the Soviet scene. Contradictions are explainable in no other way, for certainly the Russian rulers are not so naive as to believe the Allies will make concessions in order to get the Berlin blockade lifted only to have the policing of Berlin itself become a matter of dispute with Communist-stimulated groups in the German capital.

When Secretary Marshall points out publicly that the riots in Berlin are part of an effort to set up a Communist-dominated government there, he evidently feels he can discuss such a development publicly without destroying the good feeling so necessary to the conclusion of agreements on a four-power basis in Moscow.

Strict secrecy has been the rule with respect to the Moscow negotiations, so the public generally does not know whether the main negotiations have been unavoidably interrupted, halted, or merely deferred while the four military governors deal with actualities in Berlin.

Certainly, so far as the outside world is concerned, it cannot discern in the conferences of the military governors in Berlin about the blockade any factor involving Communist controversies over who shall police the city. They are two separate and distinct matters.

It is quite possible that Stalin was getting ready to make an amicable settlement of the occupation of Berlin by Allied forces when the political forces acting through the Communist Party decided on its own to take possession of the city government, either as a means of blocking such a settlement or as a method of exerting further pressure on the Allies to get out of the city.

Not Thought Through

Whatever the answer be, it does not seem to have been thought through so far as the effect on the western governments is concerned. If it be true that time is working in favor of the Allies and against Moscow, especially as the Marshall Plan operations begin to strengthen Western Europe and weaken the hold of Russia on her satellites, then the Politburo in Moscow will suffer by the Communist riots in Berlin. The over-all effect is bound to be to delay a settlement and perhaps bring an increase in the distrust that will be felt no matter what agreements are reached.

For some strange reason, the Russian government at Moscow is either unwilling or unable to carry on a negotiation in good faith without some untoward incident happening that shakes the confidence of negotiators from the western powers. It hardly seems plausible that the Russian rulers want that to continue, for there are no evidences that they want war or that they think they can bluff the Western Allies to retreat. More and more it would seem that what is going on in Berlin is a conflict on a local level which could bring major complications but which could also be settled overnight by a little bit of firm talk from the top Soviets to the Communists below.

The hint from Secretary Marshall, inquiring why the Russian military cannot preserve order in its sector, is a pointed one and may prove more embarrassing to the Politburo than it seems at first glance.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Shills

I went to the animal fair,
The birds and beasts were there
The big baboon,
He sat on the moon,
And combed his golden hair.
The monk .....

YES, that must have been me, for I went to the country fair and played all the shill games.

I moved from one to the other to see how they worked; how they took the money from the yokels, of whom I was one. It was a wonderful experience getting stuck every time I put up a dime or a quarter or even half a dollar.

There was the game with the horses climbing uphill. You pushed a handle and a ball bounced in a glass case and every time the ball went into a slot, the horse moved. The first horse to reach the top won the prize. About a dozen could play at once, but only one could win a prize. I played half a dozen times.

A boy, about 14 years old or thereabouts, won five times out of six. He was playing a hour later. He was playing two hours later. He was the shill. He worked for the house.

So I moved to a real proposition. This stand exhibited the most expensive prizes. If anyone won, he would walk off with something real, like a costly portable radio or a fishing outfit. So I put up a quarter. A number of india rubber balls were rolling down a chute. Each ball had a number on it in black ink. The number was related to a group of numbers on a chart; these numbers were red, black and green; and one of them was yellow. The numbers were not in consecutive order nor were the colors arranged for easy sight. The chart was a confusing hodge-podge. That helped.

Here is the game. Black numbers are a total loss. Red numbers get a prize—something unimportant. If you win a green number, then the ante is raised to 50 cents. The object is to get three greens or two greens and a red and then you can pick anything on the stand. Maybe for $3 or $4 you can take something that costs $100—maybe. The yellow number is only to mix you up; you get an extra play for nothing, but no prize.

It cost me $3.50 to catch on. At first, the fellow sends balls of all colors down the chute. So you get a red or a green or a black. You get two balls for a quarter. You grab them yourself. Nobody interferes. Maybe you win a little prize. But you are tempted to get the three greens. So you go on playing. But now you never get any but black numbers. All of a sudden no balls appear that show red or green numbers on the chart. Maybe you get a yellow which gives you an extra turn, but then again there is an avalanche of india rubber balls with little numbers on them—all showing black on the chart.

So you can go on playing until you are broke because the fellow at the end of the chute controls the balls. He can send them as he likes and he likes not to give expensive prizes.

Well, I had a wonderful time playing these games with not a chance of winning. Sure, I'm a sucker. Sure, everybody at the fair was a sucker. But it was fun. It must be more fun if you don't figure it out, if you live in a kind of fairyland for grownups. Why not? Who doesn't like a hot dog or a hamburger at a stand where nobody is inspected by a Health Commissioner?

But what has become of the pink lemonade and the hokey-pokey ice-cream and the snowball with three colored flavors squirted on the ice? They're lost in the reforms which the refrigerator and the deep freeze introduced. That's what progress does to us.

So I went to the fair and saw Indian jewelry made in Providence, Rhode Island, and cowboy clothes made in Brooklyn. Who cares? It was a day when I forgot Berlin, Vienna, Moscow. They tell me that Zhdanov died while I was at the fair. So?

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Happy Minded Sentinels

What a boon to the world are the happy-minded folks whom we discover, "here and there at ugly corners of life's wayside, preaching their gospel of quiet and contentment" as Stevenson once expressed.

Sentinels, let us call them, stationed at the crossroads, at filling stations, behind store counters, at hotel entrances, but best of all, in the unlooked for places, in crowds, sick rooms, and humble homes. There you will find the happyminded people, ready and hopeful that there will be clouds to blow away, that their service may be given.

The ailments, disappointments, and sorrows, as well as the many failures of these silent sentinels, are as real as those of any of us, but they are all given the happy-minded cover. They are buried deep within warm and courageous hearts, so that the glow of character is the only thing that is evidenced.

Like the sunshine that falls disinterestedly upon all, so do the happy-minded spread their glow and cheer wherever their presence may be. And what a blessing they are! None of us can associate with a happy-minded person without being deeply influenced, and lifted out of many a fog and confusion of thought.

The important thing, from the standpoint of health and one's greatest influence in this world, however, is that this happy-mindedness should become a confirmed habit. And I can think of no habit that will bring so much lavish enjoyment and genuine success in life. You can then be happily envied—and people will beat a path to your way of life that will in turn enrich multitudes.

During these days of world confusion and so much fear in the air, the happy-minded, each and all, stand out as sentinels of hope and faith. How many invalids and shut-ins have fadiated that happy-mindedness and made it a potent factor, far beyond their confined area. Like the little candle, that Shakespeare wrote about, they send their beams afar!

Advice To The Lovelorn

Mothers, Don't Tie Your Children To Your Apron Strings

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Perhaps it will sound like heresy to some very possessive mothers and some very dependent daughters but there can be such a thing as too close a mother-daughter tie.

Some mothers pride themselves on being such chums with their daughters that they go everywhere together and seem almost like two people of the same age.

This kind of situation is not at all good and almost always indicates that the mother has never grown up emotionally.

Such a mother is unconsciously described in a letter from a girl of 17 who writes as follows:

"I am very fond of a boy who is 19 and in the Navy. Mother thought a lot of him and so does Dad. The first date I had with him we took Mom along.

"I see him about once a week but now Mother says she doesn't want me to go out with him any more. I think she is jealous of him because if I go with him, she claims he is taking me away from her. We pal around together quite a bit. If she goes visiting, I go along with her and sit through a dull evening because some of the people don't have children. Mother and Dad both work and I stay home and mind the house and my younger sister. Therefore, I don't get a chance to meet girls and boys of my own age.

"The other night my boy friend didn't arrive till about 7:20 p. m. He and Dad sat talking and we left for the show a little later than usual. I got home about 11:30. This morning my brother told me that mother was tired of this boy and she is going to stop him from coming to see me.

"I have been under the doctor's care for nervousness and he told me to go out more often. I don't dare ask this boy to come and see me more often because if I do, Mother will make me give him up and I don't want to."

This is a situation already well on its way to serious trouble. No doubt the mother prides herself greatly on the fact that she and her daughter "pal" around together when as a matter of sober fact, she is doing the girl serious harm in keeping her so closely tied to her apron strings.

What she should be doing instead of making her daughter accompany her wherever she goes and cutting her off from normal companionship with boys and girls of her own age is to overhaul the whole family set up to bring about a healthier state of affairs for her daughter. Not only the maternal attempt to break up her friendship with the boy she likes but the necessity imposed upon her of staying home to keep house and look after the younger sister has already obviously begun to undermine this girl's health. Where are this mother's eyes and where is her mother's love not to see that the nervousness for which the girl has been sent to the doctor is entirely her own fault?

It would be a very wise thing if this doctor, instead of telling the girl she ought to get out more, would tell the same thing to the mother. If he does not think of doing this himself, then the girl should ask him to do so for it is probably the only way of even making a start at solving the problem.

Not only the maternal attempt to break up her friendship with the boy she likes but the necessity imposed upon her of staying home to keep house and look after the younger sister has already obviously begun to undermine this girl's health. Where are this mother's eyes and where is her mother's love not to see that the nervousness for which the girl has been sent to the doctor is entirely her own fault?

It would be a very wise thing if this doctor, instead of telling the girl she ought to get out more, would tell the same thing to the mother. If he does not think of doing this himself, then the girl should ask him to do so for it is probably the only way of even making a start at solving the problem.

First Class Fish

HONG KONG—(AP)—Forty thousand fancy tropical fish enroute from Singapore to San Francisco aboard the cargo ship "Furman Victory" have left Hong Kong for the United States. They live in a specially constructed temperature controlled water tank. The cabin itself is fitted not only with heating and cooling apparatus but with shelves, observation tanks, apparatus for keeping the water aerated and filtered and special foods—including live worms. Responsible for the luxury fish tank is an American, H. S. Black of Oakland, California, who has ordered the fish for his firm.

Sisters' Rivalry For The Same Boy Poses Real Problem

By NANCY MOTTRAM

Nancy Mottram

(Q) "Dear Nancy: My sister used to go steady with the boy I'm dating now. Things were fine at first, but now it seems she's decided to get him back, and has been trying to interest him again. I'm rather shy, and she's the beauty of the family, so I'm afraid I'll be the loser in this. I wonder if you could tell me what to do about it."

(A) She's on the wrong track if she carries her sisterly feelings to include the man in your life. Their twosome is defintely in the past, and she's not playing the game fairly when she tries to bring their former friendship back to life—at your expense. Before you two begin trading icy glances, give her a chance to withdraw gracefully. If she's always within earshot when he comes to call for you, be ready and waiting when he arrives, and after the customary hellos, leave. Don't give her opportunities to take up his time when you're putting on the finishing touches for your date. By your attitude and manner when he comes into your conversations with her, you can show her that you consider him your special one and you'd rather not have a feud within the family about him. This ought to be enough of a hint, but if it passes over her head, then it's time for you to get down to brass tacks and talk it out.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: Although there's one girl I'd rather take out than any other, I only have one date a week with her. She refuses to go steady, and she goes out with several other fellows besides myself. I'd like her to accept my class ring, but every time I ask her, she says no, and explains that she doesn't want to go out with just one boy. Should I stop seeing her altogether or should I just go along and date her as I have been doing?

(A) She's being honest with you, and with herself. She doesn't feel that she wants to tie herself down, and she realizes that until she's sure, any promise to go steady might be broken off soon after, leaving only bitter feelings. She hasn't decided to like ony one better than all the others, and if you're willing to take her out continually on those terms, all well and good. But she's the one who's making and following the rules, and unless you agree to abide by them, you'd be better off dating a lass who would rather be your "one and only" girl.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: My best friend and I like the same fellow. He began taking me out more often, and in spite, she wrote him a note saying neither of us would date him any more, signing both our names. I explained this to him as soon as I heard about it, and we began going together again. She wrote him another note after that, but evidently doesn't know he showed it to me. What can I do to make her understand that she's out of the picture now, and stop these notes?"

(A) The best way possible would b eto ask the boy to return any more of them to her, unopened, as soon as he receives them. She won't continue to spend her time and effort on something no one will read. Otherwise ignore her, and don't give her a chance to try any more of these tricks behind your back. She's trying to recover her pride, and if you refuse to be ruffled by any of her actions, she'll get the general drift after a while, and leave you two alone.

Nancy can help with all your teenage problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

FOR TABLE HARMONY

MANGELS-HEROLD CO. BALTIMORE 30, MD.

Railway Express Agency To Erect Garage Building

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer has granted a permit to the Railway Express Agency, Inc., to build a one-story garage and repair shop on a lot fronting 80 feet on the west side of Park Street just south of Emily Street, at an estimated cost of $5,000.

The application, signed by Herbert O. Weigand, New York City, superintendent of buildings, was handled through local agency representatives.

The lot, owned by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, has been leased to the agency, according to the application.

Foundation of the 30 by 30-foot structure will be of concrete, with walls of concrete block and a slate roof coated with asphalt shingles.

Work will be done by contract from plans furnished by the agency.

Betty Jane Chaney, 522 Laing Avenue, secured a permit to build a four-room house on Lot 94, Laing Avenue Extended, at an estimated cost of $1,000.

The one-story structure will measure 24 by 24 feet, with a concrete block foundation, frame walls covered with Inselbrick and a composition roof. Lex Merrill, 505 Montreal Avenue, is the contractor.

An occupancy permit was granted to Mrs. Blanche Taylor to move her confectionery business from its present location at 921 Virginia Avenue to the first floor of a two-tory frame building at 919 Virginia Avenue, which she owns. The premises, vacant for about four years, were formerly occupied by another confectionery store.

Melvin R. Stewart, 114 Greene Street, obtained a permit to build a two-room addition to the rear of his home and to enclose a rear porch with brick. The one-story addition will measure 15 by 20 feet and the enclosed porch will be 8 by 20 feet. A concrete block foundation will be used for the addition, which will have brick walls and a composition roof. Calvin Kidwell will do the work, which is estimated to cost $3,000.

Sees Technicolor Film

A technicolor film, "This Is My Railroad," based on scenes from the territory served by the Southern Pacific Railroad, was shown Wednesday night to the Tri-State Traffic Club. The group met at dinner at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Leo H. Ley, traffic manager, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, discussed the inauguration of the new domestic air parcel post service September 1.

Railway Express Agency To Erect Garage Building

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer has granted a permit to the Railway Express Agency, Inc., to build a one-story garage and repair shop on a lot fronting 80 feet on the west side of Park Street just south of Emily Street, at an estimated cost of $5,000.

The application, signed by Herbert O. Weigand, New York City, superintendent of buildings, was handled through local agency representatives.

The lot, owned by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, has been leased to the agency, according to the application.

Foundation of the 30 by 30-foot structure will be of concrete, with walls of concrete block and a slate roof coated with asphalt shingles.

Work will be done by contract from plans furnished by the agency.

Betty Jane Chaney, 522 Laing Avenue, secured a permit to build a four-room house on Lot 94, Laing Avenue Extended, at an estimated cost of $1,000.

The one-story structure will measure 24 by 24 feet, with a concrete block foundation, frame walls covered with Inselbrick and a composition roof. Lex Merrill, 505 Montreal Avenue, is the contractor.

An occupancy permit was granted to Mrs. Blanche Taylor to move her confectionery business from its present location at 921 Virginia Avenue to the first floor of a two-story frame building at 919 Virginia Avenue, which she owns. The premises, vacant for about four years, were formerly occupied by another confectionery store.

Melvin R. Stewart, 114 Greene Street, obtained a permit to build a two-room addition to the rear of his home and to enclose a rear porch with brick. The one-story addition will measure 15 by 20 feet and the enclosed porch will be 8 by 20 feet. A concrete block foundation will be used for the addition, which will have brick walls and a composition roof. Calvin Kidwell will do the work, which is estimated to cost $3,000.

Dill Sauce Adds Zip To Hot Or Cold Meats

Try this delicious sauce on roast lamb, veal or pork, or on cold roast meats for picnics and lunches at home.

Dill Sauce
(Serves 6)

2 beef bouillon cubes.
2 cups hot water.
¼ cup fat from roasting pan.
¼ cup flour.
Sale and pepper.
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.
¼ cup chopped dill pickles.

Dissolve bouillon cubes in hot water; cool. Blend fat and flour over low heat until browned, stirring to prevent scorching. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in bouillon and return to heat. Cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Add salt and pepper to taste, Worcestershire sauce and pickles. Yield: 2 cups sauce.

Dessert surprise in the school lunch box is a doughnut sandwich made by splitting the doughnut and filling with bright jelly, apple butter, or peanut butter.

Ham-Stuffed Potatoes

4 large potatoes
½ cup finely chopped cooked ham
¼ cup milk
Salt and pepper
1 egg, separated

Bake mature potatoes in hot oven (450° F.) 40 to 60 minutes. Cut slice off top; scoop out center, leaving thick shell.

Mash potato, mix with milk, egg yolk, ham; season. Fold in beaten egg white; refill shells. Bake 10 minutes in hot oven. Serves 4.

Child Runs The Tractor

BLOOMINGTON, Ill.—(AP)—Nine-year-old Jesse Howard Tudor took over the corn production job this year on his father's 80 acre farm near here. With his own tractor, Jesse hauled the manure and plowed the seven acre tract of corn. His father, J. S. Tudor, helped plant the crop. Jesse started running a tractor when he was three—with some supervision. He often drove it by himself when he was six.

Potatoes With Rarebit

3 cups seasoned mashed potatoes, 3 tablespoons fat, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup grated cheese, 1 egg, well-beaten.

Shape mashed potatoes into four mounds on baking sheet. Make hollow in center of each; brush with 1 tablespoon melted fat. Brown in 350° F. oven.

While potatoes brown, make rarebit. Melt 2 tablespoons fat, blend in flour, add milk slowly; cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add cheese; stir until melted. Pour a little sauce into beaten egg, then pour back into sauce. Cook 3 minutes longer.

Remove volcanoes to hot serving plate; fill with rarebit to overflowing. Sprinkle with paprika.

To complete the meal, serve with green peas, shredded carrot and raisin salad, gingerbread and fruit.

Red Thieves Sentenced

MOSCOW—(AP)—"Pravda of the East" reported that sentences of from five to seven years have been handed out by the prosecutor's office in Uzbekistan for thefts from this year's harvest. Brigadier of a state cotton farm, V. I. Borodkin, has been given seven years for cutting barley from state land and taking it to his home. Nurali Mansurov, of a collective farm, was given five years for stealing 47 kilograms of barley from a collective farm. The names of three others facing trial were listed.

HOUSEWIFE-SAVERS

LOWBOY REFRIGERATOR . . . Small-kitchen cooks will enjoy this space saver. It has a table-height stainless steel working surface top and frozen food storage space.

By VIVIAN BROWN
(AP) NewsFeatures Writer

There are few back-breaking bottlenecks left on the housewife's daily rounds.

Gone is the sore shoulder muscle from reaching for that clothesline. Modern clothes dryers are easy to reach whether clothes are dried outdoors on a circular dryer or indoors on the type of dryer which swings down from the ceilings of kitchen apartments.

Washing chores have been just about eliminated with washing machines which will wash and even dry the clothes. All that is left to do is to insert the clothes and push the button.

New lowboy type refrigerators have a functional table-height stainless steel working surface, a boon to housewives who must cook in crowded quarters. The table top feature offers additional space for food preparation and serving and can be wiped off in a jiffy. It takes up scarcely more room than the table used formerly for serving purposes.

High kitchen stools permit the cook to sit comfortably shelling peas or stringing beans. If she uses frozen foods she doesn't even have to do that. New refrigerators come equipped with freezing units where frozen vegetables, meats and fowl can be stored for future use.

The kitchen range has come in for some new treatment also. New ones have a higher broiler unit to prevent stooping. Many of them have glass door fronts so the food can be observed while it is cooking, eliminating checking every few minutes.

Altogether the kitchen is a lovely place to work these days. Cooking can be a pleasurable experience for young brides who think of the kitchen only as a sweat box such as Mom worked in.

Gel-Cookery Shows Way To Fluffy Gelatine Whips

A delicate, delicious dessert that climaxes any meal in fine fashion and can be made at home with little expenditure of time or money. . . that's the reputation enjoyed by gelatine whips. The easy secret to gelatine whips lies in the second key to gel-cookery . . . one of the five basic methods of cooking with unflavored gelatine.

The first step in preparing a gelatine whip is the making of basic clear gelatine, a process — familiar to most cooks — which is described on each envelope of unflavored gelatine. This basic gelatine is chilled until it reaches the consistency of unbeaten egg white, then it is beaten with a rotary beater until it is light and fluffy. This causes the gelatine to change in appearance—it becomes opaque instead of clear—more delicate in color—and it increases in volume. That's all the work to making an ariy, delicious gelatine whip and the preparation can be done hours in advance of serving time because the gelatine, once whipped, retains the characteristic changes in texture and color.

Simple Trick To Two-Toned Whips

Attractive two-toned gelatine whips are easily made by allowing half of a basic gelatine mixture to chill until firm in a mold or individual molds. The other half of the mixture is chilled in the mixing bowl until it reaches unbeaten egg white consistency. Then it is whipped with a rotary beater until light and foamy and turned on top of the clear firm gelatine in the molds. This produces a handsome gelatine dessert that is two-toned and two-textured. . . a striking combination that belies the minimum of time and money behind its production.

Each cook can decide on her own gelatine whip flavors and tailor her dessert exactly to her family's taste. Popular choices are orange, lemon, grape, apple and other fruit juices and, since pure, unflavored gelatine is used, true, fresh flavors are retained in the finished dessert. For more unusual whips, use cola beverages, ginger ale, coffee or cider.

Here is a recipe for Basic Fruit Whip, illustrating the second key to gel-cookery, and another for a two-tone dessert:

Basic Fruit Whips

1 envelope unflavored gelatine, ½ cup cold fruit juice, 1¼ cups hot fruit juice, ⅓ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt.

Soften gelatine in cold fruit juice. Add hot fruit juice, sugar and salt; stir until dissolved. Chill until slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Beat gelatine mixture with rotary beater until light and fluffy and volume has doubled. Pour into large or individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold and serve plain or with whipped cream. YIELD: 6 servings.

Delightful natural flavors like these may make your gelatine whips:

Apricot nectar, apple juice, cider, grapefruit juice, grape juice, prune juice, tangerine juice, tomato juice, pineapple juice, orange juice.

For Coffee Whip: use ½ cup water for the cold fruit juice; add 1½ cups hot strong coffee for the hot fruit juice.

Lemon Prune Whip (Two-Tone Dessert)

Part one: 1 envelope unflavored gelatine, ½ cup cold prune juice, 1¼ cups hot prune juice, ⅓ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt.

Soften gelatine in cold fruit juice. Add hot fruit juice, sugar and salt; stir until dissolved. Fill large or small molds half full with the prune gelatine mixture; chill until almost firm.

Part two: 1 envelope unflavored gelatine, ½ cup cold water, 1 cup hot water, ⅓ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup lemon juice.

Soften gelatine in cold water. Add hot water, sugar and salt; stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice. Chill until the mixture is slightly thicker than unbeaten egg white consistency, then beat with a rotary beater until light and fluffy. Pour on top of prune layer in molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve plain or with whipped cream or custard sauce.

YIELD: 8 servings.

Potato-Pork Puff

2 cups mashed potatoes
Hot milk to moisten
1 tablespoon fat
1 egg, separated
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 cup cubed cooked pork

To mashed potatoes, add milk, fat, egg yolk, seasonings, and meat. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Pour into greased baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 30 minutes, or until brown. Serves 4.

To complete the meal, serve cooked carrots, grapefruit salad; fruit shortcake.

RIGHT IN THE CHURN IT'S MADE IN!*
But until the law lets us have it,
the best home way is by

NUCOA'S "Bowl Mix"!

RIGHT! Here's why...

1. NUCOA'S "BOWL MIX" protects fine FLAVOR and TEXTURE.

We tolerate no short cuts on quality in the making of Nucoa. Why should you tolerate them in coloring it? Nucoa is churned, chilled, made into pounds and triple-wrapped so that it comes to you with the finest churn-fresh flavor and texture any spread can have. It is not melted and poured into a trick coloring package, because we know you would not like the flavor and texture of delicious Nucoa impaired this way.

2. NUCOA'S "BOWL MIX" is as QUICK as any way—and MORE APPETIZING.

Let Nucoa stand at room temperature until it is soft (not soupy—but soft enough for quick sandwich spreading). Remove it from package to a large bowl and with a large fork or spoon, cream in the color from the pure color wafer. Takes less than a minute and a half! No other method is quicker; no other method so well protects the texture.

3. NUCOA'S "BOWL MIX" gives you the BEST MARGARINE—at LESS COST.

When you buy margarine in a trick coloring package, you pay extra for the package! When you buy Nucoa, you buy its finer flavor; year-round, churn-fresh goodness; rich food energy and dependable Vitamin A. You get the margarine you're proudest to put on your table—actually cheaper!

* Obtainable yellow (where not prohibited by state law) at higher cost, to cover high Federal taxes and license fees.

P. Emmett Fahey, chief clerk for Allegany County Draft Boards, reported yesterday that 424 men in the 23-year-old age group registered Saturday and Tuesday at the three draft boards in the Cumberland district.

On Saturday 225 men registered and a decline was noted Tuesday when 199 men signed up. Board 27 registered 159 men at Flintstone, Oldtown, Pennsylvania Avenue, John Humbird, and Johnson Heights schools. Two hundred thirty-two men signed at Board 28 which includes Centre Street, West Side, East Side, Gephart, Carver and LaSalle school areas. At Board 29 a total of 43 men registered at Ellerslie, Corriganville, Cresaptown, and LaVale schools.

The largest number to register at a single place during the two days was 94 men who signed at LaSalle School.

Fahey also announced that Mrs. Frances Shircliff has been appointed by Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state director of selective service, as a part-time secretary in the Cumberland main office in the Windsor Hotel building.

Police Probe Theft

A woman who identified herself as "Mrs. Blake," 430 Grand Avenue, notified police Wednesday that a $100 star-shaped broach with a diamond in the center and pearls around the outside was stolen from her home.

Frostburg Youth Held In Thefts

Alvin Lee McKenzie, 19-year-old Frostburg youth, yesterday was ordered held for grand jury action on $1,000 bond after waiving a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrates Court on a breaking and entering charge.

McKenzie was committed to County Jail where Esther Imes, 18, of the Mt. Savage area, is also being held in connection with the case. Authorities said more than $500 worth of merchandise, money and loot were taken from business establishments in Mt. Savage the past few weeks.

I'd Rather Shop at A&P

"I do all my food shopping at A&P because I know I can trust them in every way. Take the matter of quality, for instance. I can trust them to buy the best that the market affords and to guard its freshness until I come for it. When they mark eggs 'Grade A', I know they'll be 'Grade A' when I buy them ('Grade A' eggs, you know, will be B or C if they stand around the store too long or aren't properly refrigerated.) I know I can trust their fruits and vegetables to be fresh, too----and their meats to be expertly selected and trimmed closely to give me my money's worth. I can trust their prices to be as advertised----and I know I wouldn't save by shopping around. You see, I've discovered that no store offers more food values more days a week than A&P. So by doing all my shopping there, week in and week out, I save money and get the finest food money can buy. That's why I'd rather shop at A&P. Wouldn't you?"

The largest number to register at a single place during the two days was 94 men who signed at LaSalle School.

Fahey also announced that Mrs. Frances Shircliff has been appointed by Col. Henry C. Stanwood, state director of selective service, as a part-time secretary in the Cumberland main office in the Windsor Hotel building.

I'd Rather Shop at A&P

"I do all my food shopping at A&P because I know I can trust them in every way. Take the matter of quality, for instance. I can trust them to buy the best that the market affords and to guard its freshness until I come for it. When they mark eggs 'Grade A', I know they'll be 'Grade A' when I buy them ('Grade A' eggs, you know, will be B or C if they stand around the store too long or aren't properly refrigerated.) I know I can trust their fruits and vegetables to be fresh, too.....and their meats to be expertly selected and trimmed closely to give me my money's worth. I can trust their prices to be as advertised.....and I know I wouldn't save by shopping around. You see, I've discovered that no store offers more food values more days a week than A&P. So by doing all my shopping there, week in and week out, I save money and get the finest food money can buy. That's why I'd rather shop at A&P. Wouldn't you?"

Grandparents Ask Court For Custody Of Son's Daughter

A hearing set for 10:30 a. m. yesterday in a habeas corpus petition was postponed because the principal in the case could not be located by the sheriff's office.

The grandparents of an eight-year-old child had filed the writ in an effort to obtain custody of the infant whom they claim they have cared for since birth.

Arthur F. Blubaugh and his wife, Margaret L. Blubaugh, this city, asked the court to grant them custody of Arveda Ruth Blubaugh, child of their son, Russell Kenneth Blubaugh.

Chief Judge William A. Huster was informed that when a deputy sheriff went to Ellerslie to serve papers on Russell Kenneth and Elizabeth Blubaugh, it was learned the couple had left the state with the child a short time before.

Thomas Lohr Richards, counsel for the grandparents, said in his petition to the court that the couple had kept the child since shortly after its birth and that their son and his wife had been divorced.

Later he married another woman and the grandparents retained custody of Arveda. The elder Blubaughs contend that the home of their son in Ellerslie is not a proper place for the care of the child.

On September 1 the son called at the home of his parents and asked permission to take the child for several days, promising to return her in time for the grandparents to get her ready for opening of school Tuesday. When the son failed and refused to return the child the court action was started.

Richards said that Blubaugh's first wife has told the grandparents that she wishes them to have custody of her daughter and that she is willing to testify in court to that effect.

Richards also said that the father, his second wife and her two children, along with Arveda Blubaugh are believed to have gone to Louisville, Kentucky, where Blubaugh is taking a radio course under the GI Bill of Rights.

An attorney for the younger Blubaugh has written him and asked him to return here with the child so that the court can decide the custody.

Richards said that as the father of the girl Blubaugh has not committed any crime in taking the child but has used subterfuge to obtain possession of the girl. The grandparents have supported the girl since she was an infant and believe that they are best qualified to care for her in view of the situation.

Tri-Towns Schools Open With Enrollment Similar To 1947

TRI-TOWNS—The schools in the Tri-Towns report about the same enrollment as last year, although a few more are expected to attend by the first of next week.

Miss Nellie Dowling, principal of Hammond Street, Westernport, states the approximate enrollment is 420, a little lower than last fall.

There are two changes in the faculty. Mrs. Kenneth Malcolm, Westernport, succeeded Mrs. Phyllis Shepp, Keyser, a music teacher, who resigned.

Mrs. Sue Todd Dawson, Petersburg, succeeds Mrs. J. Milton Templeton, (formerly Miss Miriam Orndorff), Westernport, who was married this summer. Mrs. Dawson will teach the fifth grade.

The approximate registration of Bruce High School, Westernport, is 550 with more expected Monday, Principal John W. Fisher reveals.

Changes in the faculty include Miss Doris Elrick, Mt. Storm, succeeding Mrs. William B. Orndorff, who substituted during the war years.

Miss Elrick will teach the eighth grade social studies, seventh grade English and seventh and eighth grade reading.

Miss Jean Feaster, Piedmont, is a new member of the teaching staff who will teach mathematics in the junior high and sophomore English in the senior high school.

One hundred and ninety eight students have been enrolled at the Piedmont graded school in the opening days, a few less than last fall, but the enrollment in Piedmont High School is about the same, 204, Principal Vernon A. Staggers reports. There are no changes in the faculties of the two schools.

Work of constructing new showers at Piedmont High School has been started by the contractor, Ray C. Coffman, Keyser. The addition is being placed on the north side near the municipal swimming pool.

Entrance to the girls' shower room will be at the rear of the gymnasium where an entrance will be converted into a dressing room. The entrance to the gym will be changed to the side.

Entrance to the boys' shower room will be directly from the gym through the side door between the bleachers and the front entrance. The present shower room will be used as a dressing room.

The present combination shower-dressing rooms have not proved satisfactory. They had inadequate drainage and ventilation. The moisture from the showers caused the plaster walls to give way, making repairs necessary several times.

St. Peter's High School of Westernport opened yesterday morning with mass at 8:30 o'clock at St. Peter's Catholic Church, celebrated by Rev. Charles Quinn, assistant pastor.

Sr. Jovita of Epiphany convent, Philadelphia, succeeded Sister Agnes Loretto, music and art teacher, who was promoted to Superior and assigned to High Point, N. C.

Sister Regina Bernadetta, Conshohocken, Pa., replaces Sister Margaret Teresa, who was transferred to Wildwood, N. J.

Sister James Elizabeth, who was stationed here 10 years and transferred to St. Carthage Convent, Philadelphia, is succeeded by Sister St. Claire, from the Ascension parish, Philadelphia.

Sister Margaret Frances, who spent three years at Westernport, has been transferred to Kulpmont, Pa. Sister Patrick Carmel, Belmar, N. J., succeeds her.

Tri-Towns Schools Open With Enrollment Similar To 1947

TRI-TOWNS—The schools in the Tri-Towns report about the same enrollment as last year, although a few more are expected to attend by the first of next week.

Miss Nellie Dowling, principal of Hammond Street, Westernport, states the approximate enrollment is 420, a little lower than last fall.

There are two changes in the faculty. Mrs. Kenneth Malcolm, Westernport, succeeded Mrs. Phyllis Shepp, Keyser, a music teacher, who resigned.

Mrs. Sue Todd Dawson, Petersburg, succeeds Mrs. J. Milton Templeton, (formerly Miss Miriam Orndorff), Westernport, who was married this summer. Mrs. Dawson will teach the fifth grade.

Changes in the faculty include Miss Doris Elrick, Mt. Storm, succeeding Mrs. William B. Orndorff, who substituted during the war years.

Miss Elrick will teach the eighth grade social studies, seventh grade English and seventh and eighth grade reading.

Miss Jean Feaster, Piedmont, is a new member of the teaching staff who will teach mathematics in the junior high and sophomore English in the senior high school.

One hundred and ninety eight students have been enrolled at the Piedmont graded school in the opening days, a few less than last fall, but the enrollment in Piedmont High School is about the same, 204, Principal Vernon A. Staggers reports. There are no changes in the faculties of the two schools.

Work of constructing new showers at Piedmont High School has been started by the contractor, Ray C. Coffman, Keyser. The addition is being placed on the north side near the municipal swimming pool.

Entrance to the girls' shower room will be at the rear of the gymnasium where an entrance will be converted into a dressing room. The entrance to the gym will be changed to the side.

Entrance to the boys' shower room will be directly from the gym through the side door between the bleachers and the front entrance. The present shower room will be used as a dressing room.

The present combination shower-dressing rooms have not proved satisfactory. They had inadequate drainage and ventilation. The moisture from the showers caused the plaster walls to give way, making repairs necessary several times.

St. Peter's High School of Westernport opened yesterday morning with mass at 8:30 o'clock at St. Peter's Catholic Church, celebrated by Rev. Charles Quinn, assistant pastor.

Sr. Jovita of Epiphany convent, Philadelphia, succeeded Sister Agnes Loretto, music and art teacher, who was promoted to Superior and assigned to High Point, N. C.

Sister Regina Bernadetta, Conshohocken, Pa., replaces Sister Margaret Teresa, who was transferred to Wildwood, N. J.

Sister James Elizabeth, who was stationed here 10 years and transferred to St. Carthage Convent, Philadelphia, is succeeded by Sister St. Claire, from the Ascension parish, Philadelphia.

Sister Margaret Frances, who spent three years at Westernport, has been transferred to Kulpmont, Pa. Sister Patrick Carmel, Belmar, N. J., succeeds her.

Advance Aviation Cadet Recruiting Agent Here

Lt. Col. Williams E. Reuhlman, advance agent for the Aviation Cadet Recruiting program, visited the local Army and Air Force office Wednesday, according to First Lt. George J. Gocke.

Col. Reuhlman was sent from First Air Force Headquarters, Fort Slocum, N. Y., and is one of four men with similar missions in the United States.

He will be followed September 22 and 23 by a two-man team, Maj. Bernard M. Campbell and Capt. Edward Helm, who will administer the cadet qualifying and college equivalent tests.

Lt. Gocke pointed out that one youth, Allen E. Johnson, Artemas, Pa., has already been accepted for cadet training through the Cumberland office. However, it was necessary for him to travel to Andrews Field, near Washington, at his own expense to take the tests.

Plans for securing P-80 jet planes for Freedom Train Day, September 22, and the recruiting program the same day look promising, Lt. Gocke added. Although, he has not received a definite answer to his request, he has received word that they have no previous commitments for that day.

The jets could not come here for Air Force Day, September 18, because of a flood of earlier requests received at Andrews Air Force Base where they are stationed.

Cereus Blooms

Three buds on a night blooming cereus owned by Patrick Coyle, 36 Race Street, bloomed Tuesday night after two other buds had bloomed Monday night.

Coyle said he has had the plant for 12 years and that it blooms yearly and sometimes blooms three to four times a year.

Advance Aviation Cadet Recruiting Agent Here

Lt. Col. Williams E. Reuhlman, advance agent for the Aviation Cadet Recruiting program, visited the local Army and Air Force office Wednesday, according to First Lt. George J. Gocke.

Col. Reuhlman was sent from First Air Force Headquarters, Fort Slocum, N. Y., and is one of four men with similar missions in the United States.

He will be followed September 22 and 23 by a two-man team, Maj. Bernard M. Campbell and Capt. Edward Helm, who will administer the cadet qualifying and college equivalent tests.

Lt. Gocke pointed out that one youth, Allen E. Johnson, Artemas, Pa., has already been accepted for cadet training through the Cumberland office. However, it was necessary for him to travel to Andrews Field, near Washington, at his own expense to take the tests.

Plans for securing P-80 jet planes for Freedom Train Day, September 22, and the recruiting program the same day look promising, Lt. Gocke added. Although, he has not received a definite answer to his request, he has received word that they have no previous commitments for that day.

The jets could not come here for Air Force Day, September 18, because of a flood of earlier requests received at Andrews Air Force Base where they are stationed.

Cereus Blooms

Three buds on a night blooming cereus owned by Patrick Coyle, 36 Race Street, bloomed Tuesday night after two other buds had bloomed Monday night.

Coyle said he has had the plant for 12 years and that it blooms yearly and sometimes blooms three to four times a year.

Auto And Grain Strikes Continue

[By The Associated Press]

Strikes cut deeper into flour and automobile production Thursday and there were no signs of early settlement.

Meanwhile, a New York metropolitan area trucking strike cut sharply into the delivery of dry goods and reduced newsprint supplies of New York City's newspapers to a matter of days.

An estimated 50,000 Detroit auto workers remained idle for the second day. The strike, called by 170 independent union plant guards at the Briggs Manufacturing Company, 25,000 Briggs workers out of work. Chrysler Corporation sent home 19,000 workers and Packard 6,000 when assembly lines were halted by a shortage of bodies.

A strike of 1,200 grain handlers at six Minneapolis-St. Paul mills entered its second day after peace efforts of Gov. Luther Youngdahl failed. Industry spokesmen said the strike would not affect bread supplies for a long period as other mills in the area are operating.

Union leaders planned to ask striking AFL drivers in the New York City strike to cut their wage demands in an effort to end the nine-day strike. The union executive committee suggested a slash to 17½ cents from 25 cents—but about 1,000 unionists voted to stand by their original 25-cent demand.

"HUSBAND"-SEEKING BLONDE HANGS HERSELF

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9 (AP) — A 21-year-old blonde, who was arrested after storming into two apartments shouting for her "husband," was found dead today, hanging by her slip from the door of a police cell.

Police identified the woman as Estella Sprouse from Tuckahoe, Va., near Richmond. They said she came here yesterday, taking a room and then venturing forth to try the doors of several buildings in a nearby residential block.

Kenneth Lowe, who was minding his five children while his wife was out, declared she ran into his first-floor apartment, shouted "you're my husband," and started beating him.

When Donald Kaneshiro came to Lowe's aid, Miss Sprouse turned her fire on him. When Kaneshiro escaped to call the police, the girl wrecked his second-floor apartment.

It took the combined efforts of three officers to get her into a patrol wagon. During the struggle, she scratched one patrolman and tore another's shirt off. She was booked on charges of disorderly conduct, disturbing the peace and assault.

When a police matron checked her cell about two hours later she discovered Miss Sprouse hanging from the cell door by her slip. She was dead when an ambulance got her to a hospital.

ed at three Soviet soldiers who were driving by jeep to take up sentry duty. They were driving inside the British sector toward the Russian war memorial near the Reichstag. One of the Russians stood up in the jeep with a tommygun and warned the crowd to stand back.

Paving stones then began to fly at the vehicle but it reached the monument where another crowd of Germans surrounded the three soldiers. The crowd threw stones over the heads of a protective cordon of British police. One rock smashed the jeep's windshield.

The crowd then surged toward Brandenburg Gate where an anti-Communist began climbing up the huge memorial to tear down a Communist flag flying there.

There was a scuffle. American correspondent eyewitnesses said the Russian-controlled police thereupon opened fire. At least 10 shots were heard.

The flag was pulled down amid shouts of approval from the crowd.

Another jeep-load of Russian military police then drove through the gate into the British sector and tommyguns. Nobody was seen to fall. The crowd dispersed.

Embargo On West Coast Oil Exports Ordered

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—The government tonight announced that a temporary embargo on the export of gasoline, including aviation fuel, and other oils from West Coast ports will go into effect September 11 at 12:01 a. m. (Pacific Daylight Saving Time).

Besides gasoline, the fuels affected include kerosene, gas, oil and distillate fuel oil.

Officials said the embargo has been made necessary by the work stoppage at Pacific Coast oil refineries, which is threatening coast transportation, industry, and agricultural activities, as well as the supply of aviation gasoline for military purposes.

Water Company Tells Frostburg Council Its Bills Exceed Receipts

Line To Be Checked For Possible Leaks

FROSTBURG—Mrs. Russell Hosken, president; Mrs. Idella Stevens, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Bernadette Gooding, a director of the Grahamtown Water Company, whose mains supply water, purchased from the city, to the residents of Grahamtown, appeared before the Mayor and City Commissioners Tuesday evening and reported that the company's water bills from the city for water supplied to Grahamtown consumers amounted to considerably more since February of this year than the company collects from its consumers.

The Grahamtown Water Company, which operates under authority of the Public Service Commission, receives water from the city through a master meter located at the top of Welsh Hill. According to bills displayed at the city council meeting Tuesday, the amount of water passing through the master meter started to increase in February and continued until August when there was a decrease to near normal, indicating that a leak somewhere in the system responsible for the loss of thousands of gallons of water, had been repaired. The officers of the company stated that they knew nothing off a leak in the lines or of any repairs that had been made.

They informed the city council that the company would be compelled to go out of business if the excessive consumption of water for which they received no pay continues.

Representatives of the company stated due to the impossibility of purchasing water meters, only a portion of the residents have meters, which they bought before the war. Since the war, company officers stated that at least 20 new homes have been erected in Grahamtown, none of which is supplied with a water meter. This cil's permission, he would use the many old homes without meters makes it difficult to keep an accurate record of the amount of water used by each consumer.

The officers admitted that their water mains were old and probably in bad condition in some places and stated that the excavations made in recent years for new buildings, sewer and water lines may have caused damage to some of the mains and service lines although, they said, they have not been able to discover any leaks.

City Water Superintendent James Kenney stated that, with the councers of the company at the meetcity leak detector at any point where the Grahamtown Company might indicate the possibility of a leak, but explained that as it was not a city problem, he could not be expected to spend weeks looking for the locations where water is being drained out of the system.

Complying with a suggestion made by City Attorney William S. Jenkins, the officers of the company decided to write to the Public Service Commission and request that an inspector of the commission be sent here and inspect the plant. It is reported by a stockholder of the company that there are approximately 90 consumers being served by the Grahamtown Water Company and that the stockholders are receiving no dividends.

All members of the City Council expressed a desire to co-operate with the Grahamtown Company, but explained that the city's responsibility involved only the delivery of water to the master meter at the top of Welsh Hill. From that point the water flows through the Grahamtown Company's mains.

Mrs. Bernadette Gooding, a stockholder who accompanied the officers of the rompany at the meeting Tuesday, stated yesterday that a request had been mailed to the Public Service Commission to have an inspector come here at the earliest possible date.

Water Company Tells Frostburg Council Its Bills Exceed Receipts

Line To Be Checked For Possible Leaks

FROSTBURG—Mrs. Russell Hosken, president; Mrs. Idella Stevens, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Bernadette Gooding, a director of the Grahamtown Water Company, whose mains supply water, purchased from the city, to the residents of Grahamtown, appeared before the Mayor and City Commissioners Tuesday evening and reported that the company's water bills from the city for water supplied to Grahamtown consumers amounted to considerably more since February of this year than the company collects from its consumers.

The Grahamtown Water Company, which operates under authority of the Public Service Commission, receives water from the city through a master meter located at the top of Welsh Hill. According to bills displayed at the city council meeting Tuesday, the amount of water passing through the master meter started to increase in February and continued until August when there was a decrease to near normal, indicating that a leak somewhere in the system responsible for the loss of thousands of gallons of water, had been repaired. The officers of the company stated that they knew nothing off a leak in the lines or of any repairs that had been made.

They informed the city council that the company would be compelled to go out of business if the excessive consumption of water for which they received no pay continues.

Representatives of the company stated due to the impossibility of purchasing water meters, only a portion of the residents have meters, which they bought before the war. Since the war, company officers stated that at least 20 new homes have been erected in Grahamtown, none of which is supplied with a water meter. This cil's permission, he would use the many old homes without meters makes it difficult to keep an accurate record of the amount of water used by each consumer.

The officers admitted that their water mains were old and probably in bad condition in some places and stated that the excavations made in recent years for new buildings, sewer and water lines may have caused damage to some of the mains and service lines although, they said, they have not been able to discover any leaks.

City Water Superintendent James Kenney stated that, with the councers of the company at the meetcity leak detector at any point where the Grahamtown Company might indicate the possibility of a leak, but explained that as it was not a city problem, he could not be expected to spend weeks looking for the locations where water is being drained out of the system.

Complying with a suggestion made by City Attorney William S. Jenkins, the officers of the company decided to write to the Public Service Commission and request that an inspector of the commission be sent here and inspect the plant. It is reported by a stockholder of the company that there are approximately 90 consumers being served by the Grahamtown Water Company and that the stockholders are receiving no dividends.

All members of the City Council expressed a desire to co-operate with the Grahamtown Company, but explained that the city's responsibility involved only the delivery of water to the master meter at the top of Welsh Hill. From that point the water flows through the Grahamtown Company's mains.

Mrs. Bernadette Gooding, a stockholder who accompanied the officers of the rompany at the meeting Tuesday, stated yesterday that a request had been mailed to the Public Service Commission to have an inspector come here at the earliest possible date.

Garage-Building To Cost $45,000

A permit was issued yesterday to the Allegany Building and Land Corporation, through its attorney and agent, Albert A. Doub, Jr., to construct a combined garage and storeroom measuring 89 by 158 feet on Lots 202 to 207 inclusive, at the southeast corner of Elder Street and Lexington Avenue.

The one-story structure, for which plans will be provided by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, is estimated to cost $45,000 and will be used by the telephone company, Doub said.

It will have a concrete foundation, concrete block walls and a tar and felt three-ply built-up roof. Work will be done by John S. Cook and Son.

Several weeks ago the Board of Zoning Appeals granted the corporation permission to locate the building at that site although it is in a Residential B zoning district, because of the proximity of the premises to industrial and commercial establishments.

The property was purchased from William C. Walsh, trustee, according to the application filed in the city engineer's office.

Walter J. Maxey secured a permit to build a one-story concrete block garage at the rear of 451 Walnut Street, at an estimated cost of $200. The 12 by 24-foot structure will have a composition roof.

City Hall Space Offered For Chest Drive Office

Street Commissioner Edgar Reynolds yesterday informed officials of the Cumberland Community Chest that a large room in the basement of City Hall is available for use as headquarters in the coming Chest campaign.

The room, used for many years as police headquarters, was most recently used by a nutrition unit of the United States Public Health Service during its study of school lunch programs in Cumberland.

In a letter to the Mayor and Council Tuesday, Frederic W. Eiler, president of the Chest, requested permission to use the two rooms on the second floor of City Hall which were used for campaign headquarters last year.

However, Reynolds informed him yesterday that one of those rooms is being used for storage of city records while the other is used for storing supplies of the Associated Charities.

Eiler said the headquarters office would probably be in use September 17 through November 2. The campaign will be held the last two weeks in October.

The "pit mining mule" is small, only about 12 hands high.

Garage-Building To Cost $45,000

A permit was issued yesterday to the Allegany Building and Land Corporation, through its attorney and agent, Albert A. Doub, Jr., to construct a combined garage and storeroom measuring 89 by 158 feet on Lots 202 to 207 inclusive, at the southeast corner of Elder Street and Lexington Avenue.

The one-story structure, for which plans will be provided by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, is estimated to cost $45,000 and will be used by the telephone company, Doub said.

It will have a concrete foundation, concrete block walls and a tar and felt three-ply built-up roof. Work will be done by John S. Cook and Son.

Several weeks ago the Board of Zoning Appeals granted the corporation permission to locate the building at that site although it is in a Residential B zoning district, because of the proximity of the premises to industrial and commercial establishments.

The property was purchased from William C. Walsh, trustee, according to the application filed in the city engineer's office.

Walter J. Maxey secured a permit to build a one-story concrete block garage at the rear of 451 Walnut Street, at an estimated cost of $200. The 12 by 24-foot structure will have a composition roof.

City Hall Space Offered For Chest Drive Office

Street Commissioner Edgar Reynolds yesterday informed officials of the Cumberland Community Chest that a large room in the basement of City Hall is available for use as headquarters in the coming Chest campaign.

The room, used for many years as police headquarters, was most recently used by a nutrition unit of the United States Public Health Service during its study of school lunch programs in Cumberland.

In a letter to the Mayor and Council Tuesday, Frederic W. Eiler, president of the Chest, requested permission to use the two rooms on the second floor of City Hall which were used for campaign headquarters last year.

However, Reynolds informed him yesterday that one of those rooms is being used for storage of city records while the other is used for storing supplies of the Associated Charities.

Eiler said the headquarters office would probably be in use September 17 through November 2. The campaign will be held the last two weeks in October.

The "pit mining mule" is small, only about 12 hands high.

Trainers To Be Responsible For Drugged Horses

Maryland Will Initiate New Ruling Sept. 30

HPBA To Adopt Stand After Taking Vote

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9 (AP) — The Maryland Racing Commission announced today it is placing the responsibility for drugged horses back on the trainers.

Previously, state stewards assumed responsibility for horses after they entered the "receiving barn" and passed the pre-race saliva test.

However, beginning Sept. 30 with the opening of the meeting at Laurel, Md., trainers may be ruled off Maryland tracks and their licenses suspended if urine and saliva tests made after races show that their horses were drugged.

Stuart S. Janney, Jr., chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission, said the group adopted the new rules because it had discovered that several horses which passed prerace tests this summer at some of the state's half-mile tracks showed signs of doping in post-race tests.

Under the controversial "receiving barn" system, horses were brought to a special stable about two hours before their race and held under close guard.

Steward Was Responsible

If a saliva test then showed drugs, the horse was scratched. The state steward assumed responsibility for the horse if it passed the test and was allowed to run.

Under the new system, the horses still will come to the barn for prerace tests and will be held under general guard until post time. Race winners will be given post-race saliva and urine tests. If a winner is found to have been drugged, the horse will be disqualified, the purse forfeited and the trainer held responsible.

The receiving barn was instituted in Maryland in 1946.

Although a committee of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association met with the racing commission last week and agreed in the main with the new set of regulations, officials of the Maryland HPBA have decided to put the matter to a vote.

Horsemen To Take Vote

John A. Manfuso, vice president of the Maryland division, said he understood quite a few members are not in accord with the new rules and it was thought best to take a vote before adopting a formal stand.

He said the horsemen will meet sometime next week at the Bel Air track.

"Personally," he said, "I hope there will be no trouble. A boycott is the last thing we are thinking of, as it would do more harm to the game than good."

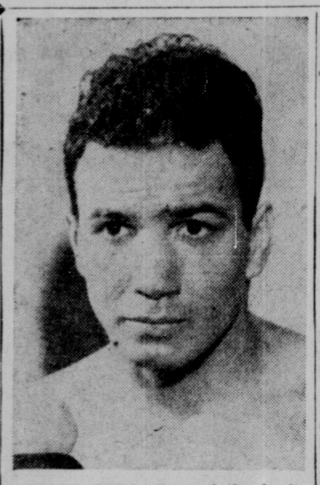
Pep And DeMarco Clash At Garden

Champ Will Appear In Non-Title Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP) — Big time boxing—or at least a big time boxer—returns to Madison Square Garden tomorrow night after a series of mediocre summer shows when Featherweight Champion Willie Pep of Hartford takes on Paddy DeMarco, promising Brooklyn lightweight in a non-title 10 rounder.

Pep, one of the greatest featherweight champs in history, brings his gaudy record into the garden ring for the first time in two years. In 133 bouts, he has lost only once. One other was a draw. Currently he is working on a string of 41 straight victories.

Willie has gone through 70 fights without a loss since his streak of 62 successive wins was snapped by Sammy (The Clutch) Angott way back in 1943. A 1945 Baltimore draw with Jimmy McAllister is the other blot.



TESTS SALA—Two of the best middleweights in the east will clash at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Wednesday, September 15 when Charley (Zivic) Affif, above, meets Lee Sala, winner of 41 consecutive bouts, including 31 knockouts. Eight ounce gloves will be used for the first time in Pittsburgh in the highly-heralded "natural." The new ruling went into effect in Pennsylvania September 1. The Rooney-McGinley Boxing Club is staging the show.

Bosox Notch 9th Straight Victory Over Yankees, 9-4

McCarthymen Increase Lead To 3 1-2 Games

By JOSEPH B. KELLEY

BOSTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—Boston's pennant hungry Red Sox increased their American League lead to three and a half games over the runner-up Yankees today, thumping the New Yorkers 9-4, thanks to an eight run spree in the third inning. It was the ninth successive Sox victory and their 24th in their last 27 games.

A paid throng of 28,002 dolefully watched the McCarthy Maulers spot the Yankees three runs and then chortled as their favorites walked and batted their way to their eight runs.

Bob Porterfield, starting Yankee pitcher, went to pieces in the third. He got the first batter on a pop up and couldn't retire another. He gave up three walks and three hits before he was removed for Tommy Byrne who was equally ineffective.

Byrne walked Billy Goodman, the first batter to face him and was lifted for Ed Lopat after getting three balls and no strikes on the next hitter. Four more Sox hitters faced Lopat before the Yankees could retire the side.

Ellis Kinder went all the way for his eighth victory for the Bosox.

Gus Niarhos, Yankee catcher, was ejected from the game by plate umpire Ed Rommel in the sixth inning for tossing his glove in the air during an argument over a decision at the plate.

Johnny Pesky who had doubled with one out, came all the way home as Ted Williams pushed a slow grounder towards right field in an effort to outwit the extreme shift used by the Yankees.

Snuffy Stirnweiss retrieved the ball and quickly threw home. The sliding Pesky beat the throw and crashed into Niarhos.

Williams legged it safely to second. The Yankees, led by the furious Niarhos, argued that Pesky pinned Niarhos to the ground, interfering with him.

The victory was the 11th for the Sox over the Yankees in 16 games. In eight games at Fenway Park the Sox have defeated the Bombers seven times. Box:

BROWNS WIN PAIR

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 (INS)—The St. Louis Browns took both ends of a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox today, though they had to come from behind both times to prevail by 5 to 2 and 4 to 2.

The more spectacular finish occurred in the nightcap, when the Brownies, trailing 2 to 1, clustered four of the seven hits they got all game to score three times and put the game away.

Pirates Stay In Flag Chase By Beating Reds Again, 6-1

Elmer Riddle Scores Over "Bucky" Walters

CINCINNATI, Sept. 9 (AP)—Pittsburgh's Pirates kept in the running for the National League pennant by beating Cincinnati, 6 to 1, today in a game in which Bucky Walters, new Reds' manager, took himself off the mound after a spell of wildness.

Elmer Riddle, formerly of the Reds, allowed only five hits in winning his 12th game. He has lost nine. Walters, working for his 199th victory in the majors, has not won a game this year and has been beaten three times. It was his first start since he became manager last Aug. 6.

For five innings, Pittsburgh was held to one hit, but in the sixth scored three unearned runs when the Cincinnati defense collapsed and Walters walked in one runner and wild-pitched another home. Then he removed himself in favor of Harry Gumbert.

Three hits accounted for two more runs for Pittsburgh in the seventh and Clyde Kluttz scored the last one with a homer in the eighth.

Cincinnati's run was scored in the first frame when Frank Baumholtz doubled, took third on Claude Corbitt's fly and went home on Johnny Wyrostek's safety. Box:

Tri-State League Team Fined $500

ROCK HILL, S. C., Sept. 9 (AP)—The Rock Hill Baseball Club was jarred by a $500 fine and threat of loss of its Tri-State League franchise today when President C. M. Llewellyn took the most severe action in his three-year tenure as head of the Class B circuit.

The fine and warning are the result of two rhubarbs in the Rock Hill Ball Park Monday and Tuesday nights, when the Chiefs were involved in a vital series with Charlotte. In a telegram to the Rock Hill club—Jakie Todd is president and Dallas Blackiston is business manager — Llewellyn charged that ample police protection was not provided for Umpires Red Simpson and Glenn Cooper.

Llewllyn added that drastic measures should be taken to provide protection to umpires tomorrow night when the chiefs open the first round of the league playoffs with Asheville in Rock Hill.

"If not, the series may be transferred," the telegram said.

In their report, Simpson and Cooper said they were the targets for eggs, rotten tomatoes and one golf ball, that their car (owned by Simpson) suffered minor damage by vandals.

THREE LACY'S STARS WILL FLY HERE FOR OPENER OF SERIES

Members of Lacy's Delicatets softball team will fly to Cumberland today to participate in the opening game of the City League series against the Amvets at 6 p. m. at Community Park.

Walter "Pooch" Orndorff, Ted Durbin and Vernon Penner, members of the Delicatets, are employed by the C. & P. Telephone Company and work out-of-town.

They were unable to reach here in time for the game so Lacy Cifala, backer of the team, has arranged with Sanford Jenkins and Jack Dela-Grange to fly Orndorff and Durbin from Frederick and Penner from Hagerstown so the Delicatets will have their full strength for the opener.

All of the games in the best-of-five championship series are billed for Community Park.

Welters Matched

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (INS)—The tournament of champions, inc., took steps today toward arranging a Ray Robinson welterweight title fight by announcing a one-fight elimination tourney.

On Oct. 22, at the Jersey City armory, Tippy Larkin, Garfield, N. J. and Charley Fusari, Newark, will meet at the championship distance of 15 rounds. The 147-pound limit for welterweights will be enforced.

T TIME WITH THE BULLDOG

CLYDE (BULLDOG) TURNER, great All-Pro center of the Chicago Bears, demonstrates one phase of the job he has performed so well for the Bears for eight years. At left, the Bulldog demonstrates the offensive position for a center in the T formation—head up so he can see the man he is to block. At right he slams the ball back to Quarterback Sid Luckman with a stiff-armed, sweeping motion, hard and with plenty of speed. Turner recently turned author and the pictures are from his book, "Playing the Line."

Rex Barney Hurls No-Run, No-Hit Game For Dodgers

Giants Hitless First Time In 33 Years, 2-0

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP) — Rex Barney, strong-armed 23-year-old right hander of the Brooklyn Dodgers, tonight pitched the first no-run, no-hit game of the 1948 National League season, with a 2-0 victory over the New York Giants.

Barney struck out four. Only four Giants reached base against him, two via walks and two on errors. Seven balls were hit to the outfield.

Barney's mound masterpiece is the first by a Dodger hurler since Ed Head blanked the Boston Braves without a hit April 23, 1946. It also is the second in the majors this season. Bob Lemon of Cleveland hurled a hitless and scoreless game against the Detroit Tigers last June 30.

The last time the Giants were held hitless was 33 years ago when Jimmy Lavender of the Chicago Cubs shut them out 2-0 in the first game of a doubleheader on Aug. 31, 1915.

The last National League no-hitter was turned in by Ewell Blackwell of the Cincinnati Reds against the Braves June 18, 1947.

The remarkable feature of Barney's performance was that he did not need any extraordinary assistance from his teammates as is usually the case in no-hit performances. There were no outstanding plays by either the Brooks' infielders or the outfielders. There was no need for them.

The vaunted Giant sluggers, who set a major league home run record of 221 last season and had propelled 149 out of the park this season, hit only five balls hard. Score:

BROOKLYN	011 000 000—2 6 2
NEW YORK	000 000 000—0 0 1

Barney and Edwards. Kennedy and Cooper.

Outdoor Gunners Meet Winchester

Locals Will Invade Virginia Saturday

Trapshooters of the Cumberland Outdoor Club will journey to Winchester, Va., Saturday to shoot it out with the team representing the Winchester Gun Club team. The match is set for 2 p. m.

It will be a return contest, the locals having defeated the Virginians here last year by the margin of eleven targets.

The Winchester team comprises such crack shots as "Tony" Renner, "Bud" Lewis, C. A. Cuthbert, Miss Ruth Cuthbert, former national champion, and Arthur W. Seabright.

Scores of the five high gunners on each team will determine the winner.

Members of the Outdoor Club team are Harry Barton, Tony Francis, Paul Nycum, Russell McElfish, "Lefty" Jordan, Charles Simpson and Roy Maphis. The local shooters will leave Saturday at noon.

BOSTON JUDGE FINES TICKET SCALPER $520

BOSTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—A district court judge who couldn't get a ticket himself for the Red Sox-Yankees game last night fined an accused ticket scalper $520 today.

Police said Eugene Finn, 29, had 28 bleacher tickets for the game—even though upwards of 25,000 fans were turned away.

Judge Frankland W. L. Miles, one of the disappointed, voiced his annoyance from the bench:

"How you get 'em, I don't know," he told Finn. "But in my opinion this is a lowdown business and not fair play to the baseball fans of Boston.

Testimony revealed the prevailing price for tickets among speculators ranged between $2 and $3 for 60 cent bleacher seats and as high as $15 for $1.80 grandstand seats.

10,600 Seats Are Sold For Fight In London

Promoter Jack Solomons announced the sellout of the show. Ringside seats were sold for five guineas ($21).

Roxy won the championship last season.

The league season will probably get under way on Sunday.

HARRY CLARKE TRADED TO ROCKETS BY DONS

CHICAGO, Sept. 9—(AP)—The Chicago Rockets today traded Tackle Bill (Earthquake) Smith to Los Angeles Dons for Halfback Harry Clarke.

Smith, rookie from the University of North Carolina, was acquired by the Rockets this year from the Cleveland Browns, All-America Football Conference champions.

Clarke, a University of West Virginia product, is a pro veteran, playing with the Dons in 1946-47 and with the Chicago Bears of the National Football League in 1940-42-43.

Clarke will be available for duty Friday night as the Rockets seek their first All-America triumph in three starts against the Baltimore Colts at Soldier Field.

CARDS TEST EAGLES IN EXHIBITION TILT

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9—(AP)—The champion Chicago Cardinals go after their third 1948 exhibition victory tomorrow night against the Philadelphia Eagles, eastern division titlists of the National Football League.

The Cards whitewashed the College All-Stars, 28-0, then smashed the Washington Redskins, 46-20. The Eagles, meantime, have split in two pre-season contests, whipping the Detroit Lions 37-35 but bowing to the Chicago Bears 24-23.

The champions won the title in last year's playoff with the Eagles and the Philadelphia gridders are itching to square matters before an expected Municipal Stadium turnout of 60,000.

Sentinels Out To Avenge Lone Defeat Of 1947

Schoolboy Elevens To Clash At 8 P. M.

Football makes its 1948 bow in Cumberland tonight when Fort Hill High School's Sentinels, meet the Little Generals of Washington and Lee High, Arlington, Va., at the local stadium at 8 o'clock.

The same teams opened the 1947 season at Arlington, Va., and Coach Harry Deming's eleven emerged the winner by the score of 33-21. After that game Fort Hill rolled over nine consecutive opponents and takes that 9-game winning streak into battle tonight.

Both schools were hard hit by graduation in June. Washington and Lee's only first stringer holding over from last year is Mike Lloyd, 176-pound center. Sixteen other lettermen appear on the squad of 41 players.

Retain Three Regulars

Only three regulars of Fort Hill's 1947 team will be in the starting lineup when the team takes the field tonight. They are Glenn Burke, end; Fred Corbin, tackle, and Charles Lattimer, center. Twenty-six other players who were on the squad last season are back in harness for the 1948 campaign. Coach William P. Hahn's squad comprises 42 players out of an original field of 85 candidates.

Washington and Lee won seven games and lost four in 1947. They're playing an 11-game schedule this season. Kenneth Batson is assistant coach of the Little Generals.

The Sentinels, opening a 10-game schedule, will sport red jerseys, pants and headgear while the visitors will wear white uniforms and headgear.

Coach Hahn expects the lid-lifter to attract a large crowd. Tickets still may be purchased at the Wilson Hardware Company and Truitt's Drug Store for tonight's game. Season tickets for five games carrying a guarantee of a choice at the AHS-Fort Hill game on Thanksgiving Day may be purchased at the school.

Dan Staley and the Miers Brothers of Keyser—"Huck" and "Eck" will do the officiating in tonight's contest.

Visitors' Line Beefy

The Little General's starting line will average slightly over 186 pounds compared to the Hilltoppers' 174. The backfields are more evenly matched in the matter of weight. Fort Hill's quartet averages 156 and the Generals' 157½ pounds.

Jack Sievers, 225-pound tackle, is the heaviest man on the Wash-Lee squad. Fred Corbin, 200-pound tackle, packs the most weight among the Fort Hill players.

Probable starting lineups:

Colts And Rockets Tangle In Chicago

Baltimore To Seek Second League Win

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 (AP) — The Baltimore Colts and the Chicago Rockets, the two "soft touches" of the All-America Conference last season, collide at Soldier Field tomorrow night with the Colts in the guise of a cinderella club and the Rockets apparently the same old duds.

Paced by their sensational quarterback rookie, Yelberton Abraham Tittle from Louisiana State, the Colts will be gunning for their second straight league win after an exhibition conquest of the champion Cleveland Browns and a 45-28 loop opening rout of the New York Yankees last Sunday.

It will be the third league start for the winless Rockets, who bowed to the Los Angeles Dons, 7-0, and were smothered by the Buffalo Bills, 42-7.

Boys' Baseball League Resumes Series Sunday

FROSTBURG, Sept. 9—Frostburg's Eagles and the Congregational Boys' Club will clash in the second game of their best-of-three-games series for the championship of the Western Maryland Boys' Baseball League on Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at the Frostburg Ball Park.

The Eagles, managed by "Lefty" Kyle, won the opener by the score of 7-6. Fred Entler is manager of the Congregational nine.

Carlos and Klondike were eliminated in the playoff semi-finals.

Lancaster will twirl for the Boys' Club while Jenkins or the Preston Brothers will be on the firing line for the Eagles.

The Confusing Sports Scene

SPORTS FANS are getting very confused these days due to the fine promotion of sports events and because of seasonal changes. Pari-mutuel wagering at New York's thoroughbred tracks has dropped off but has picked up during the six months of trotting at Long Island's Roosevelt Raceway. Some patrons visit both tracks. The trotters run until Oct. 16, thoroughbreds until Nov. 15. In boxing the fight fan will have a tough job making up his mind whether to put $40 on the line for a Sept. 21 ringside seat in Jersey City or $20 for ringside seats for a Yankee Stadium program two nights later. Those who love baseball and football also have their problems. Some ball games are over just in time for the outdoor man to grab a quick dinner and then hustle off to a night football game.

Trainers To Be Responsible For Drugged Horses

Maryland Will Initiate New Ruling Sept. 30

HPBA To Adopt Stand After Taking Vote

BALTIMORE, Sept. 9 (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission announced today it is placing the responsibility for drugged horses back on the trainers.

Previously, state stewards assumed responsibility for horses after they entered the "receiving barn" and passed the pre-race saliva test.

However, beginning Sept. 30 with the opening of the meeting at Laurel, Md., trainers may be ruled off Maryland tracks and their licenses suspended if urine and saliva tests made after races show that their horses were drugged.

Stuart S. Janney, Jr., chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission, said the group adopted the new rules because it had discovered that several horses which passed pre-race tests this summer at some of the state's half-mile tracks showed signs of doping in post-race tests.

Under the controversial "receiving barn" system, horses were brought to a special stable about two hours before their race and held under close guard.

Steward Was Responsible

If a saliva test then showed drugs, the horse was scratched. The state steward assumed responsibility for the horse if it passed the test and was allowed to run.

Under the new system, the horses still will come to the barn for pre-race tests and will be held under general guard until post time. Race winners will be given post-race saliva and urine tests. If a winner is found to have been drugged, the horse will be disqualified, the purse forfeited and the trainer held responsible.

The receiving barn was instituted in Maryland in 1946.

Although a committee of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association met with the racing commission last week and agreed in the main with the new set of regulations, officials of the Maryland HPBA have decided to put the matter to a vote.

Horsemen To Take Vote

John A. Manfuso, vice president of the Maryland division, said he understood quite a few members are not in accord with the new rules and it was thought best to take a vote before adopting a formal stand.

He said the horsemen will meet sometime next week at the Bel Air track.

"Personally," he said, "I hope there will be no trouble. A boycott is the last thing we are thinking of, as it would do more harm to the game than good."

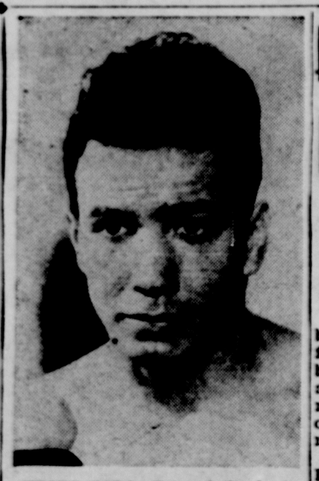
Pep And DeMarco Clash At Garden

Champ Will Appear In Non-Title Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—Big time boxing—or at least a big time boxer—returns to Madison Square Garden tomorrow night after a series of mediocre summer shows when Featherweight Champion Willie Pep of Hartford takes on Paddy DeMarco, promising Brooklyn lightweight in a non-title 10 rounder.

Pep, one of the greatest featherweight champs in history, brings his gaudy record into the garden ring for the first time in two years. In 133 bouts, he has lost only once. One other was a draw. Currently he is working on a string of 41 straight victories.

Willie has gone through 70 fights without a loss since his streak of 62 successive wins was snapped by Sammy (The Clutch) Angott way back in 1943. A 1945 Baltimore draw with Jimmy McAllister is the other blot.



TESTS SALA—Two of the best middleweights in the east will clash at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Wednesday, September 15 when Charley (Zivic) Affif, above, meets Lee Sala, winner of 41 consecutive bouts, including 31 knockouts. Eight ounce gloves will be used for the first time in Pittsburgh in the highly-heralded "natural." The new ruling went into effect in Pennsylvania September 1. The Rooney-McGinley Boxing Club is staging the show.

Bosox Notch 9th Straight Victory Over Yankees, 9-4

McCarthymen Increase Lead To 3 1-2 Games

By JOSEPH B. KELLEY

BOSTON, Sept. 9 (AP)—Boston's pennant hungry Red Sox increased their American League lead to three and a half games over the runner-up Yankees today, thumping the New Yorkers 9-4, thanks to an eight run spree in the third inning. It was the ninth successive Sox victory and their 24th in their last 27 games.

A paid throng of 28,002 dolefully watched the McCarthy Maulers spot the Yankees three runs and then chortled as their favorites walked and batted their way to their eight runs.

Bob Porterfield, starting Yankee pitcher, went to pieces in the third. He got the first batter on a pop up and couldn't retire another. He gave up three walks and three hits before he was removed for Tommy Byrne who was equally ineffective.

Byrne walked Billy Goodman, the first batter to face him and was lifted for Ed Lopat after getting three balls and no strikes on the next hitter. Four more Sox hitters faced Lopat before the Yankees could retire the side.

Ellis Kinder went all the way for his eighth victory for the Bosox.

Gus Niarhos, Yankee catcher, was ejected from the game by plate umpire Ed Rommel in the sixth inning for tossing his glove in the air during an argument over a decision at the plate.

Johnny Pesky who had doubled with one out, came all the way home as Ted Williams pushed a slow grounder towards right field in an effort to outwit the extreme shift used by the Yankees.

Snuffy Stirnweiss retrieved the ball and quickly threw home. The sliding Pesky beat the throw and crashed into Niarhos.

Williams legged it safely to second. The Yankees, led by the furious Niarhos, argued that Pesky pinned Niarhos to the ground, interfering with him.

The victory was the 11th for the Sox over the Yankees in 16 games. In eight games at Fenway Park the Sox have defeated the Bombers seven times. Box:

BROWNS WIN PAIR

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 (INS)—The St. Louis Browns took both ends of a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox today, though they had to come from behind both times to prevail by 5 to 2 and 4 to 2.

The more spectacular finish occurred in the nightcap, when the Brownies, trailing 2 to 1, clustered four of the seven hits they got all game to score three times and put the game away.

Pirates Stay In Flag Chase By Beating Reds Again, 6-1

Elmer Riddle Scores Over "Bucky" Walters

CINCINNATI, Sept. 9 (AP)—Pittsburgh's Pirates kept in the running for the National League pennant by beating Cincinnati, 6 to 1, today in a game in which Bucky Walters, new Reds' manager, took himself off the mound after a spell of wildness.

Elmer Riddle, formerly of the Reds, allowed only five hits in winning his 12th game. He has lost nine. Walters, working for his 199th victory in the majors, has not won a game this year and has been beaten three times. It was his first start since he became manager last Aug. 6.

For five innings, Pittsburgh was held to one hit, but in the sixth scored three unearned runs when the Cincinnati defense collapsed and Walters walked in one runner and wild-pitched another home. Then he removed himself in favor of Harry Gumbert.

Three hits accounted for two more runs for Pittsburgh in the seventh and Clyde Kluttz scored the last one with a homer in the eighth.

Cincinnati's run was scored in the first frame when Frank Baumholtz doubled, took third on Claude Corbitt's fly and went home on Johnny Wyrostek's safety. Box:

Tri-State League Team Fined $500

ROCK HILL, S. C., Sept. 9 (AP)—The Rock Hill Baseball Club was jarred by a $500 fine and threat of loss of its Tri-State League franchise today when President C. M. Llewellyn took the most severe action in his three-year tenure as head of the Class B circuit.

The fine and warning are the result of two rhubarbs in the Rock Hill Ball Park Monday and Tuesday nights, when the Chiefs were involved in a vital series with Charlotte. In a telegram to the Rock Hill club—Jakie Todd is president and Dallas Blackiston is business manager — Llewellyn charged that ample police protection was not provided for Umpires Red Simpson and Glenn Cooper.

Llewllyn added that drastic measures should be taken to provide protection to umpires tomorrow night when the chiefs open the first round of the league playoffs with Asheville in Rock Hill.

"If not, the series may be transferred," the telegram said.

In their report, Simpson and Cooper said they were the targets for eggs, rotten tomatoes and one golf ball, that their car (owned by Simpson) suffered minor damage by vandals.

THREE LACY'S STARS WILL FLY HERE FOR OPENER OF SERIES

Members of Lacy's Delicatets softball team will fly to Cumberland today to participate in the opening game of the City League series against the Amvets at 6 p. m. at Community Park.

Walter "Pooch" Orndorff, Ted Durbin and Vernon Penner, members of the Delicatets, are employed by the C. & P. Telephone Company and work out-of-town.

They were unable to reach here in time for the game so Lacy Cifala, backer of the team, has arranged with Sanford Jenkins and Jack DelaGrange to fly Orndorff and Durbin from Frederick and Penner from Hagerstown so the Delicatets will have their full strength for the opener.

All of the games in the best-of-five championship series are billed for Community Park.

Welters Matched

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (INS)—The tournament of champions, inc., took steps today toward arranging a Ray Robinson welterweight title fight by announcing a one-fight elimination tourney.

On Oct. 22, at the Jersey City armory, Tippy Larkin, Garfield, N. J. and Charley Fusari, Newark, will meet at the championship distance of 15 rounds. The 147-pound limit for welterweights will be enforced.

At left, the Bulldog demonstrates the offensive position for a center in the T formation—head up so he can see the man he is to block. At right he slams the ball back to Quarterback Sid Luckman with a stiff-armed, sweeping motion, hard and with plenty of speed. Turner recently turned author and the pictures are from his book, "Playing the Line."

Rex Barney Hurls No-Run, No-Hit Game For Dodgers

Giants Hitless First Time In 33 Years, 2-0

NEW YORK, Sept. 9 (AP)—Rex Barney, strong-armed 23-year-old right hander of the Brooklyn Dodgers, tonight pitched the first no-run, no-hit game of the 1948 National League season, with a 2-0 victory over the New York Giants.

Barney struck out four. Only four Giants reached base against him, two via walks and two on errors. Seven balls were hit to the outfield.

Barney's mound masterpiece is the first by a Dodger hurler since Ed Head blanked the Boston Braves without a hit April 23, 1946. It also is the second in the majors this season. Bob Lemon of Cleveland hurled a hitless and scoreless game against the Detroit Tigers last June 30.

The last time the Giants were held hitless was 33 years ago when Jimmy Lavender of the Chicago Cubs shut them out 2-0 in the first game of a doubleheader on Aug. 31, 1915.

The last National League no-hitter was turned in by Ewell Blackwell of the Cincinnati Reds against the Braves June 18, 1947.

The remarkable feature of Barney's performance was that he did not need any extraordinary assistance from his teammates as is usually the case in no-hit performances. There were no outstanding plays by either the Brooks' infielders or the outfielders. There was no need for them.

The vaunted Giant sluggers, who set a major league home run record of 221 last season and had propelled 149 out of the park this season, hit only five balls hard. Score:

BROOKLYN ..... 011 000 000—2 6 2
NEW YORK ..... 000 000 000—0 0 1

Dodgers Battle Dons In Game On Coast

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9—(AP)—The Los Angeles Dons, seeking their second win, and the Brooklyn Dodgers, trying for their first, open the All-America Football Conference here tomorrow night before upwards of 40,000 fans in the Memorial Coliseum.

In league play, Brooklyn has lost to New York and San Francisco, Los Angeles has a win over the Rockets and a loss to Cleveland.

Outdoor Gunners Meet Winchester

Locals Will Invade Virginia Saturday

Trapshooters of the Cumberland Outdoor Club will journey to Winchester, Va., Saturday to shoot it out with the team representing the Winchester Gun Club team. The match is set for 2 p. m.

It will be a return contest, the locals having defeated the Virginians here last year by the margin of eleven targets.

The Winchester team comprises such crack shots as "Tony" Renner, "Bud" Lewis, C. A. Cuthbert, Miss Ruth Cuthbert, former national champion, and Arthur W. Seabright.

Scores of the five high gunners on each team will determine the winner.

Members of the Outdoor Club team are Harry Barton, Tony Francis, Paul Nycum, Russell McElfish, "Lefty" Jordan, Charles Simpson and Roy Maphis. The local shooters will leave Saturday at noon.

BOSTON JUDGE FINES TICKET SCALPER $520

BOSTON, Sept. 9. (AP)—A district court judge who couldn't get a ticket himself for the Red Sox-Yankees game last night fined an accused ticket scalper $520 today.

Police said Eugene Finn, 29, had 28 bleacher tickets for the game—even though upwards of 25,000 fans were turned away.

Judge Frankland W. L. Miles, one of the disappointed, voiced his annoyance from the bench:

"How you get 'em, I don't know," he told Finn. "But in my opinion this is a lowdown business and not fair play to the baseball fans of Boston.

Testimony revealed the prevailing price for tickets among speculators ranged between $2 and $3 for 60 cent bleacher seats and as high as $15 for $1.80 grandstand seats.

10,600 Seats Are Sold For Fight In London

City Bowling Loop Makes Final Plans

Two Division Circuit Will Have 16 Teams

Teams of the City Bowling League will make final plans for the 1948-49 season at a meeting to be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the B.P.O. Elks Home, it was announced last night by C. Eugene Howell, president.

Sixteen teams have entered the race and plans are under way to divide the circuit into two divisions—the American and National—with the winners meeting in a series at the close of the campaign.

Teams expected to compete are: Roxy, Old Export, Harbaugh's and Yellow Top Cab from the Roxy alleys; Club Recreation, Martz's, Benny Levin's and Eagles from the Club alleys; Kelso's and Liberty Lanes from Kelso's alleys; the Savoy, B. & O. and a third team from the Savoy alleys and single teams from the Diamond, Capital and Silver Lanes.

Roxy won the championship last season.

The league season will probably get under way on Sunday.

HARRY CLARKE TRADED TO ROCKETS BY DONS

CHICAGO, Sept. 9—(AP)—The Chicago Rockets today traded Tackle Bill (Earthquake) Smith to Los Angeles Dons for Halfback Harry Clarke.

Smith, rookie from the University of North Carolina, was acquired by the Rockets this year from the Cleveland Browns, All-America Football Conference champions.

Clarke, a University of West Virginia product, is a pro veteran, playing with the Dons in 1946-47 and with the Chicago Bears of the National Football League in 1940-42-43.

Clarke will be available for duty Friday night as the Rockets seek their first All-America triumph in three starts against the Baltimore Colts at Soldier Field.

CARDS TEST EAGLES IN EXHIBITION TILT

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9—(AP)—The champion Chicago Cardinals go after their third 1948 exhibition victory tomorrow night against the Philadelphia Eagles, eastern division titlists of the National Football League.

The Cards whitewashed the College All-Stars, 28-0, then smashed the Washington Redskins, 46-20. The Eagles, meantime, have split in two pre-season contests, whipping the Detroit Lions 37-35 but bowing to the Chicago Bears 24-23.

The champions won the title in last year's playoff with the Eagles and the Philadelphia gridders are itching to square matters before an expected Municipal Stadium turnout of 60,000.

Sentinels Out To Avenge Lone Defeat Of 1947

Schoolboy Elevens To Clash At 8 P. M.

Football makes its 1948 bow in Cumberland tonight when Fort Hill High School's Sentinels, meet the Little Generals of Washington and Lee High, Arlington, Va., at the local stadium at 8 o'clock.

The same teams opened the 1947 season at Arlington, Va., and Coach Harry Deming's eleven emerged the winner by the score of 33-21. After that game Fort Hill rolled over nine consecutive opponents and takes that 9-game winning streak into battle tonight.

Both schools were hard hit by graduation in June. Washington and Lee's only first stringer holding over from last year is Mike Lloyd, 176-pound center. Sixteen other lettermen appear on the squad of 41 players.

Retain Three Regulars

Only three regulars of Fort Hill's 1947 team will be in the starting lineup when the team takes the field tonight. They are Glenn Burke, end; Fred Corbin, tackle, and Charles Lattimer, center. Twenty-six other players who were on the squad last season are back in harness for the 1948 campaign. Coach William P. Hahn's squad comprises 42 players out of an original field of 85 candidates.

Washington and Lee won seven games and lost four in 1947. They're playing an 11-game schedule this season. Kenneth Batson is assistant coach of the Little Generals.

The Sentinels, opening a 10-game schedule, will sport red jerseys, pants and headgear while the visitors will wear white uniforms and headgear.

Coach Hahn expects the lid-lifter to attract a large crowd. Tickets still may be purchased at the Wilson Hardware Company and Truitt's Drug Store for tonight's game. Season tickets for five games carrying a guarantee of a choice at the AHS-Fort Hill game on Thanksgiving Day may be purchased at the school.

Dan Staley and the Miers Brothers of Keyser—"Huck" and "Eck" will do the officiating in tonight's contest.

Visitors' Line Beefy

The Little General's starting line will average slightly over 186 pounds compared to the Hilltoppers' 174. The backfields are more evenly matched in the matter of weight. Fort Hill's quartet averages 156 and the Generals' 157½ pounds.

Jack Sievers, 225-pound tackle, is the heaviest man on the Wash-Lee squad. Fred Corbin, 200-pound tackle, packs the most weight among the Fort Hill players.

Probable starting lineups:

Colts And Rockets Tangle In Chicago

Baltimore To Seek Second League Win

CHICAGO, Sept. 9 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts and the Chicago Rockets, the two "soft touches" of the All-America Conference last season, collide at Soldier Field tomorrow night with the Colts in the guise of a cinderella club and the Rockets apparently the same old duds.

Paced by their sensational quarterback rookie, Yelberton Abraham Tittle from Louisiana State, the Colts will be gunning for their second straight league win after an exhibition conquest of the champion Cleveland Browns and a 45-28 loop opening rout of the New York Yankees last Sunday.

It will be the third league start for the winless Rockets, who bowed to the Los Angeles Dons, 7-0, and were smothered by the Buffalo Bills, 42-7.

Boys' Baseball League Resumes Series Sunday

FROSTBURG, Sept. 9—Frostburg's Eagles and the Congregational Boys' Club will clash in the second game of their best-of-three-games series for the championship of the Western Maryland Boys' Baseball League on Sunday at 2:30 o'clock at the Frostburg Ball Park.

The Eagles, managed by "Lefty" Kyle, won the opener by the score of 7-6. Fred Entler is manager of the Congregational nine.

Carlos and Klondike were eliminated in the playoff semi-finals.

Lancaster will twirl for the Boys' Club while Jenkins or the Preston Brothers will be on the firing line for the Eagles.

The Confusing Sports Scene

SPORTS FANS are getting very confused these days due to the fine promotion of sports events and because of seasonal changes. Pari-mutuel wagering at New York's thoroughbred tracks has dropped off but has picked up during the six months of trotting at Long Island's Roosevelt Raceway. Some patrons visit both tracks. The trotters run until Oct. 16, thoroughbreds until Nov. 15. In boxing the fight fan will have a tough job making up his mind whether to put $40 on the line for a Sept. 21 ringside seat in Jersey City or $20 for ringside seats for a Yankee Stadium program two nights later. Those who love baseball and football also have their problems. Some ball games are over just in time for the outdoor man to grab a quick dinner and then hustle off to a night football game.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 9 (INS)—Cary Grant's lawyer, Morton Garbus, sailed on the Queen Elizabeth Wednesday with a contract in his pocket tieing Cary to RKO for five pictures.

Now, that's something. At one time, Cary said it was a fate worse than death belonging body and talents to one studio. Perhaps I should explain that this deal permits him outside pictures—but with this number to make, how much "outside" time will he have?

Cary Grant

Judy Garland is having "Roberta" rewritten for her, Frank Sinatra and Gene Kelly. By that I mean that Jack Cummings has taken the old musical off the shelf, given it to George Wells and Harry Ruby to write a script and have it ready for production next year, after Judy makes "Annie Get Your Gun."

The original movie version was made at RKO studios with Ginger Rogers, Fred Astaire, Irene Dunne and Randy Scott. MGM bought it and up to now nothing has been done about it.

I felt sorry for Joe E. Brown when he telephoned me from Chicago.

He said, "Katherine and I have been married 33 years, and we have never had a breath of scandal. The idea of our separating is too preposterous to even discuss.

"I have been away because I am trying to make a living, and Katherine visits me as often as she can. Can't you please, Louella, say something to help a situation that is causing my wife, whom I happen to love very much, great unhappiness, and humiliating me beyond words."

Well, ordinarily I don't like to deny what other columnists write, because all of us make mistakes, but the Browns are old friends, and both of them have done so much for others.

There is no more loved or charitable woman in Los Angeles than Katie Brown, so I am going to break my rule and say there isn't one word of truth in the report that there is trouble between Katie and Joe E. Brown.

Marion Parsonette, writer - producer, and Shirley Cowan were married Friday at Malibu. Shirley, a close friend of Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski, was maid of honor when Mrs. Stokowski married Pat Di Cicco.

Wonder if it's true that Orson Welles is stoney broke in Rome. That's what I heard when I was there—and I hear it again.

Dolores Moran, wife of producer Ben Bogeaus, who had a much more serious time when her son was born than was made public, is able to go home today. Her baby is being named Brett Bogeaus.

The Ensenada Hotel, which was bought by Marjorie Plant, widow of the wealthy Phil Plant, is very attractive, according to Joan Fontaine and William Dozier. They spent Labor Day weekend there.

"The Kid," Jackie Coogan, is playing a heavy in "El Paso," a Pine and Thomas horse opera. That's certainly a reversal of form.

I don't wonder Lella and Phil Berg spend so much time on their boat. It's the most comfortable yacht afloat. Anchored off Santa Monica, eight of us had dinner aboard—Bebe Daniels, Ben Lyon, the Adolphe Menjous and Kenneth McKennas. William Haines did the decorations and Phil worked on the plans for two years. The Bergs are making their home there—certainly one way not to be bothered by neighbors or prowlers.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Ninety-five thousand women are employed in the United States in life insurance business. Most are cashiers and clerks.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS
Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 9 (INS)—Cary Grant's lawyer, Morton Garbus, sailed on the Queen Elizabeth Wednesday with a contract in his pocket tieing Cary to RKO for five pictures.

Now, that's something. At one time, Cary said it was a fate worse than death belonging body and talents to one studio. Perhaps I should explain that this deal permits him outside pictures—but with this number to make, how much "outside" time will he have?

Cary Grant

Garbus delayed his departure for Europe a week to iron out the details with Howard Hughes personally, and get the contract ready for Cary's signature.

Judy Garland is having "Roberta" rewritten for her, Frank Sinatra and Gene Kelly. By that I mean that Jack Cummings has taken the old musical off the shelf, given it to George Wells and Harry Ruby to write a script and have it ready for production next year, after Judy makes "Annie Get Your Gun."

The original movie version was made at RKO studios with Ginger Rogers, Fred Astaire, Irene Dunne and Randy Scott. MGM bought it and up to now nothing has been done about it.

I felt sorry for Joe E. Brown when he telephoned me from Chicago.

He said, "Katherine and I have been married 33 years, and we have never had a breath of scandal. The idea of our separating is too preposterous to even discuss.

"I have been away because I am trying to make a living, and Katherine visits me as often as she can. Can't you please, Louella, say something to help a situation that is causing my wife, whom I happen to love very much, great unhappiness, and humiliating me beyond words."

Well, ordinarily I don't like to deny what other columnists write, because all of us make mistakes, but the Browns are old friends, and both of them have done so much for others.

There is no more loved or charitable woman in Los Angeles than Katie Brown, so I am going to break my rule and say there isn't one word of truth in the report that there is trouble between Katie and Joe E. Brown.

His frantic mother hunted on every floor, assisted by the worried manager of the store, who thought the young man might have been kidnaped.

He was about to telephone the police when a saleslady found the youngster curled up on the sweater counter sound asleep on a cashmere sweater behind a stack of sweaters piled on the counter.

Marion Parsonette, writer - producer, and Shirley Cowan were married Friday at Malibu. Shirley, a close friend of Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski, was maid of honor when Mrs. Stokowski married Pat Di Cicco.

Wonder if it's true that Orson Welles is stoney broke in Rome. That's what I heard when I was there—and I hear it again.

Dolores Moran, wife of producer Ben Bogeaus, who had a much more serious time when her son was born than was made public, is able to go home today. Her baby is being named Brett Bogeaus.

The Andrews Sisters stole the show at the Cocoanut Grove when they sang the English ditty "Underneath The Arches." It was their very first appearance since their return from London.

The play "Lend An Ear" in which William Eythe appears, is attracting more and more attention in Hollywood.

The Ensenada Hotel, which was bought by Marjorie Plant, widow of the wealthy Phil Plant, is very attractive, according to Joan Fontaine and William Dozier. They spent Labor Day weekend there.

"The Kid," Jackie Coogan, is playing a heavy in "El Paso," a Pine and Thomas horse opera. That's certainly a reversal of form.

I don't wonder Lella and Phil Berg spend so much time on their boat. It's the most comfortable yacht afloat. Anchored off Santa Monica, eight of us had dinner aboard—Bebe Daniels, Ben Lyon, the Adolphe Menjous and Kenneth McKennas. William Haines did the decorations and Phil worked on the plans for two years. The Bergs are making their home there—certainly one way not to be bothered by neighbors or prowlers.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Rudy Vallee Will Be New Moderator On Girls' Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Rudy Vallee becomes a regular broadcaster again Friday night after quite a lapse. He goes on MBS to become the moderator of Leave it to Girls at 8:30 simultaneously with the program's taking on a sponsor. Also the panel of girls hereafter will be made up of Eloise McElhone, Robin Chandler, Hedda Hopper and Constance Bennett.

Also on Friday night boxing bouts are coming back to ABC at 10 after a somewhat erratic summer, including transfer of the scraps to a few Thursday nights. The battle will be between Willie Pep and Paddy deMarco in a non-title off-weight bout. Pep is featherweight champ and DeMarco a lightweight.

Joseph Schildkraut out of Hollywood is to have the lead when "Peter Ibbetson" comes to life in the University theater of NBC at 9. . . . Burt Shotton, whose Brooklyn Dodgers have taken a recent slump after climbing temporarily to the National League top, is to guest with Bill Stern at 10:30 via NBC. . . . The Tex Beneke band shows say goodbye to MBS at 10:30. He called the program "on the beam."

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Thanks and Good Evening, Folks

Resuming this column in the wake of such talented guest writers is a risky business—so risky, in fact, that several of my two-faced friends have thoughtfully suggested that I remain on a sort of permanent vacation, simply digging up new guests from time to time. I have indignantly rejected this suggestion on the grounds that literature would suffer severely from the absence of so many writers engaged in such a frivolous occupation as the writing of radio columns. To all my guests goes my heartfelt thanks. I'll take the damned thing back now.

John Crosby

I have devoted much of this vacation to listening to independent stations. It's a luxury, if that's the word for it, I can't ordinarily afford since this column, whether fortunately or not, is syndicated from Hell, Michigan, to Breakfast, Utopia, and the people in Hell aren't especially interested in the radio stations in Breakfast. This activity may seem on the surface a ridiculous way for a radio columnist to spend his vacation but it isn't necessarily.

These local independent programs, I find, have little in common with network programs or, for that matter, with anything else in my experience. To me they're a brave, rather startling new world composed of jingles ("Treat your eyes and treat your feet—to National Shoes. They can't be beat."), baseball ("Reese comes in to score.") and a popular song called "A Tree in the Meadow" ("And upon that tree is carved, I see, 'I'll love you till I die.'"

To the independents I'm indebted for a number of rare items for my collection. It was an independent, or indie as "Variety" refers to them, which introduced me to a song called "Three Cent Stomp." It now resides in my stomp collection next to "Boola Boola Blues." "Three Cent Stomp" hasn't much in the line of melody but with a title like that you don't need a melody.

Independent stations in New York and, I suppose, elsewhere are obsessed at the moment with baseball. Consequently I listened to more baseball than my wife considered strictly necessary, picking up rare flowers of language and intellect along the way. The choicest find I owe to Mr. Ted Husing. Speaking of a Dodger-Cub game, Mr. Husing was overheard to remark, not once but several times: "One-half of the game is one-third gone." This bit of mathematics I haven't worked out yet. One half of the ball game, the way I figure it, would be four and a half innings and if you can get a third of THAT, Husing, you're a better physicist than I am.

Another quaint though not at all new custom among the indies is the replaying of condensed ball games—or reconstructing them, as the man says—hours after they have been played and won or lost. It's a form of masochism indulged by Dodger fans who listen to the Bums drop a doubleheader to the Cubs in the afternoon and then, for some darn reason, feel compelled to hear it all over again at night. Inning by inning, the announcer reconstructs the sordid affair, assisted by a sound effects man who dubs in the crack of bat, the roar of crowd. "Here's the pitch. Reese swings (Crack) and there's a high fly deep into right. (Crowd roar) Holmes is under it—pumping his glove (Crowd roar)—and takes it for the out." (Crowd roar).

These lunatic exhibitions, I'm told, are quite popular with the manic - depressive fringe among baseball fans and can't be blamed entirely on the indies. Nevertheless, if we must have such things, I suggest a thorough shakeup in the sound effects department. That crack of bat, whether home run or foul tip, is the same crack, same bat, same batter — altogether a thoroughly unsatisfying crack to your real baseball maniac to whom the nuances of sound between a triple and a single are sweet music.

Also, as a former curator of crowd roars, I'm especially depressed by this department. Crowds, I can assure these reconstructors, make different noises on different occasions. Lavagetto's ninth inning double in last year's World Series produced a special roar quite different from that of a single to left in the third inning of a regular season game. The noises of baseball crowds vary in tone and quality from pleading insistence to clamorous enthusiasm to menacing disapproval and if we have to reconstruct these things, let's get real phony and reconstruct them all the way.

There ought, for example, to be two different noises for home runs, depending on who hit it, the visitors or the local club; there should be a specially transcribed exclamation of delighted surprise for double plays; and, of course, every sound effects man should have at hand that widely known noise in which the umpires in the stands take issue with the umpire on the field.

Rudy Vallee Will Be New Moderator On Girls' Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Rudy Vallee becomes a regular broadcaster again Friday night after quite a lapse. He goes on MBS to become the moderator of Leave it to Girls at 8:30 simultaneously with the program's taking on a sponsor. Also the panel of girls hereafter will be made up of Eloise McElhone, Robin Chandler, Hedda Hopper and Constance Bennett.

Also on Friday night boxing bouts are coming back to ABC at 10 after a somewhat erratic summer, including transfer of the scraps to a few Thursday nights. The battle will be between Willie Pep and Paddy deMarco in a non-title off-weight bout. Pep is featherweight champ and DeMarco a lightweight.

Joseph Schildkraut out of Hollywood is to have the lead when "Peter Ibbetson" comes to life in the University theater of NBC at 9. . . . Burt Shotton, whose Brooklyn Dodgers have taken a recent slump after climbing temporarily to the National League top, is to guest with Bill Stern at 10:30 via NBC. . . . The Tex Beneke band shows say goodbye to MBS at 10:30. He called the program "on the beam."

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Thanks and Good Evening, Folks

John Crosby

Resuming this column in the wake of such talented guest writers is a risky business—so risky, in fact, that several of my two-faced friends have thoughtfully suggested that I remain on a sort of permanent vacation, simply digging up new guests from time to time. I have indignantly rejected this suggestion on the grounds that literature would suffer severely from the absence of so many writers engaged in such a frivolous occupation as the writing of radio columns. To all my guests goes my heartfelt thanks. I'll take the damned thing back now.

I have devoted much of this vacation to listening to independent stations. It's a luxury, if that's the word for it, I can't ordinarily afford since this column, whether fortunately or not, is syndicated from Hell, Michigan, to Breakfast, Utopia, and the people in Hell aren't especially interested in the radio stations in Breakfast. This activity may seem on the surface a ridiculous way for a radio columnist to spend his vacation but it isn't necessarily.

These local independent programs, I find, have little in common with network programs or, for that matter, with anything else in my experience. To me they're a brave, rather startling new world composed of jingles ("Treat your eyes and treat your feet—to National Shoes. They can't be beat."), baseball ("Reese comes in to score.") and a popular song called "A Tree in the Meadow" ("And upon that tree is carved, I see, 'I'll love you till I die.'"

To the independents I'm indebted for a number of rare items for my collection. It was an independent, or indie as "Variety" refers to them, which introduced me to a song called "Three Cent Stomp." It now resides in my stomp collection next to "Boola Boola Blues." "Three Cent Stomp" hasn't much in the line of melody but with a title like that you don't need a melody.

Independent stations in New York and, I suppose, elsewhere are obsessed at the moment with baseball. Consequently I listened to more baseball than my wife considered strictly necessary, picking up rare flowers of language and intellect along the way. The choicest find I owe to Mr. Ted Husing. Speaking of a Dodger-Cub game, Mr. Husing was overheard to remark, not once but several times: "One-half of the game is one-third gone." This bit of mathematics I haven't worked out yet. One half of the ball game, the way I figure it, would be four and a half innings and if you can get a third of THAT, Husing, you're a better physicist than I am.

Another quaint though not at all new custom among the indies is the replaying of condensed ball games—or reconstructing them, as the man says—hours after they have been played and won or lost. It's a form of masochism indulged by Dodger fans who listen to the Bums drop a doubleheader to the Cubs in the afternoon and then, for some darn reason, feel compelled to hear it all over again at night. Inning by inning, the announcer reconstructs the sordid affair, assisted by a sound effects man who dubs in the crack of bat, the roar of crowd. "Here's the pitch. Reese swings (Crack) and there's a high fly deep into right. (Crowd roar) Holmes is under it—pumping his glove (Crowd roar)—and takes it for the out." (Crowd roar).

These lunatic exhibitions, I'm told, are quite popular with the manic-depressive fringe among baseball fans and can't be blamed entirely on the indies. Nevertheless, if we must have such things, I suggest a thorough shakeup in the sound effects department. That crack of bat, whether home run or foul tip, is the same crack, same bat, same batter — altogether a thoroughly unsatisfying crack to your real baseball maniac to whom the nuances of sound between a triple and a single are sweet music.

Also, as a former curator of crowd roars, I'm especially depressed by this department. Crowds, I can assure these reconstructors, make different noises on different occasions. Lavagetto's ninth inning double in last year's World Series produced a special roar quite different from that of a single to left in the third inning of a regular season game. The noises of baseball crowds vary in tone and quality from pleading insistence to clamorous enthusiasm to menacing disapproval and if we have to reconstruct these things, let's get real phony and reconstruct them all the way.

There ought, for example, to be two different noises for home runs, depending on who hit it, the visitors or the local club; there should be a specially transcribed exclamation of delighted surprise for double plays; and, of course, every sound effects man should have at hand that widely known noise in which the umpires in the stands take issue with the umpire on the field.

Developments In Europe And U. S. Combine To Send Market Lower

NEW YORK, Sept 9 (AP)—Grave European developments and a new move against American inflation combined to send the stock market into another decline today.

Today's decline in the market was 1.1 points as measured by the Associated Press average of 65 stocks which stood at 67.9, the lowest point since August 16.

Although the decline today was the same as yesterday in the averages, added significance was given the drop by the comparatively large volume of trading at 1,200,000 shares compared with 880,000 shares yesterday.

Some of the widest losers included Coca Cola, down four to 149; Mission Corporation, off 3½ at 53½; Douglas Aircraft, off two at 52; Allied Chemical, down 2½ at 183, and Union Pacific off 2¼ at 89.

United States Steel was down 1½ at 79⅛ Chrysler one at 59, Montgomery Ward 1¾ at 56. American Telephone and Telegraph lost 1, American Smelting 1¾, United States Gypsum 1, Sante Fe 1¾, Southern Railway 1⅞, and Standard Oil (NJ) 1⅞.

St. Louis and San Francisco Railway was the second most active stock in the list and ended three fourths higher at 15½.

Stocks in the curb market gave ground by fractions to more than a point. Cities Service lost 1¾ at 49½, North American Rayon "A" dropped 1¾ and the "B" stock fell three points. Gainers included Humble Oil and Kaiser Frazer.

United States government bonds hardly batted an eye today following the federal reserve boost in the reserve requirements of member banks.

Trading in the government loans on the over-the-counter market was light and declines ranged from 1/32 to 6/32 with the longer term bank eligibles dropping most. There was no trading in the bonds on the exchange.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Reuben B. Dean vs. Allie V. Dean. No. 20870 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states the parties were married on the 16th day of May, 1935, in Hagerstown, Maryland; that no children were born of the marriage; that the defendant deserted the plaintiff on the 29th day of May, 1943, without just cause or reason; that the desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since said date, is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff has resided in Allegany County for more than two years next before the filing of his suit, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her present address and whereabouts unknown to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon this 2nd day of September, 1948, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks before the 4th day of October, 1948, give notice to the non-resident defendant of the object and substance of this suit, warning her to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 20th day of October, 1948, to show cause, if any she may have why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

The report stated that the committee had held meetings with each of the agencies and thoroughly studied their requests and operations, but was unable to cut the total asked, $88,357.96, below the $84,009.24.

This is an increase of $8,615.73 over last year's goal of $75,393.51, when $77,972 was raised.

Those serving on the budget committee with Kauffman were Mrs. Emma Everstine, Mrs. C. Erich Roeder, James A. Avirett, Bernard J. Beck, Henry A. Mackey and James F. Martin.

Breakdown Listed

Agency	1948-49 Requests	1948-49 Awards
Associated Charities	19,910.00	19,250.00
Baby Welfare Society	2,150.00	2,150.00
Boy Scouts	6,500.00	6,300.00
Girl Scouts	6,871.00	6,580.00
Jewish Welfare Society	1.00	1.00
Keating Day Nursery	4,562.00	4,450.00
Salvation Army	12,950.00	12,500.00
Travelers Aid Society	1,500.00	1,425.00
Y. M. C. A.	19,010.92	17,010.92
Administrative Expense	3,565.30	3,500.00
Campaign Expense	5,945.00	5,745.00
Shrinkage Account 6½%	5,392.74	5,127.32
TOTAL	88,357.96	84,009.24

The committee noted that "in almost every instance the increase is occasioned by some element of the increased cost of living and higher prices. As a matter of fact, the administrative expenses of these agencies are often less than they were for the previous year, and a greater percentage of their funds has gone into such necessities as food, milk and clothing."

Tentative Dates Set

Tentative dates for the Chest campaign have been set as October 20 to 29, and headquarters for the drive will be set up in City Hall about September 20.

Edwin M. Brown of Howard T. Beaver and Associates, who has previously managed several local campaigns, will be campaign director.

Chairmen for various committees and leaders for the several divisions of the campaign organization will be selected by Swearingen and the campaign committee within the next few days.

Besides Eiler, Mrs. Everstine, Bishop, Bramble, Eves, Robertson, Lippel and Swearingen, the executive committee also includes C. William Gilchrist.

Two Possibilities

Attorneys appear to differ on the question of publishing the re-enacted ordinance, and there appears enough difference of opinion to challenge its legality, the News was told last night. However, former City Solicitor Heskett explained that it has long been the practice to publish only ordinances where a penalty is involved.

In the meantime, no date for a hearing has been set in the case of Kenneth Baker, operator of the Potomac Drive-In Theater. After being lodged in the county jail by the sheriff for nearly three hours last Sunday night, he has been at liberty under $500 bond, and the Drive-In is operating on a weekday schedule.

Indignation Voiced

The only other motion picture house in the county not in an incorporated community is one at Cresaptown which does not operate on Sunday. The Mt. Savage house and the Drive-In appeared last night to be the only targets of the state's attorney's "crack-down." The operator of the Drive-In was arrested and his place closed. The Mt. Savage owner was warned.

People in Mt. Savage are indignant over the order to close the movie house saying, "There isn't any other amusement here on Sunday."

Bishields says he has operated his house for many years and this is the first time he has received such a warning from authorities.

Bishields said the sheriff's deputy indicated that complaints had "come from Cumberland," but was no more explicit than that.

The State's Attorney was reported out of the city until Monday and was not available for comment on the newest developments.

NOTICE TO COAL OPERATORS

The Board of Education of Allegany County will receive bids until 12 o'clock Noon, September 18, for the furnishing of coal to the bins of the schools of Allegany County. Lists of the schools and specifications may be secured at the office of the Board of Education, 108 Washington St., Cumberland, Maryland.

Developments In Europe And U. S. Combine To Send Market Lower

NEW YORK, Sept 9 (AP)—Grave European developments and a new move against American inflation combined to send the stock market into another decline today.

The total of 1,200,000 shares traded was the largest since August 11.

Today's decline in the market was 1.1 points as measured by the Associated Press average of 65 stocks which stood at 67.9, the lowest point since August 16.

Although the decline today was the same as yesterday in the averages, added significance was given the drop by the comparatively large volume of trading at 1,200,000 shares compared with 880,000 shares yesterday.

Some of the widest losers included Coca Cola, down four to 149; Mission Corporation, off 3½ at 53½; Douglas Aircraft, off two at 52; Allied Chemical, down 2½ at 183, and Union Pacific off 2¼ at 89.

United States Steel was down 1½ at 79⅛ Chrysler one at 59, Montgomery Ward 1¾ at 56. American Telephone and Telegraph lost 1, American Smelting 1¾, United States Gypsum 1, Sante Fe 1¾, Southern Railway 1⅞, and Standard Oil (NJ) 1⅞.

St. Louis and San Francisco Railway was the second most active stock in the list and ended three fourths higher at 15½.

Stocks in the curb market gave ground by fractions to more than a point. Cities Service lost 1¾ at 49½, North American Rayon "A" dropped 1¾ and the "B" stock fell three points. Gainers included Humble Oil and Kaiser Frazer.

United States government bonds hardly batted an eye today following the federal reserve boost in the reserve requirements of member banks.

Trading in the government loans on the over-the-counter market was light and declines ranged from 1/32 to 6/32 with the longer term bank eligibles dropping most. There was no trading in the bonds on the exchange.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Reuben B. Dean vs. Allie V. Dean. No. 20870 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree divorcing the plaintiff from the defendant A VINCULO MATRIMONII. The bill states the parties were married on the 16th day of May, 1935, in Hagerstown, Maryland; that no children were born of the marriage; that the defendant deserted the plaintiff on the 29th day of May, 1943, without just cause or reason; that the desertion has been continuous and uninterrupted since said date, is deliberate and final and beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the plaintiff has resided in Allegany County for more than two years next before the filing of his suit, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, and her present address and whereabouts unknown to the plaintiff.

It is thereupon this 2nd day of September, 1948, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in Equity, ordered that the plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County once a week for four successive weeks before the 4th day of October, 1948, give notice to the non-resident defendant of the object and substance of this suit, warning her to be and appear in this court in person or by solicitor on or before the 20th day of October, 1948, to show cause, if any she may have why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

ning December 1, 1948. This report, presented by David Kauffman, chairman of the budget committee, recommended a goal of $84,009.24.

The report stated that the committee had held meetings with each of the agencies and thoroughly studied their requests and operations, but was unable to cut the total asked, $88,357.96, below the $84,009.24.

This is an increase of $8,615.73 over last year's goal of $75,393.51, when $77,972 was raised.

Those serving on the budget committee with Kauffman were Mrs. Emma Everstine, Mrs. C. Erich Roeder, James A. Avirett, Bernard J. Beck, Henry A. Mackey and James F. Martin.

Breakdown Listed

A breakdown of the various budget requests follows:

Agency	1948-49 Requests	1948-49 Awards
Associated Charities	19,910.00	19,250.00
Baby Welfare Society	2,150.00	2,150.00
Boy Scouts	6,500.00	6,300.00
Girl Scouts	6,871.00	6,560.00
Jewish Welfare Society	1.00	1.00
Keating Day Nursery	4,562.00	4,450.00
Salvation Army	12,950.00	12,500.00
Travelers Aid Society	1,500.00	1,425.00
Y. M. C. A.	19,010.92	17,010.92
Administrative Expense	3,565.30	3,500.00
Campaign Expense	5,945.00	5,745.00
Shrinkage Account 6½%	5,392.74	5,127.32
TOTAL	88,357.96	84,009.24

The committee noted that "in almost every instance the increase is occasioned by some element of the increased cost of living and higher prices. As a matter of fact, the administrative expenses of these agencies are often less than they were for the previous year, and a greater percentage of their funds has gone into such necessities as food, milk and clothing."

Tentative Dates Set

Tentative dates for the Chest campaign have been set as October 20 to 29, and headquarters for the drive will be set up in City Hall about September 20.

Edwin M. Brown of Howard T. Beaver and Associates, who has previously managed several local campaigns, will be campaign director.

Chairmen for various committees and leaders for the several divisions of the campaign organization will be selected by Swearingen and the campaign committee within the next few days.

Besides Eller, Mrs. Everstine, Bishop, Bramble, Eves, Robertson, Lippel and Swearingen, the executive committee also includes C. William Gilchrist.

Two Possibilities

the late Harry A. Manley was named new police and fire commissioner.

Attorneys appear to differ on the question of publishing the re-enacted ordinance, and there appears enough difference of opinion to challenge its legality, the News was told last night. However, former City Solicitor Heskett explained that it has long been the practice to publish only ordinances where a penalty is involved.

In the meantime, no date for a hearing has been set in the case of Kenneth Baker, operator of the Potomac Drive-In Theater. After being lodged in the county jail by the sheriff for nearly three hours last Sunday night, he has been at liberty under $500 bond, and the Drive-In is operating on a weekday schedule.

Indignation Voiced

The only other motion picture house in the county not in an incorporated community is one at Cresaptown which does not operate on Sunday. The Mt. Savage house and the Drive-In appeared last night to be the only targets of the state's attorney's "crack-down." The operator of the Drive-In was arrested and his place closed. The Mt. Savage owner was warned.

People in Mt. Savage are indignant over the order to close the movie house saying, "There isn't any other amusement here on Sunday."

Bishields says he has operated his house for many years and this is the first time he has received such a warning from authorities.

Bishields said the sheriff's deputy indicated that complaints had "come from Cumberland," but was no more explicit than that.

The State's Attorney was reported out of the city until Monday and was not available for comment on the newest developments.

Mt. Savage Theater Told To Cease Sunday Movies

Two Possibilities Loom To Affect All Film Houses

Sheriff Warns George Bishields

A second county theater fell prey yesterday to the order of the state's attorney to cease operations on Sunday, according to George Bishields who operates a motion picture house in Mt. Savage, and at the same time two new possibilities which might offset the Sunday operation of all theaters in the county raised their heads.

(1) The legality of the present ordinance which provides for the operation of movie houses in Cumberland, and the legality of similar ordinances in incorporated towns of the county may be challenged.

(2) The Board of Allegany County Commissioners may be asked today to probe the possibility of their powers to legalize Sunday movies in unincorporated areas of the county.

It was learned by the News yesterday that Sheriff Edward R. Muir and Deputy Sheriff William Chappell, who closed the Potomac Drive-In Theater at Cresaptown last Sunday night and arrested and jailed the owner, Kenneth Baker, ordered the Mt. Savage theater to remain closed next Sunday.

George Bishields, who, with his sister Yolanda Bishields, operates the Mt. Savage motion picture house, said last night that he had been visited by the sheriff and his deputy. Bishields said Sheriff Muir remained in a car outside, but Deputy Chappell went inside and informed him that Sunday movies are illegal. Bishields said the deputy said the sheriff's office had orders to close the place if it operated on Sunday. He warned Bishields that if the theater opened Sunday, the sheriff and his deputies would close it.

Mt. Savage is an unincorporated community, and since the legislature amended the Sabbath law in such a way that Sunday movie house operation becomes a matter of "home rule," up to the town mayor and city council, there is no local body in Mt. Savage to pass an ordinance opening the theater.

For this reason, Bishields is of the opinion the County Commissioners might be able to act, and his sister said she plans to appeal to the County Board today for relief in the situation.

It was recalled, and a check of City Council minutes shows, the original ordinance designated as Ordinance No. 1358 was passed June 12, 1933, and permitted Sunday movies between the hours of 2 p. m. and 6 p. m., and 9 p. m. and 11:30 p. m. This ordinance was passed by a vote of three to two, duly published and put into effect.

However, it was later amended, and this amendment is now being questioned.

On June 19, 1939, an amendment was passed to the original ordinance, designated as Ordinance No. 1693, "To repeal Section 1 of Ordinance No. 1358, pertaining to operation of motion picture theaters on Sunday, and to re-enact said section with amendments."

The amendment changes the time of operation from 2 p. m. until 11:30 p. m., eliminating the three-hour gap between 6 and 9 p. m.

Under city law governing ordinances with a penalty, it is provided that they must be published in local newspapers three times.

When the ordinance was amended and re-enacted it was not published in local newspapers as a legal advertisement, and some authorities now believe this sufficient grounds to challenge its legality.

At the time of amendment, Charles Z. Heskett was city solicitor, and he attached a note to the new ordinance saying, "Not necessary to advertise in newspapers."

Contacted last night, Heskett explained that since the penalty had not been changed and only the time, he was and is of the opinion that publication was not necessary.

An interesting feature of the time change is the meeting at which it occurred.

This was the meeting at which Thomas W. Koon resigned as mayor to accept an appointment as a member of the State Industrial Accident Commission. The late Dr. Koon did not vote on the ordinance change as it was introduced after his resignation.

Attorney's Ideas Differ

Harry Irvine was acting mayor and the commissioners included Thomas F. Conlon, William Edwards and Edgar Reynolds, at the time the ordinance time was changed. They voted unanimously to pass the new ordinance through its third reading and all voted in favor of the change in time.

The law was assumed to be effective immediately and theaters operated on the new schedule the following Sunday.

News of the change in the law was overshadowed by the resignation of Mayor Koon and the selection of Commissioner Irvine as acting mayor. At the same meeting

TIME OUT-- Miss Juanita Lookabaugh, Narrows Park, "Miss Maryland of 1948," takes time out from the "Miss America Pageant" competition to write a letter home. Enjoying a free afternoon from the gruelling routine which is a part of the week-long beauty revue, Miss Lookabaugh was discovered at her hotel by an Associated Press photographer, writing a letter to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lookabaugh. She appeared last night in talent competition and Tuesday night in evening gown scoring. Tonight she makes her appearance in the bathing suit revue.

'Miss Maryland' Appears In Talent Contest In Atlantic City Pageant

Appearing with a group of 18 girls in the talent phase of the Atlantic City "Miss America Pageant" last night, Miss Juanita Lookabaugh, Narrows Park, "Miss Maryland" entry, modeled three outfits which she designed and made.

Following her appearance and modeling, she was returned to the runway by the master of ceremonies to give photographers an opportunity to get more pictures of her.

Spectators applauded and cheered loudly as Miss Lookabaugh did her talent routine. She delivered a carefully worded commentary as she displayed a white strapless evening gown, three-piece white suit and a sarong.

Miss Lookabaugh did a similar routine in the Miss Maryland show here, but the clothes she used in Atlantic City were new. She had made and designed a complete new outfit for the Miss America show.

She appeared Tuesday night in the evening gown competition, and will appear tonight in the final group phase, bathing suits.

A Minnesota miss with golden brown hair and blue-green eyes captured the admiration of the judges last night and joined Miss Kansas as a winner of the bathing suit preliminaries.

She was Beatrice "Bebe" Shopp, 18, Hopkins, Minn., and at five feet, nine inches, one of the tallest contestants in the pageant. Her bust measures 37 inches, waist, 27 inches, hips 36 inches and she weighs 138 pounds.

Railroad Brakeman's Condition "Good"

Charles Harman, 19, 312 Emily Street, was reported in good condition last night in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted at 5:30 p. m. after being caught between two freight cars on the Western Maryland Railway near Harrison, W. Va.

Railroad officials said Harman, a brakeman, was attempting to couple two cars when he was crushed between them. Attaches at the hospital said the victim suffered back injuries and an injured pelvis.

Harman was brought to the local hospital by ambulance.

Corriganville Man Accused Of Assault

Charged with assaulting his wife and sister-in-law, Leo M. Walizer, Corriganville, was being held in City Jail last night for a hearing this morning in Trial Magistrates Court, according to Trooper Milton G. Hart, who made the arrest.

Walizer, Trooper Hart said, returned to his Corriganville home yesterday afternoon and began "shoving" his wife around and then assaulted the sister-in-law, who was not identified by name.

State police were summoned by neighbors who were later quoted as saying Walizer threw his sister-in-law down and began choking her. Police said the prisoner had "been drinking" prior to the incident.

Police Probe Late Report On Accident

A hit and run accident that occurred at the corner of Liberty and Pershing Street last Saturday causing damage of approximately $200 to a parked car was reported to police yesterday.

Lt. Detective Edwin R. Lilya said police were notified that a machine owned by Earl F. Martin, Laurel, Ind., was struck at the intersection Saturday at 10:40 a. m. when the driver, Malcom E. Martin, son of the owner, parked the vehicle for about five minutes.

Lt. Lilya said an immediate investigation was begun.

Fire Prevention Week Is Planned

Plans for Cumberland's participation in the National Fire Prevention Week from October 3 through 9 were laid last night by a local Chamber of Commerce committee headed by James Reinhart.

The group outlined plans for fire prevention films to be shown, talks to be made in schools and a publicity campaign.

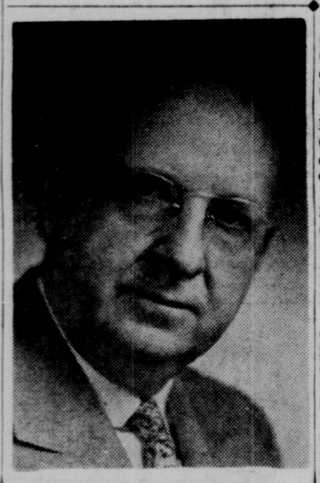
The committee includes Clifford Goodfellow, Thomas Conlon, Jr. George M. Hitchcock, Henry Holzshu and Fire Inspector Charles H. McKearn.

Recreation Planning Group Lacks Quorum

Because a quorum was lacking, the meeting of the Recreation Planning Committee scheduled last night was not held.

J. Corfield Patterson, chairman, announced the next regular meeting will be held Thursday, September 23. Members who were not present last night and who fail to attend the September 23 session will be asked to resign, he stated.

Swearingen Named Head Of Community Chest Drive



HENRY C. SWEARINGEN

Henry C. Swearingen, vice president of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company, has been named general chairman of the 1948-49 Cumberland Community Chest campaign.

This announcement was made by Frederick W. Eiler, president of the Chest, at a meeting of the executive committee last night in the Chest office.

The campaign committee which made the selection and is in charge of plans and arrangements includes Mrs. Emma Everstine, James W. Bishop, Charles E. Bramble, Roy W. Eves, Clarence Lippel and Earl C. Robertson.

Swearingen, who served as president of the Chest in 1946 and 1947, is a past president of the Rotary Club. He has been actively interested in the Community Chest and in civic affairs generally.

Lewis Paroled On Guilty Plea In Burglary Case

Acquitted On Charge Of Intent To Rob

Thomas E. Lewis, 23, this city, was given a suspended sentence of three years in the Maryland Reformatory for Males yesterday by Chief Judge William A. Huster after he entered a plea of guilty to a state charge of burglary.

Represented by Earl E. Manges, attorney, Lewis entered a plea of not guilty to a second charge of assault with intent to rob and was found not guilty.

Lewis had been sentenced in Trial Magistrates Court last month to serve 30 days in the county jail on a charge of petty larceny in connection with the theft of a purse containing $4 belonging to Mrs. Laura Crissinger, Sand Patch, Pa. The purse was taken from a chair in the Garibaldi Club, rear 10 Baltimore Street.

Tried when he filed a petition waiving his rights before a grand jury, Lewis acknowledged to the Court that he had taken a ring valued at $10 and a sum of money from the home of Arthur W. West, 507 Baltimore Avenue, between 8:30 and 10:30 p. m. July 24.

The Court issued the suspended sentence and paroled him for two years on condition that he make restitution, go to work, care for his wife and small baby, abstain entirely from use of alcohol and keep the peace. Judge Huster said he was taking into consideration the fact that the young man served three years in the Army during the war and has an honorable discharge.

The second charge in which Lewis was acquitted resulted from a complaint by Oscar Ault, Route 2, Everett, Pa., who claimed Lewis jumped on the running board of his truck and attempted to rob him.

It was indicated both men had been drinking, the Court said, and there were no witnesses to substantiate the charge. Lewis denied either assaulting or attempting to rob Ault.

School Patrol Turns Detective In Search For Missing Child, 6

The School Boy Patrol squad of Virginia Avenue School organized a missing persons bureau temporarily yesterday afternoon as they searched Cumberland streets for a six-year-old girl who disappeared enroute home from classes at the lunch hour.

The patrol was aided in its search for Rosie Poling, first grader, by both boys and girls of the fifth grade who operated under the directions of Mrs. Gertrude Collins, school principal.

Five members of the searching party—two boys and three girls—found Rosie shortly after 2 p. m. She was in the company of several police officers at headquarters. Police had Rosie but couldn't find out from where she was missing.

The patrol and its assistants took up the search at 1 p. m. shortly after Rosie's father appeared at school and informed Mrs. Collins that his daughter had not come home for lunch.

The fact that five members of the "posse" arrived at police station resulted from a series of inquiries by the children who questioned milkmen, store clerks and residents along the streets where they were sent by their director.

A passing pedestrian informed the patrol that a child answering the description given by the searchers was seen walking through the subway at Wineow Street, so the three boys and two girls headed up town where they began questioning police and pedestrians on Baltimore Street.

Officer J. Henry Stitcher, who is stationed at Baltimore and Centre Streets, told the group that he had discovered the child wandering along Baltimore street about 1 p. m. and taken her to headquarters.

The children reported to police station and found Rosie. Police then took the searchers and the younger girl back to school where Rosie resumed her studies.

Mrs. Collins said the child was accompanied most of the way home at the noon hour by one of the instructors at the school. She explained that the child, who has come to school and gone home for the past two days without trouble, apparently began playing along the street after the instructor left and then wandered uptown.

Several members of the searching party, who are not members of the School Patrol, now feel that they have qualified themselves to wear the white belt and badge, Mrs. Collins said, and are asking to be placed on the regular patrol.

The successful searchers were Billie Norris, Andrew Davis, Evelyn Crowe, Shirley Bryant and Jean Rouch.

Bonus Proposed At Legion Session

OCEAN CITY, Md., Sept. 9 (AP)—Two proposals for a state veteran's bonus were submitted to the resolutions committee of the Maryland American Legion Convention here today.

One resolution, proposed by the Frostburg Post and endorsed by the Maryland Department's Mountain District, recommends payment by the state of up to $500 to World War II veterans.

A second bonus proposal was said to have been submitted by a Baltimore City unit, but members of the resolutions committee declined to discuss either plan prior to their submission to the delegates.

The resolutions committee has authority to table suggestions. On those it approves for presentation to the delegates it can recommend either adoption or unfavorable action.

One unit at the convention—the 8 and 40—elected its officers today.

About 7,000 persons have been attracted to this resort by the convention, which opened yesterday and will be brought to a close Sunday.

Partial School Enrollment Shows Student Increase

Ramey Says 9,259 Already Reported

Partial reports of enrollment in Allegany County's public schools yesterday indicated a sizeable increase in the student bodies over last year, Arthur G. Ramey, director of pupil personnel, announced.

Enrollment figures from 18 of the high and elementary schools indicated 9,259 students, Ramey said, adding that a slight increase can be expected during the next week of school.

The top enrollment was reported at Fort Hill High where 1,735 high school students are registered. At the end of the second week last year, Ramey said only 1,643 students were enrolled.

Allegany was second with 1,411 high school pupils and Ramey said the enrollment at Beall High School, Frostburg, jumped 40 students this year, bringing the total to 906 with additions to the figure expected by the end of next week.

The first grade enrollment in all elementary schools is heavy this year, according to Ramey. He said a sizeable increase in the primary student body is expected when complete returns are submitted to the Board of Education office.

Of the elementary schools already reported, Ramey said East Side School, Cumberland, has the biggest enrollment with 474 students registered; of this figure 83 are beginners who are enrolled in the first grade.

The biggest jump in students was noted at Fort Hill in the high school department and at LaVale School in the elementary department. LaVale has 326 students this year, an increase of 51 over last year. Fort Hill's enrollment is up 92 over last year.

Sgt. O'Hara Explains Traffic Regulations

Traffic regulations will be enforced to the letter in Mt. Savage while that road is being used as a detour for Route 40, First Sgt. W. E. O'Hara, of the State Police told members of the Mt. Savage Lions Club last night.

The sergeant said hazardous conditions for school children exist because of the increased amount of traffic using the road, and told members that parking restrictions and speed limits will be strictly enforced.

No parking will be permitted on either side of the highway, Sgt. O'Hara said, adding that a 25 mile speed limit will be enforced. Motorists were also warned about existing school bus laws which require all drivers to stop 10 feet behind or in front of a school bus that is discharging or taking on passengers.

Violation of the bus law is punishable by fines from $5 to $50 and suspension of drivers' licenses, Sgt. O'Hara said.

Two Persons Hurt In Auto Accident

Mt. Savage Theater Told To Cease Sunday Movies

Two Possibilities Loom To Affect All Film Houses

Sheriff Warns George Bishields

A second county theater fell prey yesterday to the order of the state's attorney to cease operations on Sunday, according to George Bishields who operates a motion picture house in Mt. Savage, and at the same time two new possibilities which might offset the Sunday operation of all theaters in the county raised their heads.

(1) The legality of the present ordinance which provides for the operation of movie houses in Cumberland, and the legality of similar ordinances in incorporated towns of the county may be challenged.

(2) The Board of Allegany County Commissioners may be asked today to probe the possibility of their powers to legalize Sunday movies in unincorporated areas of the county.

It was learned by the News yesterday that Sheriff Edward R. Muir and Deputy Sheriff William Chappell, who closed the Potomac Drive-In Theater at Cresaptown last Sunday night and arrested and jailed the owner, Kenneth Baker, ordered the Mt. Savage theater to remain closed next Sunday.

George Bishields, who, with his sister Yolanda Bishields, operates the Mt. Savage motion picture house, said last night that he had been visited by the sheriff and his deputy. Bishields said Sheriff Muir remained in a car outside, but Deputy Chappell went inside and informed him that Sunday movies are illegal. Bishields said the deputy said the sheriff's office had orders to close the place if it operated on Sunday. He warned Bishields that if the theater opened Sunday, the sheriff and his deputies would close it.

Mt. Savage is an unincorporated community, and since the legislature amended the Sabbath law in such a way that Sunday movie house operation becomes a matter of "home rule," up to the town mayor and city council, there is no local body in Mt. Savage to pass an ordinance opening the theater.

For this reason, Bishields is of the opinion the County Commissioners might be able to act, and his sister said she plans to appeal to the County Board today for relief in the situation.

It was recalled, and a check of City Council minutes shows, the original ordinance designated as Ordinance No. 1358 was passed June 12, 1933, and permitted Sunday movies between the hours of 2 p. m. and 6 p. m., and 9 p. m. and 11:30 p. m. This ordinance was passed by a vote of three to two, duly published and put into effect.

However, it was later amended, and this amendment is now being questioned.

On June 19, 1939, an amendment was passed to the original ordinance, designated as Ordinance No. 1693, "To repeal Section 1 of Ordinance No. 1358, pertaining to operation of motion picture theaters on Sunday, and to re-enact said section with amendments."

The amendment changes the time of operation from 2 p. m. until 11:30 p. m., eliminating the three-hour gap between 6 and 9 p. m.

Under city law governing ordinances with a penalty, it is provided that they must be published in local newspapers three times.

When the ordinance was amended and re-enacted it was not published in local newspapers as a legal advertisement, and some authorities now believe this sufficient grounds to challenge its legality.

At the time of amendment, Charles Z. Heskett was city solicitor, and he attached a note to the new ordinance saying, "Not necessary to advertise in newspapers."

Contacted last night, Heskett explained that since the penalty had not been changed and only the time, he was and is of the opinion that publication was not necessary.

Mayor Thomas S. Post could not be contacted last night for his opinion as to the legality of the ordinance.

An interesting feature of the time change is the meeting at which it occurred.

This was the meeting at which Thomas W. Koon resigned as mayor to accept an appointment as a member of the State Industrial Accident Commission. The late Dr. Koon did not vote on the ordinance change as it was introduced after his resignation.

Attorney's Ideas Differ

Harry Irvine was acting mayor and the commissioners included Thomas F. Conlon, William Edwards and Edgar Reynolds, at the time the ordinance time was changed. They voted unanimously to pass the new ordinance through its third reading and all voted in favor of the change in time.

The law was assumed to be effective immediately and theaters operated on the new schedule the following Sunday.

News of the change in the law was overshadowed by the resignation of Mayor Koon and the selection of Commissioner Irvine as acting mayor. At the same meeting

TIME OUT-- Miss Juanita Lookabaugh, Narrows Park, "Miss Maryland of 1948," takes time out from the "Miss America Pageant" competition to write a letter home. Enjoying a free afternoon from the gruelling routine which is a part of the week-long beauty revue, Miss Lookabaugh was discovered at her hotel by an Associated Press photographer, writing a letter to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lookabaugh. She appeared last night in talent competition and Tuesday night in evening gown scoring. Tonight she makes her appearance in the bathing suit revue.

'Miss Maryland' Appears In Talent Contest In Atlantic City Pageant

Appearing with a group of 18 girls in the talent phase of the Atlantic City "Miss America Pageant" last night, Miss Juanita Lookabaugh, Narrows Park, "Miss Maryland" entry, modeled three outfits which she designed and made.

Following her appearance and modeling, she was returned to the runway by the master of ceremonies to give photographers an opportunity to get more pictures of her.

Spectators applauded and cheered loudly as Miss Lookabaugh did her talent routine. She delivered a carefully worded commentary as she displayed a white strapless evening gown, three-piece white suit and a sarong.

Miss Lookabaugh did a similar routine in the Miss Maryland show here, but the clothes she used in Atlantic City were new. She had made and designed a complete new outfit for the Miss America show.

She appeared Tuesday night in the evening gown competition, and will appear tonight in the final group phase, bathing suits.

No point score is announced, except the winners of the talent and bathing suit groups each night.

A Minnesota miss with golden brown hair and blue-green eyes captured the admiration of the judges last night and joined Miss Kansas as a winner of the bathing suit preliminaries.

She was Beatrice "Bebe" Shopp, 18, Hopkins, Minn., and at five feet, nine inches, one of the tallest contestants in the pageant. Her bust measures 37 inches, waist, 27 inches, hips 36 inches and she weighs 138 pounds.

Railroad Brakeman's Condition "Good"

Charles Harman, 19, 312 Emily Street, was reported in good condition last night in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted at 5:30 p. m. after being caught between two freight cars on the Western Maryland Railway near Harrison, W. Va.

Railroad officials said Harman, a brakeman, was attempting to couple two cars when he was crushed between them. Attaches at the hospital said the victim suffered back injuries and an injured pelvis.

Harman was brought to the local hospital by ambulance.

Corriganville Man Accused Of Assault

Charged with assaulting his wife and sister-in-law, Leo M. Walizer, Corriganville, was being held in City Jail last night for a hearing this morning in Trial Magistrates Court, according to Trooper Milton G. Hart, who made the arrest.

Walizer, Trooper Hart said, returned to his Corriganville home yesterday afternoon and began "shoving" his wife around and then assaulted the sister-in-law, who was not identified by name.

State police were summoned by neighbors who were later quoted as saying Walizer threw his sister-in-law down and began choking her. Police said the prisoner had "been drinking" prior to the incident.

Police Probe Late Report On Accident

A hit and run accident that occurred at the corner of Liberty and Pershing Street last Saturday causing damage of approximately $200 to a parked car was reported to police yesterday.

Lt. Detective Edwin R. Lilya said police were notified that a machine owned by Earl F. Martin, Laurel, Ind., was struck at the intersection Saturday at 10:40 a. m. when the driver, Malcom E. Martin, son of the owner, parked the vehicle for about five minutes.

Lt. Lilya said an immediate investigation was begun.

Plans for Cumberland's participation in the National Fire Prevention Week from October 3 through 9 were laid last night by a local Chamber of Commerce committee headed by James Reinhart.

The group outlined plans for fire prevention films to be shown, talks to be made in schools and a publicity campaign.

The committee includes Clifford Goodfellow, Thomas Conlon, Jr. George M. Hitchcock, Henry Holzshu and Fire Inspector Charles H. McKearn.

Recreation Planning Group Lacks Quorum

Because a quorum was lacking, the meeting of the Recreation Planning Committee scheduled last night was not held.

J. Corfield Patterson, chairman, announced the next regular meeting will be held Thursday, September 23. Members who were not present last night and who fail to attend the September 23 session will be asked to resign, he stated.

The patrol and its assistants took up the search at 1 p. m. shortly after Rosie's father appeared at school and informed Mrs. Collins that his daughter had not come home for lunch.

The fact that five members of the "posse" arrived at police station resulted from a series of inquiries by the children who questioned milkmen, store clerks and residents along the streets where they were sent by their director.

A passing pedestrian informed the patrol that a child answering the description given by the searchers was seen walking through the subway at Wineow Street, so the three boys and two girls headed up town where they began questioning police and pedestrians on Baltimore Street.

Officer J. Henry Stitcher, who is stationed at Baltimore and Centre Streets, told the group that he had discovered the child wandering along Baltimore street about 1 p. m. and taken her to headquarters.

The children reported to police station and found Rosie. Police then took the searchers and the younger girl back to school where Rosie resumed her studies.

Mrs. Collins said the child was accompanied most of the way home at the noon hour by one of the instructors at the school. She explained that the child, who has come to school and gone home for the past two days without trouble, apparently began playing along the street after the instructor left and then wandered uptown.

Several members of the searching party, who are not members of the School Patrol, now feel that they have qualified themselves to wear the white belt and badge, Mrs. Collins said, and are asking to be placed on the regular patrol.

The successful searchers were Billie Norris, Andrew Davis, Evelyn Crowe, Shirley Bryant and Jean Rouch.

Bonus Proposed At Legion Session

OCEAN CITY, Md., Sept. 9 (AP)—Two proposals for a state veteran's bonus were submitted to the resolutions committee of the Maryland American Legion Convention here today.

One resolution, proposed by the Frostburg Post and endorsed by the Maryland Department's Mountain District, recommends payment by the state of up to $500 to World War II veterans.

A second bonus proposal was said to have been submitted by a Baltimore City unit, but members of the resolutions committee declined to discuss either plan prior to their submission to the delegates.

The resolutions committee has authority to table suggestions. On those it approves for presentation to the delegates it can recommend either adoption or unfavorable action.

One unit at the convention—the 8 and 40—elected its officers today.

Mrs. Clarence Marks, Hagerstown, was named le chapeau of the Auxiliary to the 40 and 8, the Legion's fun organization.

Mrs. Anne Plumley, Hyattsville, and Mrs. Evelyn Brooks, Cumberland, were elected first and second demi chapeaux, respectively.

It was announced by the Legion Auxiliary that Mrs. Jessie Smith, Lonaconing, is the only candidate to succeed Mrs. Nellie Lynch, Baltimore, as the department president.

About 7,000 persons have been attracted to this resort by the convention, which opened yesterday and will be brought to a close Sunday.

Partial School Enrollment Shows Student Increase

Ramey Says 9,259 Already Reported

Partial reports of enrollment in Allegany County's public schools yesterday indicated a sizeable increase in the student bodies over last year, Arthur G. Ramey, director of pupil personnel, announced.

Enrollment figures from 18 of the high and elementary schools indicated 9,259 students, Ramey said, adding that a slight increase can be expected during the next week of school.

The top enrollment was reported at Fort Hill High where 1,735 high school students are registered. At the end of the second week last year, Ramey said only 1,643 students were enrolled.

Allegany was second with 1,411 high school pupils and Ramey said the enrollment at Beall High School, Frostburg, jumped 40 students this year, bringing the total to 906 with additions to the figure expected by the end of next week.

The first grade enrollment in all elementary schools is heavy this year, according to Ramey. He said a sizeable increase in the primary student body is expected when complete returns are submitted to the Board of Education office.

Of the elementary schools already reported, Ramey said East Side School, Cumberland, has the biggest enrollment with 474 students registered; of this figure 83 are beginners who are enrolled in the first grade.

Sgt. O'Hara Explains Traffic Regulations

Traffic regulations will be enforced to the letter in Mt. Savage while that road is being used as a detour for Route 40, First Sgt. W. E. O'Hara, of the State Police told members of the Mt. Savage Lions Club last night.

The sergeant said hazardous conditions for school children exist because of the increased amount of traffic using the road, and told members that parking restrictions and speed limits will be strictly enforced.

No parking will be permitted on either side of the highway, Sgt. O'Hara said, adding that a 25 mile speed limit will be enforced. Motorists were also warned about existing school bus laws which require all drivers to stop 10 feet behind or in front of a school bus that is discharging or taking on passengers.

Violation of the bus law is punishable by fines from $5 to $50 and suspension of drivers' licenses, Sgt. O'Hara said.
